House Votes Big Tax Slash

Dominican Chief Ousted By Military

President Hails Tax-Cut Action

Congress Lauded For Conservation

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI) — President Kennedy paused on his tour of conservation states Wednesday to hail House approval of his 11 billion tax reduction program as a step toward saving the nation from limping from recession to recession.

The chief executive also lauded Congress at a speech to a wildly enthusiastic audience here as "the most conservation-minded in our nation's history." But he said it would have to work even harder for preservation of America's natural and human resources.

Kennedy learned of the 271-155 House vote as he arrived here to wind up a series of speeches on conservation and other matters which began in Grand Forks, N.D., Wednesday morning and took him also to Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyo.

He departed from the conservation theme to comment that the House vote was "overwhelming." He was clearly elated about it.

Wednesday was the second of Kennedy's five-day, 10,000-mile trip to inspect natural resource projects and speak about them in 11 states. And the reception he got at the Yellowstone County fairgrounds was as wild and energetic as any he received so far.

Kennedy digressed briefly in his speech to more than 10,000 cheering persons to make reference to foreign policy — particularly the nuclear test ban treaty which the Senate ratified Tuesday 80-19.

Kennedy led off with that topic because he was introduced by Montana's Sen. Mike Mansfield, Senate Democratic leader. Kennedy lauded Mansfield — as well as Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, for leading the drive toward ratification of the treaty.

The President flew here after speaking to an over-capacity crowd of more than 12,000 at the University of Wyoming fieldhouse at Laramie, Wyo.

Within the field house, the crowd — made up mainly of students but including delegations from Cheyenne and other Wyoming locales — was an enthusiastic, friendly one. In keeping with the academic location, Kennedy stressed "the key to our resource development is scientific progress" and this is "directly related to our most valuable resource of all . . . human inquiry."

This was Kennedy's second university appearance. He began his speaking day at the University of North Dakota, in Grand Forks, where he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws and called for "parity of opportunity" to put farmers on an equal footing with urban dwellers.

Bosch Held As Prisoner After Coup

Red Party Banned; Relations And Aid Suspended By U.S.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — The armed forces today deposed and arrested President Juan Bosch in a move they heralded as an anti-Communist coup.

The Communist party was outlawed, the new constitution annulled, Congress dissolved and a provisional government set up.

Former defense minister Vinas Roman was named secretary of state and secretary of the armed forces. He decreed a state of siege and a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for the country.

Bosch and his entire cabinet were held prisoners in the presidential palace. A manifesto signed by 26 of the nation's top military leaders, including the chiefs of the army, navy, air force and police, pledged continued Dominican adherence to treaty obligations.

U. S. Suspends Relations

(In Washington, the State Department announced suspension of relations with the Dominican Republic and a cutoff of aid. A spokesman described the overthrow of the Bosch regime as "a loss to the policies of the countries of this hemisphere, as well as our own. . .")

The coup, carried out at 3 a.m., was accomplished without bloodshed. Bosch, according to Washington dispatches, made several desperate efforts to contact friendly Latin American leaders abroad by telephone to stave off the revolt.

Bosch and Mrs. Bosch, the latter of Cuban birth, made telephone calls to the presidents of Mexico, Costa Rica and Venezuela and the governor of Puerto Rico before communications were cut, according to U.S. State Department sources.

Calls OAS Ambassador

Bosch was represented as appealing for support from outside to discourage the military leaders from going through with their coup. Mrs. Bosch also called the chairman of the council of the Organization of American States, Ambassador Gonzalo Facio, in Washington, before the lines were cut.

The coup leaders included generals Antonio Imbert and Luis Amiama, only survivors of the group of political dissidents who assassinated ex-dictator Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo in 1961 to start the Dominican Republic on the road to democracy for the first in more than 30 years.

Bosch, elected only seven months ago, was the country's first democratically-selected president since the early '30's.

Kennedy Bill Is Approved By 271 To 155

GOP Fails In Bid To Insert Spending Curb In Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Wednesday the biggest tax cut bill in history—President Kennedy's proposal for an $11-billion slash with a share for practically every U.S. taxpayer.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it faces a tough and uncertain future.

It holds out the prospect of $100 to $200 more take-home pay every year for the majority of tax paying families.

The vote on passage was 271 to 155.

A total of 223 Democrats and 48 Republicans voted for the bill, and 126 Republicans and 29 Democrats against it.

The administration wants to put the cut into effect in time for the increased pay to begin showing next January.

The House action was a double triumph for President Kennedy who had called the measure the keystone of his economic program.

GOP Motion Fails 226-199

Before passing the bill, the House defeated, 226-199, a Republican motion that would have made the tax cut conditional to Kennedy's submission of reduced spending budget for this year and next year.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee announced that his group will start closed-door briefings on the bill Oct. 3 with congressional staff experts.

Byrd indicated the public hearings will not begin until the week of Oct. 14. He has said the public hearings may run six weeks although the schedule has not yet been made out.

The Virginian is opposed to any tax reduction without off-setting spending cuts.

The Kennedy timetable calls for two-thirds of the tax reduction for individuals to begin with the new year, and the rest in 1965. Ultimately the cut for average tax-paying families is estimated in the $100- to $200-a-year tax range. Time is a big problem, even if Congress remains in session through the fall—as expected.

Senate Faces Rights Wrangle

The Senate faces a long wrangle over the administration's civil rights program.

The Republicans proposed to make the entire tax cut depend on the President submitting spending estimates of not more than $97 billion for the fiscal year that started last July 1 and $98 billion for the following year. He could either submit such statements at the regular time in January or else settle any doubts about the tax cut by publishing them earlier in the Federal Register.

If the spending limits were subsequently exceeded, the tax cut would not be canceled.

Changes would take place in two stages—Jan. 1, 1964 and a year later. The individual income tax return due next April would, however, reflect the old rates, since they would be on 1963 income.

The taxation of capital gains—the increase in value of stock, real estate and similar property—also would be reduced. The gain on such assets held two years or more would have to be reported only at 40 per cent of value, in-

Jack Benny Will Return To NBC

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Benny is switching networks for the second time in his 31-year broadcasting career, it was announced Wednesday, but he says there are no hard feelings.

NBC announced the veteran comedian next season will bring his half-hour television show back to the network where he started in radio in 1932. He will finish his current season for CBS, for whom he has appeared since 1948.

There was immediate talk in the trade that Benny made the switch over pique at being shifted in time slots.

"Edith" Roars Into Caribbean; Will Hit Land

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UPI) — Hurricane Edith wound up 100 mile an hour winds Wednesday and roared into the Caribbean Sea. The only way out is across land.

"Somebody's in trouble but we can't say who yet," Miami hurricane forecaster Arnold Sugg said. "The storm is not going to dissipate and it can't get out of the Caribbean without hitting something."

The hurricane "eye" center crossed the northern part of St. Lucia Wednesday, pummeling that small isle in the Leewards group with sustained winds of 76 m.p.h. and gusts to 91 m.p.h. gusts on the island of Matinique, just 30 miles north of St. Lucia.

Damage from the winds and accompanying torrents of rain could not be learned immediately and reports may be delayed as much as two days because of lack of communications, the weather bureau said.

The hurricane was building in power over open water with highest sustained winds estimated at 100 m.p.h. near the center. Gales fanned outward 150 miles to the north and east of center and 75 miles to the south and west.

A "hurricane watch" was ordered for the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and the politically-troubled Dominican Republic. Forecasters said they expected the center to pass 100 to 125 miles south of Ponce, on the southern coast of Puerto Rico, sometime Thursday afternoon.

Cost Of Living Holding Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living held firm during August, and no major changes are expected during the autumn months.

This is the outlook reported Wednesday by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The consumer price index for August was 107.1, the same level as in July. This compared with a jump of five-tenths of a per cent from June to July, and a three-tenths of a per cent rise from May to June. The August index, however, still was 1.5 per cent over August 1962.

A spokesman for the bureau said the index is expected to remain firm through September.

"We don't see any big increases in the months ahead. We don't see any strong inflationary trend. Any increases will be moderate and in line with the trend in recent years," he said.

Pope Receives "Rocky"; News Blackout Imposed

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was received Wednesday by Pope Paul VI in a secrecy-surrounded audience that included a Vatican blackout on news and photographs.

Vatican sources had described the audience as unusual since the Roman Catholic Church does not recognize and strongly opposes divorce. They said there was some consternation among prelates because the pontiff had granted an audience to Rockefeller, whose divorce and remarriage to a divorcee had caused a political stir in the United States.

The second Mrs. Rockefeller did not accompany her husband to the Vatican. She went shopping.

(The governor and Mrs. Rockefeller arrived in London from Rome at 3:40 p.m. EDT and told reporters he was glad to be back in Britain.

(He told reporters at an airport news conference that he would have "informal discussions in private" with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, starting Thursday with a luncheon at Chequers, Macmillan's country home.)

Not since Alexei I. Adjubei, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law and an avowed atheist, was received by the late Pope John XXIII has such secrecy surrounded an audience.

Agreement Reached On Military Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House compromise was reached Wednesday on a bill to give pay increases to most persons in the military services with two years or more service. The cost is estimated at $1.2 billion a year.

The fatter pay envelopes would be distributed starting Oct. 1 under the agreement reached by a Senate-House conference committee.

Largest increases, ranging up to $100 a month, would go to lieutenants, captains, majors and similar ranks in the fighting forces.

The decisions are subject to House and Senate approval.

The increase would be the first in military base pay since 1958.

President Asks Russian Wheat Deal Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy moved into the Soviet-U.S. wheat sale question Wednesday by requesting two House committees to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges Thursday and review possible deals.

The request was made of the Agriculture and Foreign Affairs committees.

Announcing this Wednesday night, Agriculture chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., said a meeting of the two committees with the cabinet members will be held Thursday afternoon.

Kennedy's request heightened speculation that the Soviet Union already has approached the U.S. government, either directly or indirectly through trade sources, regarding the possibility of buying American grain.

Cooley said the joint session will go into recent Canadian and Australian sales of grain to the Reds as well as whether this country should relax trade policies to encourage Soviet purchases of farm products.

"If our policy is to step aside and permit all other free world nations to take world markets, we will never be able to sell the commodities we now have stored in our warehouses," Cooley said.

The question to be answered is a simple one: Is the United States willing to make its wheat available to the Soviets at the cut-rate price the grain is offered to friendly countries under an export subsidy program? On a 100-million-bushel deal, the American taxpayer would contribute about $60 million.

Top-level closed conferences on a possible U.S.-Soviet grain deal were held at the Agriculture Department and on Capitol Hill. Involved is the subsidy issue.

Grain markets in this country, in Canada and Europe buzzed with reports of potential big-scale deals.

Birmingham Blasts Greet Peace Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two presidential advisors dispatched to Birmingham to promote racial harmony saw the bitter fruits of discord Wednesday when a middle-class Negro neighborhood was bombed.

Two early morning explosions shook Honeysuckle Hill in South Birmingham. Eight houses and several cars were damaged. A utility pole was snapped. There were no reported casualties.

There also was no disorder in the neighborhood which is 30 blocks removed from the scenes of other, earlier bombings — Birmingham has had more than 40 since World War II. None were solved.

FBI agents joined state and city investigators in a search for clues.

While the investigation was being pushed, the presidential representatives—former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and former Army football coach Earl H. Blaik—met behind closed doors with community leaders.

Blaik and Royall were rebuffed, however, in their bid to discuss things with former Police Commissioner Eugene Connor.

Connor, an ardent segregationist, said that he had nothing personally against "the two fine gentlemen," but said he refuses to meet with any one of the Kennedys or their representatives.

Connor said that President Kennedy "did not even show me the courtesy" of answering a telegram the police commissioner said he sent the chief executive two years ago, asking an audience "to inform him of the white people's side of the situation in Birmingham."

Blaik and Royall held their first meeting with 10 white business leaders, and a second meeting was planned later with a Negro group.

Blaik and Royall have described themselves as "friendly guests." They said they would remain in Birmingham as long as the people of the city wanted them.

The presidential duo had no comment on the latest bombing. Their trip was partially the result of a bombing—the Sept. 15 blasting of a Negro church in which four girls were killed.

Seven Negroes have been killed, including the bombing victims, in racial uprisings since the week of Sept. 1 when schools were scheduled for desegregation.

Saigon Police Halt Buddhist Demonstration

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Combat police nipped in the bud late Wednesday a Buddhist anti-government demonstration that was attempted while the presence of President Kennedy's military survey team centered international attention on Saigon.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had just heard a series of reports from American officials based in South Viet Nam describing the military situation as favorable.

A yellow-robed monk, accompanied by two civilians, tried to unfurl a multicolored Buddhist flag on the grassy plaza in front of the National Assembly building.

Police clubbed down the monk and wrested from his companions some objects which witnesses said could have been either knives or bottles of liquid.

There was speculation that the monk might have planned a suicide by fire, like five Buddhists since the political-religious crisis flared May 8.

Indo Troops Deployed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Indonesian army commandos and other crack troops were deployed Wednesday along the borders of Indonesian Borneo as President Sukarno called on the nation to remain united against what he described as "the challenge of neo-colonialist Malaysia."

Valachi Goes Before Crime Probers Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime probers disclosed Wednesday they will call mobster-murderer Joseph Valachi to testify Friday in a police-guarded public hearing at which he has agreed to put the finger on his one-time underworld bosses.

He will be questioned in closed session by the Senate investigators prior to the public appearance.

The announcement capped the first day of testimony in the Senate Investigations subcommittee's massive new probe of the underworld, in which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and New York City police officials described Valachi as a man with much to tell of a nationwide crime syndicate's operations.

The police believe Valachi's old mob, known variously as La Cosa Nostra, the Black Hand and the Mafia, has posted a $100,000 reward for any of its members who can reach and silence him.

John F. Shanley, deputy chief inspector of New York police, described Cosa Nostra mobsters as shaken by the word that Valachi has agreed to testify.

Kennedy, the lead-off witness, asked to be armed with new laws that would legalize wire tapping and encourage intimidated witnesses to talk.

He said he needed these weapons to use in crushing organized crime's nationwide underworld government that deals in murder, terror and crime for profit.

He also told of the possibilities for a major power struggle among criminals in New York.

He drew prompt support for his proposals from Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy of New York, committee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and other committee members.

The long-awaited hearings opened in the Senate caucus room before a less-than-capacity crowd of about 200 with Capitol policemen standing in the aisles.

Mansfield Receptive

JACKSON LAKE LODGE, Wyo. (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Wednesday he believes Soviet purchase of American wheat would be "worth considering," and, in fact, would likely get careful administration study.

Denning Acquits Macmillan Government In Scandal

LONDON (AP) — The long-awaited Denning report on sexual high jinks and security risks in Britain Wednesday cleared Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his government of blame in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler scandal.

Lord Denning commented, however, that the case may have damaged U.S. confidence in Britain.

The report's placid tone disappointed thrill-seekers who lined up for early copies of the 50,000-word documents, but was a great comfort to supporters of the Conservative party.

They had feared an explosion which could topple the government. Instead they got a moist firecracker.

In a report Thursday on the sensation that shocked the nation, Britain's No. 2 judge branded as "unfounded and untrue" widespread rumors suggesting other government ministers were guilty of moral misbehavior.

Denning conceded in his 50,000-word report that ex-War Minister Profumo's liaison with Christine Keeler "disclosed a character defect which pointed to his being a security risk." He had exposed himself to blackmail, so jeopardizing state secrets, the report said.

Denning was appointed by Macmillan on June 21 to investigate security aspects of Profumo's affair with Miss Keeler who also had social contact with a Soviet intelligence officer naval captain, Yevgeny Ivanov. He also looked into rumors about other ministers.

After citing gossip surrounding certain members of the government—whom he did not name—Denning reported:

"It might be thought that these rumors are a symptom of a decline in the integrity of public life in this country.

"I do not believe this to be true.

"There has been no lowering of standards."

Denning then described how scandalous stories about well-known people have become marketable commodities because a few British newspapers — which he did not identify—are ready to publish information of this kind.

The judge disclosed that British security services 11 years ago were transferred from the direct control of the prime minister to that of the home secretary. This was done when Sir Winston Churchill headed the British government and the move was never before made public.

Technically, therefore, immediate responsibility for the security aspects of the Profumo case belonged to Home Secretary Henry Brooke. But because the central figure in the affair, Profumo, was a member of the government, Macmillan personally accepted the final responsibility.

Denning gave his assessment of the five key characters in the drama whose trials crossed at a swimming pool in Cliveden, the stately Buckinghamshire home of Lord Astor.

—Stephen Ward, 50, and now dead by his own hand, was a society artist and osteopath who procured 16- and 17-year-old mistresses for his influential friends.

"He admired the Soviet regime and sympathized with the Communists," Denning said. "He used to advocate their cause in conversation with his patients."

It was through Ward that Profumo and Ivanov met Christine and each other.

—Ivanov, nominally assistant Soviet naval attache, also was discovered by security men to be an intelligence officer. He was discovered by security men to be an intelligence officer. He was "something of a ladies' man," impressed by the peers he met and frank about warning his friends that anything they said went "back to Moscow." He and Ward became companions.

The Russians may have "suc-

President Asks Russian Wheat Deal Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy moved into the Soviet-U.S. wheat sale question Wednesday by requesting two House committees to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges Thursday and review possible deals.

The request was made of the Agriculture and Foreign Affairs committees.

Announcing this Wednesday night, Agriculture chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., said a meeting of the two committees with the cabinet members will be held Thursday afternoon.

Kennedy's request heightened speculation that the Soviet Union already has approached the U.S. government, either directly or indirectly through trade sources, regarding the possibility of buying American grain.

Cooley said the joint session will go into recent Canadian and Australian sales of grain to the Reds as well as whether this country should relax trade policies to encourage Soviet purchases of farm products.

"If our policy is to step aside and permit all other free world nations to take world markets, we will never be able to sell the commodities we now have stored in our warehouses," Cooley said.

The question to be answered is a simple one: Is the United States willing to make its wheat available to the Soviets at the cut-rate price the grain is offered to friendly countries under an export subsidy program? On a 400-million-bushel deal, the American taxpayer would contribute about $60 million.

Top-level closed conferences on a possible U.S.-Soviet grain deal were held at the Agriculture Department and on Capitol Hill. Involved is the subsidy issue.

Grain markets in this country, in Canada and Europe buzzed with reports of potential big-scale deals.

Birmingham Blasts Greet Peace Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two presidential advisors dispatched to Birmingham to promote racial harmony saw the bitter fruits of discord Wednesday when a middle-class Negro neighborhood was bombed.

Two early morning explosions shook Honeysuckle Hill in South Birmingham. Eight houses and several cars were damaged. A utility pole was snapped. There were no reported casualties.

There also was no disorder in the neighborhood which is 30 blocks removed from the scenes of other, earlier bombings — Birmingham has had more than 40 since World War II. None were solved.

FBI agents joined state and city investigators in a search for clues.

While the investigation was being pushed, the presidential representatives—former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and former Army football coach Earl H. Blaik—met behind closed doors with community leaders.

Blaik and Royall were rebuffed, however, in their bid to discuss things with former Police Commissioner Eugene Connor.

Connor, an ardent segregationist, said that he had nothing personally against "the two fine gentlemen," but said he refuses to meet with any one of the Kennedys or their representatives.

Connor said that President Kennedy "did not even show me the courtesy" of answering a telegram the police commissioner said he sent the chief executive two years ago, asking an audience "to inform him of the white people's side of the situation in Birmingham."

Blaik and Royall held their first meeting with 10 white business leaders, and a second meeting was planned later with a Negro group.

Blaik and Royall have described themselves as "friendly guests." They said they would remain in Birmingham as long as the people of the city wanted them.

The presidential duo had no comment on the latest bombing. Their trip was partially the result of a bombing—the Sept. 15 blasting of a Negro church in which four girls were killed.

Seven Negroes have been killed, including the bombing victims, in racial uprisings since the week of Sept. 1 when schools were scheduled for desegregation.

Saigon Police Halt Buddhist Demonstration

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Combat police nipped in the bud late Wednesday a Buddhist anti-government demonstration that was attempted while the presence of President Kennedy's military survey team centered international attention on Saigon.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had just heard a series of reports from American officials based in South Viet Nam describing the military situation as favorable.

A yellow-robed monk, accompanied by two civilians, tried to unfurl a multicolored Buddhist flag on the grassy plaza in front of the National Assembly building.

Police clubbed down the monk and wrested from his companions some objects which witnesses said could have been either knives or bottles of liquid.

There was speculation that the monk might have planned a suicide by fire, like five Buddhists since the political-religious crisis flared May 8.

Indo Troops Deployed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Indonesian army commandos and other crack troops were deployed Wednesday along the borders of Indonesian Borneo as President Sukarno called on the nation to remain united against what he described as "the challenge of neo-colonialist Malaysia."

Valachi Goes Before Crime Probers Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime probers disclosed Wednesday they will call mobster-murderer Joseph Valachi to testify Friday in a police-guarded public hearing at which he has agreed to put the finger on his one-time underworld bosses.

He will be questioned in closed session by the Senate investigators prior to the public appearance.

The announcement capped the first day of testimony in the Senate Investigations subcommittee's massive new probe of the underworld, in which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and New York City police officials described Valachi as a man with much to tell of a nationwide crime syndicate's operations.

The police believe Valachi's old mob, known variously as La Cosa Nostra, the Black Hand and the Mafia, has posted a $100,000 reward for any of its members who can reach and silence him.

John F. Shanley, deputy chief inspector of New York police, described Cosa Nostra mobsters as shaken by the word that Valachi has agreed to testify.

Kennedy, the lead-off witness, asked to be armed with new laws that would legalize wire tapping and encourage intimidated witnesses to talk.

He said he needed these weapons to use in crushing organized crime's nationwide underworld government that deals in murder, terror and crime for profit.

He also told of the possibilities for a major power struggle among criminals in New York.

He drew prompt support for his proposals from Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy of New York, committee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and other committee members.

The long-awaited hearings opened in the Senate caucus room before a less-than-capacity crowd of about 200 with Capitol policemen standing in the aisles.

Cost Of Living Holding Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living held firm during August, and no major changes are expected during the autumn months.

This is the outlook reported Wednesday by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The consumer price index for August was 107.1, the same level as in July. This compared with a jump of five-tenths of a per cent from June to July, and a three-tenths of a per cent rise from May to June. The August index, however, still was 1.5 per cent over August 1962.

A spokesman for the bureau said the index is expected to remain firm through September.

"We don't see any big increases in the months ahead. We don't see any strong inflationary trend. Any increases will be moderate and in line with the trend in recent years," he said.

Pope Receives "Rocky"; News Blackout Imposed

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was received Wednesday by Pope Paul VI in a secrecy-surrounded audience that included a Vatican blackout on news and photographs.

Vatican sources had described the audience as unusual since the Roman Catholic Church does not recognize and strongly opposes divorce. They said there was some consternation among prelates because the pontiff had granted an audience to Rockefeller, whose divorce and remarriage to a divorcee had caused a political stir in the United States.

The second Mrs. Rockefeller did not accompany her husband to the Vatican. She went shopping.

(The governor and Mrs. Rockefeller arrived in London from Rome at 3:40 p.m. EDT and told reporters he was glad to be back in Britain.

(He told reporters at an airport news conference that he would have "informal discussions in private" with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, starting Thursday with a luncheon at Chequers, Macmillan's country home.)

Not since Alexei I. Adjubei, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law and an avowed atheist, was received by the late Pope John XXIII has such secrecy surrounded an audience.

Agreement Reached On Military Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House compromise was reached Wednesday on a bill to give pay increases to most persons in the military services with two years or more service. The cost is estimated at $1.2 billion a year.

The fatter pay envelopes would be distributed starting Oct. 1 under the agreement reached by a Senate-House conference committee.

Largest increases, ranging up to $100 a month, would go to lieutenants, captains, majors and similar ranks in the fighting forces.

The decisions are subject to House and Senate approval.

The increase would be the first in military base pay since 1958.

Denning Acquits Macmillan Government In Scandal

LONDON (AP) — The long-awaited Denning report on sexual high jinks and security risks in Britain Wednesday cleared Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his government of blame in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler scandal.

Lord Denning commented, however, that the case may have damaged U.S. confidence in Britain.

The report's placid tone disappointed thrill-seekers who lined up for early copies of the 50,000-word documents, but was a great comfort to supporters of the Conservative party.

They had feared an explosion which could topple the government. Instead they got a moist firecracker.

In a report Thursday on the sensation that shocked the nation, Britain's No. 2 judge branded as "unfounded and untrue" widespread rumors suggesting other government ministers were guilty of moral misbehavior.

Denning conceded in his 50,000-word report that ex-War Minister Profumo's liaison with Christine Keeler "disclosed a character defect which pointed to his being a security risk." He had exposed himself to blackmail, so jeopardizing state secrets, the report said.

Denning was appointed by Macmillan on June 21 to investigate security aspects of Profumo's affair with Miss Keeler who also had social contact with a Soviet intelligence officer naval captain, Yevgeny Ivanov. He also looked into rumors about other ministers.

After citing gossip surrounding certain members of the government—whom he did not name—Denning reported:

"It might be thought that these rumors are a symptom of a decline in the integrity of public life in this country.

"I do not believe this to be true.

"There has been no lowering of standards."

Denning then described how scandalous stories about well-known people have become marketable commodities because a few British newspapers — which he did not identify—are ready to publish information of this kind.

The judge disclosed that British security services 11 years ago were transferred from the direct control of the prime minister to that of the home secretary. This was done when Sir Winston Churchill headed the British government and the move was never before made public.

Technically, therefore, immediate responsibility for the security aspects of the Profumo case belonged to Home Secretary Henry Brooke. But because the central figure in the affair, Profumo, was a member of the government, Macmillan personally accepted the final responsibility.

Denning gave his assessment of the five key characters in the drama whose trials crossed at a swimming pool in Cliveden, the stately Buckinghamshire home of Lord Astor.

—Stephen Ward, 50, and now dead by his own hand, was a society artist and osteopath who procured 16- and 17-year-old mistresses for his influential friends.

"He admired the Soviet regime and sympathized with the Communists," Denning said. "He used to advocate their cause in conversation with his patients."

It was through Ward that Profumo and Ivanov met Christine and each other.

—Ivanov, nominally assistant Soviet naval attache, also was discovered by security men to be an intelligence officer. He was discovered by security men to be an intelligence officer. He was "something of a ladies' man," impressed by the peers he met and frank about warning his friends that anything they said went "back to Moscow." He and Ward became companions.

Negro Leader To Stay On Job At Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Mrs. Gloria Richardson reconsidered at the last minute Wednesday and decided to remain chairman of the Cambridge Non-Violent Action Committee.

She had been on the verge of releasing a statement on her resignation which was announced Tuesday night by her mother.

Instead, she said:

"After careful consideration, I have decided my resignation would be detrimental to the civil rights movement here and across the country."

She added:

"The only reason I am staying on is because of the people. They want me to."

Mrs. Richardson hinted she intended to resign because of a difference of opinion with other Negro leaders over next Tuesday's vote on an equal accommodations charter amendment.

Mrs. Richardson has felt the Negroes should not be prodded to vote for the amendment since she feels equal service is a right. Other Negro leaders have worked to get out the voters.

Backers of the charter amendment received support Wednesday night from Bishop John Wesley Lord, head of the Methodist Church in the Washington area.

"This amendment, if adopted, will be a first step toward solution of the problems that now vex the citizens of this fair city," he said in a speech prepared for a meeting of congregations from three Cambridge Methodist churches.

"I call upon you to exercise your Christian conscience in this matter on Oct. 1," he said.

The bishop also recommended that each church form a small bi-racial study group "to discuss problems and the progress that is being made toward Christian ends, to keep the lines of communication open across racial lines, to restore faith in the meeting of minds in a time when emotion and not reason often holds sway."

Bishop Lord said he would be pleased to join monthly discussions by the study groups if invited.

The rest of the tax bill is made up of some two dozen changes in present provisions of the revenue laws, some relaxing them but more tightening them. Among those with the broadest application:

—A new liberalized standard deduction applicable to low-income families would be instituted, taking some 1.5 million off the tax rolls entirely, and benefiting an estimated 13.5 million.

— State gasoline, liquor and cigarette taxes would no longer be deductible for federal income tax purposes, but state income and real estate taxes would continue to be deductible.

—The tax advantages of some fringe benefits, such as sick pay, stock options and employer-paid life insurance above $30,000 would be trimmed.

—The present 4 per cent tax credit for dividend income would be repealed, but the amount excluded from taxation would be increased from $50 to $100.

—Persons with greatly fluctuating incomes would be allowed to average them to remain in a lower tax bracket.

ceeded only too well" in destroying U.S. confidence in Britain if that was his aim, said Denning.

—Christine Keeler, Denning observed candidly, had "undoubted physical attractions." Ward took her away from a night club—where her job as a showgirl "involved, as she put it, just walking around with no clothes on"—in order that they might live together.

Christine tried many times to leave Ward in the eight months she lived with him but "he seemed to control her." He introduced her to the drug Indian hemp, she became an addict and had sexual intercourse with many men of all colors including some "of rank and position."

—Profumo, 48, had a fine war and political record which entitled him to "the confidence of his colleagues and of the country."

Denning observed:

"It should not be assumed by anyone that he would give away secret information."

—Astor, gentleman farmer and philanthropist, first met Ward as a patient needing treatment after riding accident on 1950. Ever since, and even after the scandal burst, they saw a lot of each other.

Denning said Astor rented a cottage to Ward on the Cliveden estate in 1956—less than half a mile away from his own great house which he has turned over to the national trust. Ward, he went on, used to visit the house on weekends to give osteophatic treatment not only to Astor but also to his guests. The account, including payment for the guests, was charged to Astor. Occasionally Ward would be invited to the big house for lunch or drinks.

Astor, according to the report, had "no sympathy with Stephen Ward's political views" but did occasionally help him approach the Foreign Office without in any way sponsoring his views.

Beall Assails Senate Report On Stockpiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., Wednesday criticized a proposed and still secret report by Senate stockpile investigators as a slanted, political report on "respected officials of the Eisenhower administration."

Beall, one of the six senators who conducted the special probe last year of the $8 billion defense stockpiles, told a reporter that the disputed report attacks:

George M. Humphrey, former Secretary of the Treasury and head of the vast Hanna mining interests.

Arthur F. Flemming, one-time stockpile official, later Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and now president of the University of Oregon.

Felix E. Wormser, former assistant Secretary of the Interior and a prominent lead industry official.

Beall said Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J, has a telegram from former President Eisenhower protesting the proposed report.

None of the seven injured students was believed hurt seriously. All attended Sunshine School for Retarded Children in Parkersburg.

The driver of the car, George W. Skidmore, 79, of Davisville, was not hurt.

Tough Rights Bill Drawn Up By House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tough civil rights bill that includes far more than the administration requested was approved tentatively Wednesday by a House Judiciary subcommittee. It is expected to spark a major congressional fight.

Extras written in included a more sweeping ban on racial discrimination in places of public accommodation, creation of a Fair Employment Practices Commission and additional civil rights powers for the attorney general.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leaders backed off from a showdown with their southern colleagues by dropping plans to try this week to make the Civil Rights Commission a permanent agency with broader powers.

Instead, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., acting majority leader, introduced legislation providing simply for a one-year extension without any new powers.

Humphrey said he expects the measure can be passed by the Senate Thursday and he hopes the House will do the same before Monday. The commission is due to go out of existence then unless Congress acts.

The measure still has to clear the full committee and the Rules committee before it can reach a House vote.

Before Humphrey made his announcement, with indications that there might be a switch in plans, John A. Hannah, chairman of the commission, summoned newsmen to declare Congress should make the agency permanent or abolish it.

Happy Ending In Store For Runaway Romance

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The runaway romance of the 15-year-old niece of Princess Grace of Monaco had a happy ending Wednesday when she received parental blessings to marry her secret sweetheart.

The parents of Mary Lee Davis and John Paul Jones Jr., 19, who ran away from home a month ago because they were in love, gave their permission for the couple to marry after a brief "family conference."

"The children have the permission of both parents to be married," the parents said in a joint verbal statement.

A half-hour later the young couple, who had been in seclusion since their secret flight was revealed Tuesday night, strolled out of an apartment hand in hand.

"I'm glad it's all out in the open," handsome young Jones said.

Miss Davis, looking tired, just smiled. Then they drove away to the apartment they had shared since arriving here three weeks ago.

Jones' father said the couple probably would be married soon somewhere in Iowa.

Thus ended the runaway of the pretty brunette socialite who at the age of 7 was a flower girl at the wedding of her famous aunt, Grace Kelly, to Prince Ranier of Monaco.

Miss Davis and Jones, who met about a year ago while both were students at private high schools, left home Aug. 28. They were reported missing Sept. 5.

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A 6-count conspiracy indictment against a Prince Georges Savings and Loan figure was dismissed Tuesday on the ground the state had denied him his constitutional right to a speedy trial.

Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers ruled that George A. Murdock, indicted by a grand jury June 29, 1962, on six counts of conspiracy "to defraud depositors" of the now-defunct Freestate Savings & Loan Association, had been denied the right to a speedy trial guaranteed him by the 6th Amendment to the federal constitution.

On July 30, 1962, Murdock's attorney, Thomas M. O'Malley, filed a motion for immediate trial. During an Oct. 29 hearing on the motion, former state's attorney William L. Kahler asked for 45 days to prepare a bill of particulars, because "this is not an ordinary case."

Runoff Necessary In Union Election

BALTIMORE (AP)—A run-off election will have to be held at a later date to determine what union will represent workers at the Western Electric Corp. plant here.

An election held Wednesday resulted in the incumbent union, Communications Equipment Workers, polling 1,643 votes to 1,621 for the Teamsters Union. Since neither had a majority of the 4,600 eligible workers, however, a run-off election is necessary.

Jones' father said the couple probably would be married soon somewhere in Iowa.

Thus ended the runaway of the pretty brunette socialite who at the age of 7 was a flower girl at the wedding of her famous aunt, Grace Kelly, to Prince Ranier of Monaco.

Miss Davis and Jones, who met about a year ago while both were students at private high schools, left home Aug. 28. They were reported missing Sept. 5.

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A 6-count conspiracy indictment against a Prince Georges Savings and Loan figure was dismissed Tuesday on the ground the state had denied him his constitutional right to a speedy trial.

Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers ruled that George A. Murdock, indicted by a grand jury June 29, 1962, on six counts of conspiracy "to defraud depositors" of the now-defunct Freestate Savings & Loan Association, had been denied the right to a speedy trial guaranteed him by the 6th Amendment to the federal constitution.

On July 30, 1962, Murdock's attorney, Thomas M. O'Malley, filed a motion for immediate trial. During an Oct. 29 hearing on the motion, former state's attorney William L. Kahler asked for 45 days to prepare a bill of particulars, because "this is not an ordinary case."

Runoff Necessary In Union Election

BALTIMORE (AP)—A run-off election will have to be held at a later date to determine what union will represent workers at the Western Electric Corp. plant here.

An election held Wednesday resulted in the incumbent union, Communications Equipment Workers, polling 1,643 votes to 1,621 for the Teamsters Union. Since neither had a majority of the 4,600 eligible workers, however, a run-off election is necessary.

First United States postage stamps were placed on sale in New York City on July 1, 1847.

Soviet Presidium Ratifies Treaty

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) Wednesday unanimously ratified the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The action followed by one day the U.S. Senate's approval of the pact which bans nuclear testing in the atmosphere, outer space and underwater.

(Many European newspapers hailed the Senate vote as a victory for President Kennedy and a step toward peace.)

The United States uses more than it produces of iron ore, zinc, bauxite, tin and nickel.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hats tattle on milady's mood.

And the male who's expert at hat-analysis can skip the guessing when trying to tell which way a woman's emotions are stirring at a given time.

Edith Head, veteran Hollywood designer, told about the hat-watcher's guide to a woman's moods during an interview.

"Women who wear the mannish new confections from milliners are competitive, aggressive and often on the warpath," she said

"The best defense against such a woman — watch out."

A different approach is called for when meeting a woman who wears atop a bit of the posie-patch covered with veiling.

"She's romantic and ready for marriage," Miss Head said.

Here are other hat clues:

—The black lace little-nothing hat with veiling over the eyes means a woman's feeling femme fatale, and adventuresome.

—A broad-brimmed hat that shades the face indicates hands off. The woman's hiding under the brim. She's in an evasive mood. She prefers to be alone.

—Ultra - fashionable hats that make other women stop and stare show a damsel is more interested at the moment in impressing other females. She wants nothing to do with males while wearing the confection.

—Pill boxes and other off-the face hats showing lots of hair — a la Jackie Kennedy's favorite hat — broadcast that the woman is sure of her self.

—Any kind of hat with a huge hat pin in plain sight usually means a woman's ready for a fight, if the occasion demands one.

Miss Head, in New York to stage fashion shows in connection with a new film, "A New Kind of Love," said she's convinced the nation's milliners are out of the mad hatter era.

They are not producing so many hats looking like waste baskets, pyramids of saucers, or bowls of fruit," she said.

"Such things shocked the males into saying — 'You're not going out in THAT.' Then the pundits took over."

UAL Takes Issue With Ditching Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United Air Lines believes—tests to the contrary — that safe, successful evacuation of 189 passengers from a stricken jetliner still has not been proved possible.

A test was conducted by Pan American World Air Ways in New York last week for Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) officials. It stemmed from a United complaint against a Pan Am proposal to carry as many as 189 passengers from the West Coast to Hawaii for a special fare of $100 per person.

United asked the FAA to run tests simulating a ditching at sea as well as escape from a jet that has crashed on land. The tests were conducted in darkened hangar at Idlewild Airport with 189 Pan Am employes pretending to be passengers aboard a Boeing 707.

The FAA said the tests were still being evacuated.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How To Get Your Time's Worth

In a wide, complex world, there never seems to be enough time. Every bit of time, we urgently tell ourselves, must count. I'd like to give you some ideas today about one of the best of all ways to make it count, about how to get your time's worth in the daily whirl.

People, after all, matter most in our lives. Relationships with others determine most of our happiness and much of our success. Your time with people, then, is probably the most valuable time you have. It may be limited, with friends and even with the family, and filled with cut-short encounters with so many. Especially if it is, this time must be spent wisely—what happens in your contacts with others has so much to do both with the course of your life and everyday routine.

Think about it now. Do you try as hard to get your time's worth as your money's worth? Shouldn't you spend your best self with more care than you spend your salary? Isn't the giving of your own unfailing charm in every contact and situation the way to make time return full value?

The moment that alienates a friend or makes an enemy is a sorrier loss than tossed-out dollars. Abruptness snaps off interest in you, but a few gracious minutes more could begin a wonderful association. Ill temper costs good will, but good natured patience and courtesy brings rewards far out of proportion to the time they take.

There's less satisfaction in going out of your way to save money than there is in going out of your way to do something nice for someone. Cheery and considerate words are bright coins that return their kind and more. The borrowed-time talk when you pleasantly clear up misunderstanding may make you feel freer than paying the last of your bills. And a wealth of friends and well - wishers is wealth that time, the way a charmer uses it, but not money, can buy.

A SUCCESSFUL CAREER CAN BE YOURS if you know the five steps to take before approaching that personnel director. You'll find these "Steps to a Successful Career," carefully detailed in the booklet of the same name. To get your copy, send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to John Robert Powers in care of this newspaper.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a young mother who feels she can't do anything right. My three children deserve a better mother than they have. I am always yelling at them, threatening, spanking and punishing. They are under 10 years of age and constantly at war with each other, the neighbor children and with me.

My husband says it's my job to control the kids and I know he's right, but I just can't do it. I see other youngsters who behave beautifully. This means their mother has done a good job. No one will ever say that about me and mine.

More than anything I want to be a good mother but I don't measure up. I know you can't straighten me out in one letter, but please lead me to the help I need.

—BLUE MONDAY

DEAR MONDAY: First, get a complete physical checkup. You may be run-down and in need of medical attention. This can make people short-tempered and impatient.

Next, contact the Family Service Association or a local mental health clinic for reading material on how to raise children.

There are days when every mother, no matter how competent, would cheerfully change children with any neighbor, but the situation you describe is not an "off day." Your kids sound out of control.

And P.S.: Your husband could be helping instead of criticizing. They are HIS kids, too. Give the doll some reading material and tell him it's got to be a joint effort.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You must be a man. No woman could have given such rotten advice to the daughter whose 72-year-old dad wanted to remarry — in the old folks home yet!

That old geezer should have been declared off his trolley. I almost fainted when you gave him a green light. After all, the man has lived a full life. Fifty years of marriage, a nice family. What more could a person want?

Just because the old elk has met a woman at the home who must be as nutty as he and they want to get married, is no sign the family should O.K. such nonsense. This just proves what I've always said: Sick, well or dying — just show me a man who is too old or too tired for sex and I'll eat this newspaper — the whole Sunday edition.

Thank you.

—GLAD I'M SINGLE

DEAR MARY SUNSHINE: I'm glad you're single, too. This is your contribution to the human race.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you told a mother she wasn't raising a son, that she was raising a vegetable. Well, that's exactly what MY mother is doing — raising a 17-year-old vegetable.

I should be having the time of my life now but instead I am miserable. My mother will not let me date although I'm a high school senior. I've never been permitted to spend a night at a girl friend's house (I'm a girl) because mom worries about wild teenagers who crash parties.

My whole life is going to school, doing homework, going to family affairs which I hate. Can you see a way out of this jail?

—TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: A high school senior should be allowed to date. Enlist the aid of your favorite teacher or your clergyman.

Have you thought of going away to college? If you haven't, you should. Even if it means working your way through.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

News Commentary

By ERNEST SAKLER

ROME (UPI)—The Italian taxpayer, who is already footing the bill for such state enterprises as steel mills, housewives' pensions and a banana monopoly, may soon have to pay for the privilege of having political parties.

Demands to this effect have been mounting in recent months. Caretaker Premier Giovannia Leone has promised to prepare a bill on the subject if he has time before his government's scheduled resignation in November.

Under the suggestion, each political party would be financed by a subsidy in proportion to its popular vote and would have to give up other sources of financing.

The proposal was not expected to be popular. The various parties, of which there are eight not counting splinter groups, thus far have existed and thrived without resorting to state coffers—ostensibly, that is—and the average Italian does not seem to see why this happy state of things should change.

In particular, he doesn't seem to see why part of his hard-earned tax money should go into the coffers of the Communists or the neo-Fascists or whatever party he happens to dislike.

But a number of political experts feel the proposed public financing of parties has more for it than against.

Advantage No. 1, they say, is that in return for state financing the parties would have to make their budgets public and would no longer be allowed to get money from business interests. Many if not all parties are at present believed to be getting funds from private interests or from somewhere in the unchartered jungle of state-owned, state-controlled or state-sponsored agencies and corporations, whose budgets the parliament never sees.

A second advantage, according to observers, would be that state financing would amount to formal recognition of the parties role in a modern democracy. Virtually all big policy decisions in Italy since the war have been taken at party level — often bypassing the Parliament. Yet all the constitution or any law says about parties is that they are free to exist.

One right-wing objection to the proposal was that the Communists with 25 per cent of the popular vote, would get substantial state financing and might still try to retain their other sources of income by switching them from the party to "non-political" branch organizations. These sources are said to include substantial kickbacks from companies doing business with Russia.

The Communists, however, appeared unhappy over the proposal. Part leader Palmiro Togliatti said in a speech in Perugia that the suggestion was part of a drive to impose "controls and limitations" on political parties.

Also generally unhappy were the smaller parties, which would get only the crumbs of state financing and feel this would give the big ones — Christian Democrats, Communists and Socialists — undue advantage at election time.

Police later lassoed the invader and turned him over to Patrolman John Henry Wilson who keeps a couple in a pond in his backyard.

Cartoon Kids British Queen

LONDON (UPI) — A London newspaper Tuesday printed an almost unprecedented cartoon portraying and kidding Queen Elizabeth II.

The last cartoons portraying the Queen to be published here were believed to be the solemn and dignified sketches which appeared at the time of her coronation 10 years ago.

The London Evening Standard's cartoonist "JAK" showed a woman, sitting at home in a high-backed chair with her face hidden, speaking to a man clearly portrayed at Prince Philip.

The woman, obviously the Queen, is reading an account of the sermon on sex which Princess Anne heard last Sunday at the chapel near Benenden, the girls' school she entered last week. The caption was the Queen saying:

"That does it — put the rest down for Eton."

Japanese Businessmen Will Display Products At Trade Fair In Communist China

TOKYO (UPI) — A group of private Japanese businessmen signed a new trade agreement Tuesday with Communist China and announced they will display Japanese products at a trade fair in Peking.

The signing was announced by Peking Radio. The broadcast did not state the amount of the agreement but barter trade between Japan and China has amounted to $100 million this year, plus another $50 million by a combine of trading in Tokyo, and Osaka. The 1964 agreement is expected to be larger.

Japan does not recognize Communist China and the trade mission ostensibly was a private one. However, two members of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party and the president of one of Japan's most important domestic airlines helped in the negotiations.

Japan's acceptance of Communist China has brought relations with Nationalist China to the crisis point. But Japanese trade missions continue to go to Peking.

Former Premier Tan Zan Ishibashi left Tuesday to preside over a three week trade fair opening Oct. 6 in Peking.

News Commentary

By ERNEST SAKLER

ROME (UPI)—The Italian taxpayer, who is already footing the bill for such state enterprises as steel mills, housewives' pensions and a banana monopoly, may soon have to pay for the privilege of having political parties.

Demands to this effect have been mounting in recent months. Caretaker Premier Giovannia Leone has promised to prepare a bill on the subject if he has time before his government's scheduled resignation in November.

Under the suggestion, each political party would be financed by a subsidy in proportion to its popular vote and would have to give up other sources of financing.

The proposal was not expected to be popular. The various parties, of which there are eight not counting splinter groups, thus far have existed and thrived without resorting to state coffers—ostensibly, that is—and the average Italian does not seem to see why this happy state of things should change.

In particular, he doesn't seem to see why part of his hard-earned tax money should go into the coffers of the Communists or the neo-Fascists or whatever party he happens to dislike.

But a number of political experts feel the proposed public financing of parties has more for it than against.

Advantage No. 1, they say, is that in return for state financing the parties would have to make their budgets public and would no longer be allowed to get money from business interests. Many if not all parties are at present believed to be getting funds from private interests or from somewhere in the unchartered jungle of state-owned, state-controlled or state-sponsored agencies and corporations, whose budgets the parliament never sees.

A second advantage, according to observers, would be that state financing would amount to formal recognition of the parties role in a modern democracy. Virtually all big policy decisions in Italy since the war have been taken at party level — often bypassing the Parliament. Yet all the constitution or any law says about parties is that they are free to exist.

One right-wing objection to the proposal was that the Communists with 25 per cent of the popular vote, would get substantial state financing and might still try to retain their other sources of income by switching them from the party to "non-political" branch organizations. These sources are said to include substantial kickbacks from companies doing business with Russia.

The Communists, however, appeared unhappy over the proposal. Part leader Palmiro Togliatti said in a speech in Perugia that the suggestion was part of a drive to impose "controls and limitations" on political parties.

Also generally unhappy were the smaller parties, which would get only the crumbs of state financing and feel this would give the big ones — Christian Democrats, Communists and Socialists — undue advantage at election time.

Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). New quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-upkeep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options available at your Chevrolet dealer's—that's entirely up to you.

Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe—one of 11 models in three great series.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The prices of steam generators used in electric generating plants have been boosted an average of 10 per cent by Worthington Corp.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. said it was studying the move by its competitor.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Garrett Corp. said it has obtained a $19.6 million follow up contract for work on Ram air turbine systems and other aspects of the McDonnell F4B, F4C and RF4C aircraft.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chase Manhattan Bank has received permission from the state banking board to expand its operations in common trust funds.

Common trust funds are those in which funds of individual clients are mingled and invested collectively.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —AVC Corp., formerly American Viscose Corp., said it plans to liquidate and distribute all its assets to stockholders by the end of this year.

Frank Reichel, chairman, said AVC still is weighing "various possibilities" before formulating a plan to distribute the corporation's assets.

The company's assets as of August 5, were $367,187,000 or $77.22 for each outstanding capital share.

BOSTON (UPI) — Kalmum R. Lee and Lee and Lee Securities Co. of Jersey City, N. J., have been suspended indefinitely from membership in the Boston Stock Exchange.

The exchange said the suspension resulted from violation of the rule requiring member firms to maintain a minimum balance of $25,000 in liquid assets at all times.

Cuckoo Collection

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The sound of the cuckoo is a familiar one in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Brighton here.

They could easily have a chorus since they own 50 cuckoo clocks, but ever since their collection reached 25 they've kept only two running. A quail announces the quarter hour on one, and a cuckoo makes the hourly call. One Black Forest clock is dated 1865 but at least two others are believed to be older.

Old Ice Boxes Claim Lives Despite Law

By DANIEL RAPOPORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Children in record numbers are suffocating in abandoned refrigerators despite a six-year-old law designed to eliminate the danger.

The fatalities are occurring in refrigerators manufactured before the law took effect. In 1961, for example, there were 35 known deaths from "suffocation or entrapment" in refrigerators, a new high.

So far, according to unofficial records, no one has died in a refrigerator built to the new safety standards. But relatively few refrigerators built in the last six years have reached abanment age.

These and other factors were disclosed in a "progress report" on the refrigerator safety law given to the House health and saefty subcommittee.

Federal officials and subcommittee members indicated they were pleased with the new law but conceded that much remains to be done. They were particularly concerned about old ice boxes which are abandoned or temporarily left idle, such as happens when a summer cottage is vacated.

Col. Gaylord B. Kidwell, a retired Army colonel, now living in Arlington, Va., put it much stronger.

Kidwell, who has been devoting his senior years to working with industry and government without pay, said the safety device will prove ineffective once owners begin abandoning the newer refrigerators.

Refrigerators currently are equipped with a "magnetic gasket," the rubber lining around the front of the box. The door is held to the gasket by magnetic attraction instead of the old latches.

Kidwell pointed, however, to a government study in which 201 children aged three to five-years-old were placed in refrigerator-type enclosures.

While the government officials proudly noted that at least 60 per cent of the youngsters were able to force their way out, Kidwell emphasized that 40 per cent or more were unable to escape.

His solution: Make it impossible to close the door of a refrigerator that is going to be abandoned or temporarily idled.

Kidwell demonstrated his point with the aid of a refrigerator brought into the hearing room.

One of his methods involved replacing the magnetic gasket with a block of wood supported by a metal backing. It would be attached with the same screws which previously held the gasket and would prevent the door from closing.

More than two-thirds of the paint sold to householders is for self-application compared with only 15 per cent sold for that purpose in 1937.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Garrett Corp. said it has obtained a $19.6 million follow up contract for work on Ram air turbine systems and other aspects of the McDonnell F4B, F4C and RF4C aircraft.

The F4 Phantom II is an all-weather interceptor built by Mc Donnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis in several models for the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chase Manhattan Bank has received permission from the state banking board to expand its operations in common trust funds.

Common trust funds are those in which funds of individual clients are mingled and invested collectively.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —AVC Corp., formerly American Viscose Corp., said it plans to liquidate and distribute all its assets to stockholders by the end of this year.

Frank Reichel, chairman, said AVC still is weighing "various possibilities" before formulating a plan to distribute the corporation's assets.

The company's assets as of August 5, were $367,187,000 or $77.22 for each outstanding capital share.

BOSTON (UPI) — Kalmum R. Lee and Lee and Lee Securities Co. of Jersey City, N. J., have been suspended indefinitely from membership in the Boston Stock Exchange.

The exchange said the suspension resulted from violation of the rule requiring member firms to maintain a minimum balance of $25,000 in liquid assets at all times.

Cuckoo Collection

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The sound of the cuckoo is a familiar one in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Brighton here.

They could easily have a chorus since they own 50 cuckoo clocks, but ever since their collection reached 25 they've kept only two running. A quail announces the quarter hour on one, and a cuckoo makes the hourly call. One Black Forest clock is dated 1865 but at least two others are believed to be older.

Old Ice Boxes Claim Lives Despite Law

By DANIEL RAPOPORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Children in record numbers are suffocating in abandoned refrigerators despite a six-year-old law designed to eliminate the danger.

The fatalities are occurring in refrigerators manufactured before the law took effect. In 1961, for example, there were 35 known deaths from "suffocation or entrapment" in refrigerators, a new high.

So far, according to unofficial records, no one has died in a refrigerator built to the new safety standards. But relatively few refrigerators built in the last six years have reached abandonment age.

These and other factors were disclosed in a "progress report" on the refrigerator safety law given to the House health and saefty subcommittee.

Federal officials and subcommittee members indicated they were pleased with the new law but conceded that much remains to be done. They were particularly concerned about old ice boxes which are abandoned or temporarily left idle, such as happens when a summer cottage is vacated.

Col. Gaylord B. Kidwell, a retired Army colonel, now living in Arlington, Va., put it much stronger.

Kidwell, who has been devoting his senior years to working with industry and government without pay, said the safety device will prove ineffective once owners begin abandoning the newer refrigerators.

Refrigerators currently are equipped with a "magnetic gasket," the rubber lining around the front of the box. The door is held to the gasket by magnetic attraction instead of the old latches.

Kidwell pointed, however, to a government study in which 201 children aged three to five-years-old were placed in refrigerator-type enclosures.

While the government officials proudly noted that at least 60 per cent of the youngsters were able to force their way out, Kidwell emphasized that 40 per cent or more were unable to escape.

His solution: Make it impossible to close the door of a refrigerator that is going to be abandoned or temporarily idled.

Kidwell demonstrated his point with the aid of a refrigerator brought into the hearing room.

One of his methods involved replacing the magnetic gasket with a block of wood supported by a metal backing. It would be attached with the same screws which previously held the gasket and would prevent the door from closing.

More than two-thirds of the paint sold to householders is for self-application compared with only 15 per cent sold for that purpose in 1937.

YOUNG AND IN LOVE—Mary Lee Davis, 15, niece of Princess Grace of Monaco, and John Paul Jones, Jr., 19, son of a Philadelphia architect, were found in Des Moines, Iowa, Tuesday night. Both had been reported missing by their families earlier this month. The youngsters had been living in Des Moines while Jones worked selling encyclopedias and Mary Lee worked as waitress. She said they were in love, but not married. In a joint statement yesterday, John Paul Jones, Sr., and Eugene Conlan, Mary Lee's stepfather, said the youngsters have their parents' permission to be married. (AP Photofax)

Cambodian Leader Convinced South Viet Nam Lost To Reds

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk says he is convinced the Communists already have won the battle for South Viet Nam and feels that neutral Cambodia eventually will fall to the Communists.

The 41-year-old Cambodian chief of state has said the same thing before about Laos, another troubled neighbor.

Writing in the French-language weekly Realities Cambodigiennes, Sihanouk discounted President Charles de Gaulle's suggestion last month for elimination of foreign influence from both North and South Viet Nam.

The prince said he felt immediate neutralization of South Viet Nam would stop the war there and improve international relations, but probably would retard the Communist advance only temporarily.

He blamed American policies in Asia.

"Our American friends are remarkable organizers, brilliant technicians and excellent soldiers," Sihanouk said. "But their incontestable realism stops short of the realm of politics, where the attitude of the ostrich seems to them to conform best to their interests."

Sihanouk has maintained a policy of neutrality since Cambodia declared its independence from France in 1953. His government long has feuded with immediate neighbors, but has ties with all the big powers on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Cambodia is ringed by Laos, pro-Western Thailand and South Viet Nam. A nation of six million, it broke diplomatic relations with Thailand last year in a border dispute. Ties with South Viet Nam were cut last month in protest against the military crackdown by President Ngo Dinh Diem's government on Buddhists.

First extensive use of irrigation in the United States came in 1847 when Brigham Young and his Mormons diverted water from a stream to irrigate their fields.

U. Of Maryland Enrollment Increases Twice Expected Amount To 18,943

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Wilson H. Elkins reported Wednesday that this fall's enrollment at the University of Maryland main campus had increased by nearly twice the expected amount.

The university president told the regents the College Park enrollment this semester jumped by 2,260 instead of the expected 1,319 and brought the total enrollment here to 18,943.

The total, Elkins noted, represents a 74.3 per cent increase in the last five years.

"Our projections continue to be conservative," Elkins said. "We do not know exactly why enrollments continue above those projected. Several weeks of study will be needed to get a clear insight into this change."

Elkins noted that this is the last year before the high school graduation of the peak crop of World War II babies.

"If we have experienced a 74 per cent increase in our College Park enrollment during the past five years, when Maryland high school graduations have increased by 47 per cent, then what kind of increase should we expect in September, 1964 and 1965, when high school graduating classes will increase from 31,078 graduates last June to 35,092 (in June, 1964) and 40,080 (in June, 1965)?" Elkins asked.

The regents, in the meantime, adopted a budget for next year of $43.5 million that included increases in student fees, room and board, and salary raises for the faculty.

Starting next July 1, students from Maryland will be charged tuition of $240, an increase of $40, and out of state tuition will go up from $350 to $400.

Charges for a room will be raised $20, to $290 for men and $320 for women. The cost of food will be hiked from $380 to $400.

The base pay of associate professors will be adjusted from $7,500 to $8,000 and professors from $9,500 to $10,000. In addition individual merit raises will be raised from $400 to $500 for associate professors, $300 to $400 for assistants and $200 to $300 for instructors.

The salary increases will cost $1.1 million a year.

Segregation Material Ruling Is Requested

BALTIMORE (AP) — A state official said Wednesday he has asked the attorney general's office for an opinion whether the distribution of pro-segregation material violates Maryland law.

Parren J. Mitchell, executive secretary of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, announced at a commission meeting that he had made the request.

He said a group called the Maryland Petition Committee for States Rights, whose address is Jessup, has been misinforming the public that the state equal accommodations law is not in effect.

The law, enacted by the Maryland Legislature earlier this year, went into effect last June.

Mitchell said another threatening development was a move to enact local legislation curtailing anti - segregation demonstrations. The City Council of Salisbury and the Montgomery County Council had received such proposals, Mitchell said.

Buys Virgin Pine

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. Plywood Corp. announced it has completed the deal to buy one of the largest stands of virgin pine left in the United States as part of the assets of McCloud Lumber Co.

U.S. Plywood is paying $41 million for McCloud. The huge stand of virgin pine is 300 miles north of San Francisco.

Site For U. Md. Branch Will Be Recommended

BALTIMORE (AP) — The University of Maryland expansion committee plans to recommend a specific site in Baltimore County within three weeks.

Richard W. Case, vice chairman of the committee, disclosed this Wednesday after the group met here to discuss the Baltimore County branch.

Case said the committee's "definitive recommendation" will go to the university board of regents and presumably will be promptly relayed to the Maryland Board of Public Works for final approval.

This would mean rejection of suggestions that the selection of a county branch site be referred to the newly formed advisory Council for Higher Education before final decision. The suggestion has been made by state Senate President William S. James, D-Harford, and Acting House Speaker Marvin Mandel, D-Balto 5th, among others.

"The need to expand facilities for higher education in the Baltimore metropolitan area grows more acute each day," said Case. "Unless action is taken in the foreseeable future to meet this need, a serious injustice will be visited upon the people of this state."

He said referral of the question to the advisory council would be inconsistent with the expressed wishes of the 1963 Legislature, which authorized university branches in Baltimore County, western and southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore.

Case said his committee will examine possible sites in Baltimore County within the next 21 days before making its recommendation to the regents.

Annual per capita use of paper and paperboard products hit an all-time high of 457 pounds in 1962.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A record 1,155,100 workers were employed in Maryland in mid-August, the Department of Employment Security reported Wednesday.

The department said 4,000 more workers were added to the total payroll during the preceding month and unemployment dropped by 4,100 during the same period. This left 50,300 unemployed in Maryland, representing 4.2 per cent of the civilian work force, compared with 4.8 per cent in August, 1962.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — The three-center plan of Rep. Rogers C B., Morton, R-Md., for development of Assateague Island drew support Wednesday from the Worcester County commissioners.

They said they would like to discuss with Morton details of the plan, which calls for creation of separate, cultural, sports-recreation, and wildlife conservation areas on the island off the Worcester County coast.

Morton proposed the plan as an alternative to the U.S. Department of Interior plan for federal development of the island as a national seashore park.

WESTMINISTER, Md. (AP) — Postal officials and Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., will visit here Friday to discuss with city leaders a controversial proposal to spend $471,000 to enlarge the Westminster post office.

The city Chamber of Commerce has questioned whether the plan is economically sound. Long earlier supported the plan, then announced he agreed that the job might be done for less money.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carl Close, 48, wanted for violation of parole and two bank robberies in Maryland and Virginia, has been added to the FBI's list of 10 most-wanted fugitives.

Close is charged with the $21,078 robbery of the Equitable Trust Co. branch bank in the Edmondson Village suburb of Baltimore on March 8 and the $6,330 holdup of a Roanoke, Va., bank on June 4.

170 Md. Students In Scholarship Race

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Maryland has 170 among 13,000 high school students who were named Wednesday as semi-finalists in the nationwide competition for Merit Scholarships.

All will take another examination in an effort to qualify for a four-year college scholarship. The first tests were given last March.

Among the Maryland semi finalists were:

James A. Maiorana of Boonsboro, Donna L. Stine, Frederick, and Carol L. White, North Hagerstown.

Two Priests Assigned To New Duties In Maryland

Two Allegany County natives have been assigned to new duties in the Catholic priesthood.

Rev. Theodore Rowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rowan, LaVale, has been appointed chaplain of Calvert Hall College, Baltimore, while Rev. James E. Malloy, a native of Mt. Savage, has been transferred to the pastorate of St. George's Catholic Church, Valley Lee, Md.

Father Rowan, whose father is a former president of the Allegany County Commissioners, assumed his duties last week at the annual Mass of the Holy Spirit.

Father Rowan, a graduate of LaSalle High School, Class of 1958, replaces Rev. Joseph Davies, who served Calvert Hall students the past 11 years. Father Davies has been reassigned as pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Halfway.

Following three years in the seminary at St. Charles, Father Rowan completed his studies in Rome where he was ordained in 1956.

Since his return to the United States, Father Rowan has spent seven years as assistant pastor of Our Lady of Victory Church, Arbutus.

Father Malloy, who was ordained in 1939, has been pastor of St. Peter's Church, Olney, for the past year, and prior to that was pastor at St. Joseph's Church, Baltimore, for 14 years.

He will be succeeded at St. Peter's by Rev. Raymond G. Decker, who has been pastor of St. George's Church.

Two Priests Assigned To New Duties In Maryland

Two Allegany County natives have been assigned to new duties in the Catholic priesthood.

Rev. Theodore Rowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rowan, LaVale, has been appointed chaplain of Calvert Hall College, Baltimore, while Rev. James E. Malloy, a native of Mt. Savage, has been transferred to the pastorate of St. George's Catholic Church, Valley Lee, Md.

Father Rowan, whose father is a former president of the Allegany County Commissioners, assumed his duties last week at the annual Mass of the Holy Spirit.

Father Rowan, a graduate of LaSalle High School, Class of 1958, replaces Rev. Joseph Davies, who served Calvert Hall students the past 11 years. Father Davies has been reassigned as pastor of St. Jutus, Joseph's Church, Halfway.

Following three years in the seminary at St. Charles, Father Rowan completed his studies in Rome where he was ordained in 1956.

Since his return to the United States, Father Rowan has spent seven years as assistant pastor of Our Lady of Victory Church, Arbutus.

Father Malloy, who was ordained in 1939, has been pastor of St. Peter's Church, Olney, for the past year, and prior to that was pastor at St. Joseph's Church, Baltimore, for 14 years.

He will be succeeded at St. Peter's by Rev. Raymond G. Decker, who has been pastor of St. George's Church.

NROTC Exam For Students Set Dec. 13

The 18th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given December 14, it was announced yesterday. Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit applications before November 22.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice from among the 52 colleges with NROTC units. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives a retainer of $50 per month for not more than four years.

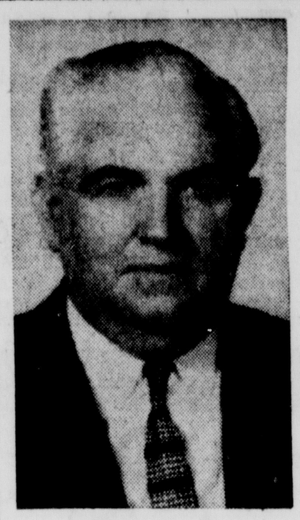
During the summers the student goes on training cruises as a midshipman. After graduation from college he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a career officer.

High school seniors and graduates who will have reached the 17th but not the 21st birth date on June 30, 1964 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who qualify will be interviewed and given a thorough medical examination early in 1964. About 2,000 will be selected to attend college next September under the program.

Applications and further information are available at local high schools or from Chief Elmo Bollman, local Navy recruiter.

300 Years Of Opera

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Italy's oldest opera house still in use is the Teatro della Pergola in this Tuscan city. It was built in 1656. The closest contender is the San Carlo in Naples, built in 1737.



TO PRESENT PROGRAM — Pastor H. L. Davis, director of Harbor of Light Chapel, Uniontown, will present a sacred music program, along with members of his singing team, at Ellerslie Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. today.

Gallagher Quits Counsel Post

BALTIMORE (AP)—Francis X. Gallagher said Tuesday he has resigned as people's counsel for the Public Service Commission.

It promptly gave credence to reports in Democratic circles that Gallagher will manage a campaign for Joseph D. Tydings for the nomination to the U.S. Senate next year.

"If he is a candidate I certainly will be interested in his campaign," Gallagher conceded.

Tydings is believed waiting until January to announce his candidacy for a seat once held 24 years by his late father, Millard.

Gallagher and Tydings served together in the Maryland House of Delegates. Gallagher, from Baltimore's 3rd District, resigned in 1961 to accept the PSC appoint-o ment. Tydings, from Harford County, resigned the same year to become U.S. attorney for Maryland by appointment from President Kennedy.

Tydings had coordinated Kennedy's election campaign in Delaware and Florida.

The legal profession also predicted that Gallagher and Tydings would become associated in a law office in a year or two.

Clevenger Enters Plea Of Guilty

A plea of guilty was entered today in Circuit Court by Walter B. Clevenger, 50, formerly of Keyser, on charges of grand larceny and breaking and entering.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris deferred passing sentence until a pre-sentence investigation by James Lewis, state probation officer. Clevenger has no prior police record.

Clevenger was defended by Fred H. Anderson, court-appointed attorney. Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case.

In most states, using a chemical test for drunken drivers is voluntary.

Men's Sport Wear Using More Leather

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — American leather manufacturers who have been turning out sports wear for years are broadening their field this Fall to take in town wear as well, concentrating on coats than can be worn as topcoats.

There also is new versatility in sports wear with leather ski jackets and pants, colors ranging through the entire spectrum with emphasis on black (motorcycle enthusiasts probably wouldn't be caught dead in anything else.)

Also new is a fine, soft, supple imported leather processed in the United States and known as Angola, which appears in garments from all leading men's wear manufacturers. It is a smooth grain and can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

There also are new combinations of leather — glace kid or suede — with woolknits for suburban living and spectator sports and vest and jacket combinations. A black leather vest with brass buttons was shown to good effect with a brown and black hounds' tooth check sports coat.

New for fall is a 39-inch length European walking coat (an ordinary topcoat averages about 45 inches) with a detachable back belt. Removing the belt makes this a coat that can be worn for informal occasions in the city.

Lengths of other leather coats run from 32 inches up to 38. There is a variety of zip-out linings. One zip-out lining looked as smooth as satin.

Will Gagen, director of the Fashion Bureau, sees leather as one means of getting men into more fashionable clothes.

"It adds to men's fashions something which has been missing," he said. "Previously if you get something new like bright red slacks men would reject it because they thought it was effeminate. But you take something like this (the leather vest and coat) and it's not only new it's rrrrrugged."

One of the most spectacular of the new leather jackets shown was an oyster white parka of Angola punched kid (resembling pigskin). It was lined with blue quilted nylon with drawstring bottom and hood and had two slash, zippered pockets. Cuffs were knitted. Though shown in oyster white it was available in many other colors.

Another spectacular ski jacket was one shown in cobalt blue glace kid. The zipper on the front goes all the way up to make a turtle neck. It had a slashed zippered breast pocket. The jacket comes in 25 colors ranging from white to coral to black.

One of the leather and woolknit combinations was a leisure jacket with leather collar and pocket trim against a black cardigan background. Another was a combination of Angola kid with knitted sleeves and back and lined with gold nylon.

One full-length leather coat came with leather buttons, horizontal flap pockets, a stitched yoke across the chest and a zip-out pile lining. Another, in three-quarter length, had the same lining, raglan shoulders and a stitched yoke. A third was a combination of kid and suede.

Men's Sport Wear Using More Leather

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — American leather manufacturers who have been turning out sports wear for years are broadening their field this Fall to take in town wear as well, concentrating on coats than can be worn as topcoats.

There also is new versatility in sports wear with leather ski jackets and pants, colors ranging through the entire spectrum with emphasis on black (motorcycle enthusiasts probably wouldn't be caught dead in anything else.)

Also new is a fine, soft, supple imported leather processed in the United States and known as Angola, which appears in garments from all leading men's wear manufacturers. It is a smooth grain and can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

There also are new combinations of leather — glace kid or suede — with woolknits for suburban living and spectator sports and vest and jacket combinations. A black leather vest with brass buttons was shown to good effect with a brown and black hounds' tooth check sports coat.

New for fall is a 39-inch length European walking coat (an ordinary topcoat averages about 45 inches) with a detachable back belt. Removing the belt makes this a coat that can be worn for informal occasions in the city.

Lengths of other leather coats run from 32 inches up to 38. There is a variety of zip-out linings. One zip-out lining looked as smooth as satin.

Will Gagen, director of the Fashion Bureau, sees leather as one means of getting men into more fashionable clothes.

"It adds to men's fashions something which has been missing," he said. "Previously if you get something new like bright red slacks men would reject it because they thought it was effeminate. But you take something like this (the leather vest and coat) and it's not only new it's rrrrrugged."

One of the most spectacular of the new leather jackets shown was an oyster white parka of Angola punched kid (resembling pigskin). It was lined with blue quilted nylon with drawstring bottom and hood and had two slash, zippered pockets. Cuffs were knitted. Though shown in oyster white it was available in many other colors.

Another spectacular ski jacket was one shown in cobalt blue glace kid. The zipper on the front goes all the way up to make a turtle neck. It had a slashed zippered breast pocket. The jacket comes in 25 colors ranging from white to coral to black.

One of the leather and woolknit combinations was a leisure jacket with leather collar and pocket trim against a black cardigan background. Another was a combination of Angola kid with knitted sleeves and back and lined with gold nylon.

One full-length leather coat came with leather buttons, horizontal flap pockets, a stitched yoke across the chest and a zip-out pile lining. Another, in three-quarter length, had the same lining, raglan shoulders and a stitched yoke. A third was a combination of kid and suede.

A new veneer brick, for exteriors, clips to any wall surface. One-sixth the weight of ordinary brick, it can be used for a complete wall, a wall accent or as a room divider. (Meridian Brick Corp., 234 Herricks Road, Mineola, N. Y.).

From solid blocks of marble: A salt shaker of white marble and pepper shaker from a dark shade. The set promises free-running salt since the unpolished marble interiors have the ability to absorb moisture. (Marblehead Golf Corp., Dept. 62, P.O. Box 5162, Sarasota, Fla.).

A new lightweight, portable seat weighs only one and a half pounds. The men's model has a cane type handle while the feminine version has a straight line unbrella type. (Dennis Mitchell Industries, Phila., Pa.).

Promising to dramatize, not hidge, the "individuality" of a woman's eyes is a spectacle frame with a wide-eyed look. Made of celanese plastic, this one follows the natural flow of the eyebrow. (Titmus Opitical Co., Petersburg, Va.).

Mrs. Donald Heare and Mrs. Harland Ridder, teachers, discussed studies of the children and answered questions of the parents who were present.

WVU Announces Regional Sessions On Journalism

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Approximately 150 delegates from northern West Virginia high schools are expected to open a series of one-day regional journalism workshops on September 28 at West Virginia University, according to William R. Summers, associate professor of journalism.

He said journalism teachers, advisers and their staffs from the northern schools will meet in Morgantown to discuss methods of improving publications.

Two other regional workshops are scheduled in October. Delegates from southern West Virginia schools will meet in Beckley on October 5. A workshop for schools in the Eastern Panhandle is scheduled at Shepherd College in Shepherdstown on October 26.

Summers said the workshop is being held regionally to provide each school with a better opportunity for participating. Regional workshops were instituted last year when an additional session was offered at Beckley.

Demo Chairman Says JFK May Lose In State

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Democratic Chairman Harry T. Gross isn't very optimistic about President Kennedy's chances of carrying the state in 1964.

"It's not inconceivable that the President could lose Maryland," Gross said Wednesday.

Kennedy carried the state by 76,000 votes of 1,055,000 cast in 1960.

"This time it will be different," Gross said. "Instead of the President carrying the senatorial and congressional candidates, they'll have to carry the State for him."

Other party leaders have privately stated they believe the President's position on the integration-civil rights question would weaken him politically in Maryland.

Gross said he will visit Washington this week to meet with National Democratic Chairman John Bailey.

The state chairman said Maryland party organization leaders, in looking for a senatorial candidate to back, are "hoping . . . we can get a man who is willing to run with Mr. Kennedy."

Those willing, Gross added, include Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, State Attorney General Thomas B. Finan and U.S. Attorney Joseph D. Tydings.

Asked whether the party organization would accept Tydings, Gross replied:

"Let's put it this way. Tydings is willing to run with Mr. Kennedy."

Tydings, son of the late former U.S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings, headed Kennedy's campaign in the 1960 Maryland primary.

Czechs Interested In American Wheat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Communist Czechoslovakia Wednesday sounded out the United States on the possibility of buying American wheat to help ease the critical shortage in the Soviet bloc and received an encouraging reply.

American sources said Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David, who made the approach, that U.S. officials might be favorably inclined if the Prague government could pay cash in dollars or hard currency.

Cabin Cruiser Sinks

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A 40-foot cabin cruiser burned and sank in Chesapeake Bay Wednesday, but the operator escaped serious injury, the Tidewater Fisheries Department reported.

Gilbert Nielsen of District Heights, Prince Georges County, owner of the boat, was rescued by two department patrol boats.

237 Die In Floods

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—At least 237 persons have died and more than 200,000 have been left homeless by rain-triggered floods in the state of Uttar Pradesh during the past 10 days, it was reported Wednesday.

An official of the state government said 4.6 million acres were flooded. He said heavy damage was caused to crops.

Lady Astor Improved

LONDON (UPI)—Lady Astor of Cliveden, who fell ill on the Scottish Island of Jura, was "much improved" Wednesday, a spokesman said.

Lady Astor, 31, third wife of Viscount Astor of Cliveden, is expecting her second child in the spring.

Check On Smallpox

Conlon Flies To Turkey

Thomas F. Conlon Jr. of Cumberland is included among a group of 15 travel agency representatives who left New York on a flight last night to Istanbul, Turkey, to observe Turkey's travel facilities, hotels, and cultural attractions.

Mr. Conlon, a partner in Conlon Travel Agency, will be gone about 10 days. The trip was arranged by the United States department of Lufthansa, a German airline, and the Turkish government information office.

While there, the Cumberland man hopes to renew acquaintances with a group of Turkish Army officers who attended infantry school with him at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1952. He also plans to meet the family with whom Gurtis O. Gilpin lived while he was an exchange teacher in Turkey in 1959-60. Mr. Gilpin teaches mathematics and algebra at Fort Hill High School.

Before returning to this country, Mr. Conlon plans to go to Madrid and join a group of Cumberland travelers led by Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

More than 1,500 asteroids have been listed by the International Astronomical Union.

FROSTBURG—The Beall High Boosters Club will meet today at 8:15 p. m. at City Hall with William Shuck presiding. Election of officers will be held.

Gas Company Wants To Keep Refund

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—United Fuel Gas Co. Wednesday told the Public Service Commission it should be allowed to keep about $2.7 million worth of refunds accruing to it from a Federal Power Commission ruling.

John Cornell, UFG vice president, testified that the company should keep the money because it otherwise would earn only a 5.02 per cent rate of return compared with a 6.25 rate previously authorized by the PSC.

The FPC ordered about $3.2 million in refunds to be made by UFG's wholesale gas supplier, Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

Cornell indicated UFG would refund about $467,000 to its 120,000 customers in southern West Virginia. The PSC staff said all of the money should go to customers, regardless of the firm's rate of return, because the money had been collected from customers.

The PSC staff holds a similar opinion regarding more than $3 million the FPC ordered refunded to Hope Natural Gas Co. by Tennessee Gas Transmission. The PSC took that case under consideration Monday.

Also arguing against UFG's position Wednesday was the city of Charleston as an intervenor. The PSC gave UFG 20 days in which to file briefs in the matter.

It overruled a motion by UFG for dismissal of the proceedings.

Demo Chairman Says JFK May Lose In State

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Democratic Chairman Harry T. Gross isn't very optimistic about President Kennedy's chances of carrying the state in 1964.

"It's not inconceivable that the President could lose Maryland," Gross said Wednesday.

Kennedy carried the state by 76,000 votes of 1,055,000 cast in 1960.

"This time it will be different," Gross said. "Instead of the President carrying the senatorial and congressional candidates, they'll have to carry the State for him."

Other party leaders have privately stated they believe the President's position on the integration-civil rights question would weaken him politically in Maryland.

Gross said he will visit Washington this week to meet with National Democratic Chairman John Bailey.

The state chairman said Maryland party organization leaders, in looking for a senatorial candidate to back, are "hoping . . . we can get a man who is willing to run with Mr. Kennedy."

Those willing, Gross added, include Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, State Attorney General Thomas B. Finan and U.S. Attorney Joseph D. Tydings.

Asked whether the party organization would accept Tydings, Gross replied:

"Let's put it this way. Tydings is willing to run with Mr. Kennedy."

Tydings, son of the late former U.S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings, headed Kennedy's campaign in the 1960 Maryland primary.

Czechs Interested In American Wheat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Communist Czechoslovakia Wednesday sounded out the United States on the possibility of buying American wheat to help ease the critical shortage in the Soviet bloc and received an encouraging reply.

American sources said Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David, who made the approach, that U.S. officials might be favorably inclined if the Prague government could pay cash in dollars or hard currency.

Cabin Cruiser Sinks

Conlon Flies To Turkey

Thomas F. Conlon Jr. of Cumberland is included among a group of 15 travel agency representatives who left New York on a flight last night to Istanbul, Turkey, to observe Turkey's travel facilities, hotels, and cultural attractions.

Mr. Conlon, a partner in Conlon Travel Agency, will be gone about 10 days. The trip was arranged by the United States department of Lufthansa, a German airline, and the Turkish government information office.

While there, the Cumberland man hopes to renew acquaintances with a group of Turkish Army officers who attended infantry school with him at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1952. He also plans to meet the family with whom Gurtis O. Gilpin lived while he was an exchange teacher in Turkey in 1959-60. Mr. Gilpin teaches mathematics and algebra at Fort Hill High School.

Before returning to this country, Mr. Conlon plans to go to Madrid and join a group of Cumberland travelers led by Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Gas Company Wants To Keep Refund

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—United Fuel Gas Co. Wednesday told the Public Service Commission it should be allowed to keep about $2.7 million worth of refunds accruing to it from a Federal Power Commission ruling.

John Cornell, UFG vice president, testified that the company should keep the money because it otherwise would earn only a 5.02 per cent rate of return compared with a 6.25 rate previously authorized by the PSC.

The FPC ordered about $3.2 million in refunds to be made by UFG's wholesale gas supplier, Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

Cornell indicated UFG would refund about $467,000 to its 120,000 customers in southern West Virginia. The PSC staff said all of the money should go to customers, regardless of the firm's rate of return, because the money had been collected from customers.

The PSC staff holds a similar opinion regarding more than $3 million the FPC ordered refunded to Hope Natural Gas Co. by Tennessee Gas Transmission. The PSC took that case under consideration Monday.

Also arguing against UFG's position Wednesday was the city of Charleston as an intervenor. The PSC gave UFG 20 days in which to file briefs in the matter.

It overruled a motion by UFG for dismissal of the proceedings.

Red Harvests: No Incentive

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev doesn't seem too pleased about Russia buying millions of bushels of wheat from Canada and Australia. He has started to berate farmers for inefficiency and has been assailing bureaucrats for exporting fertilizer when it is needed for Soviet fields.

It is no secret that farming under Communism is inefficient, and it is certainly true that the Russians have been exporting a lot of fertilizer since Khrushchev came to power.

Basically, of course, their problem is that there are few incentives to help make hard work and imagination pay big dividends.

Incentives are what make a farmer truly successful. In the United States, Canada, Australia and other free world countries, the farmer is essentially a gambler who knows that wealth can be his if he produces. He does not usually share the fruits of his efforts with everyone.

The rewards of his labor are his. This is a real incentive to a man of an independent turn of mind who isn't afraid to gamble everything he owns if the stakes are worth the effort.

But in Russia the farmer has little incentive. He is not honored like the scientist, the athlete, or the artist. Human nature being what it is, few men will break their backs working unless wealth is the spur.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Brutalization Of Society

We have been assured by at least three generations of socially conscious uplifters that juvenile delinquency is a simple reflex of "underprivileged" economic conditions. Well, no doubt it is easier to behave decently on a full stomach (if only because torpor sets in), but certain recent events tend to undermine the idea that delinquency bears any particular relationship to questions of economics or of social class.

There was the well-publicized case of the Gilded Youths of Long Island who wrecked the house, for example. But worse things than this have been happening. In Charleston, W. Va., a 15-year-old student in the local high school, Michael Murphy, was given the so-called "pink belly" hazing treatment recently by some upper classmen. The "pink belly" is a hazing process that consists of slapping and thumping a victim's stomach until the skin turns blood red from the irritation. In the case of young Mike Murphy, the hazing apparently drew so much blood away from certain vital organs that death resulted.

The point about this bit of semi-organized juvenile ferocity is that it was indulged in by youngsters who do not come within the "socially deprived" category. According to the students of Charleston High School, the practice of local hazing has been one of long standing. The "pink belly" has been part of a clandestine ritual required as an initiation into the school band. You've got to be "pink bellied" before you can toot a horn.

Now, if Mike Murphy had been fatally beaten up on New York's West Side or in the Bronx, there would have been a lot of solemn rehashing of the Marxist materialist idea that "social stratification" was the cause of it. But Mike died in a small city that does not fit into a Marxist frame. The truth is that Mike died because our contemporary culture is deficient in turning young savages into morally responsible human beings by the time they come of high school age.

A culture, whether it is rich or poor, is apt to be just as humane as its grounding in moral ideas. These ideas have been wanting everywhere. Brutality in recent months has been far more spectacular among affluent or well-to-do youths than it has among the juvenile gangs of our big urban wildernesses. For example, in Joplin, Mo., sophomores in the local high school were rolled down hill in barrels as part of an initiation.

Meanwhile, as the idea that brutality is amusing has been spreading among middle-class boys and girls, the "underprivileged" youths have been becoming more sedate. A professor of social work at Boston University, Dr. Saul Bernstein, has just completed a seven-month study of delinquent teen-age groups in the more poverty-stricken areas of Boston, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, and Philadelphia. He has discovered a trend toward what he calls "sophistication" in juvenile gang warfare. The old-fashioned harum-scarum "rumble" is on its way out.

What does "sophistication" in gang fighting mean? It means, says Dr. Bernstein, applying a "cool" attitude toward a showdown between rival gangs. There has been a "marked decrease of the highly organized group." The smaller gangs are giving up weird costumes that advertise their identity and are now wearing unobtrusive street clothes. The "rumble" has been replaced by "snagging," which consists of a "cool" chastisement of a few—or even just one—members of a rival gang.

Even an idea from medieval chivalry has been taken over by the newer big city juvenile gangs, according to Dr. Bernstein. The chivalric technique is known as "the fair one." Two gangs will meet to watch a couple of chosen representatives fight it out as if they were Sir Lancelot and the Duc de Montmorency engaging in a joust. Dr. Bernstein says the technique does not always succeed, for watchers have difficulty in keeping from joining the battle if their "tiger" seems to be losing.

However, Dr. Bernstein has discovered that it is ideas and moral conventions, not economics, that govern social behavior. Do we need more inculcation of Christian ethics in the schools, not less? This is something the nine justices of the Supreme Court might ponder.

President Upset Space Experts With His Moon Project Proposal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Inside fact is that President Kennedy overruled his top space experts in announcing that the United States was ready to put a Russian-American team on the moon.

The experts were so vigorous in arguing that cooperation was impossible and so sure they had JFK on their side that two top space executives went out on a limb against the idea within hours before the President made his historic moon-cooperation proposal. They were:

Dr. Robert Gilruth, head of the space center in Houston, Texas, who three days before the President's UN speech flatly and publicly stated that joint cooperation with Russia was incredible.

James Webb, director of the National Space Agency, who one day before JFK's speech poured cold water on a joint moon project before a St. Louis audience. He said frankly that the United States was interested in "the military uses of outer space."

Twenty-four hours later, Jimmy's chief in the White House pulled the rug right out from under him on two counts:

No. 1, he accepted the Gromyko idea of banning nuclear weapons from outer space.

No. 2, he proposed joint US-USSR cooperation in sending a man to the moon.

Space Politics

Most people don't know it, of course, but Jimmy Webb, the delightful and energetic director of NASA, has never had the complete confidence of the White House. Jimmy was hand-picked as space director by the late Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, who, as chairman of the Space Committee, dominated Senate policy not only on oil and gas under ground but the outer air above ground. He picked Jimmy Webb for the space agency because Webb had been working for his own far flung Kerr-McGee oil and gas empire.

It was this combination, with an assist from Lyndon Johnson and an especially strong assist from Rep. Albert Thomas, the Houston Congressman, which piled up most of the space projects in Houston. With the moon project located in Houston, the Congressman from Houston, who occupies a senior spot on the Appropriations Committee, made sure it got the money.

Unbalanced System

This is the system followed in recent years by the U. S. Congress and is why so many military projects are located in the state of Georgia. The potent chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sen. Dick Russell, comes from Georgia; so does the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Carl Vinson of Milledgeville.

There is nothing unsound about the mind of Mr. Vinson, despite his 80 years. But the system is about as sound as some of the inmates of the big Georgia mental institution located in Milledgeville.

One of the most significant points about JFK's UN speech was that he bucked the wrath of the senior and sometimes wrathy moguls of Congress by proposing the joint moon project with Russia.

For senior Congressman Al Thomas of Houston will bellow like a Texas steer at the idea of taking part of the moon project away from Houston and putting it in Moscow. And senior Senator Dick Russell will also want to cut down on the moon funds, because he doesn't favor any kind of international cooperation which might get away from his idea that war is inevitable.

Thus the President really made a tougher decision than the Russians and the diplomats at the UN realized when he proposed the joint USA-USSR moon project.

The reason he did so was his new strategy of pushing for peace: the belief that you have to build one success on top of another if the peace is to be won. He had scored one important international success with the test ban treaty. And he had the alternative of sitting still and letting the favorable atmosphere which it created slowly get nibbled away by the harpies; or of proposing new dramatic moves to strengthen the foundation for peace.

He chose the moon project, even if it did pull the rug out from under his own technical experts and even if it will start the grouchy committee chairmen of Congress biting their fingernails and gnashing their teeth.

Research Funds Threatened

Speaker John McCormack whose championing of Catholic causes has earned him the nickname, "The Archbishop," has quietly juggled committee assignments to make sure Catholic colleges and hospitals don't lose their federal research grants.

He acted after the House formed a special committee to investigate research spending. All too often the money has gone for plush offices and fancy furniture instead of research.

The investigation is headed by honest, plodding Congressman Carl Elliott (D-Ala.) who can be counted upon to chop away the waste no matter where the chips fly.

This may threaten the funds that have been going to hundreds of universities and hospitals, including several Catholic institutions.

In the past, it has been left up to the committee chairmen to decide who should be assigned to such investigations. Their selections automatically have been appointed by the House Speaker.

But McCormack ignored the recommendations of Appropriations Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) who submitted three names.

Instead, McCormack selected his own representative from the Appropriations Committee to serve on the Elliott Committee: Congressman John Fogarty (D-R.I.), an able, militant Catholic like McCormack.

Fogarty happens to be the leading advocate of federal grants for health research, which means he will now be investigating his own program.

But his chief function, according to other committee members, is to watch out for the Catholic institutions. Like McCormack, he doesn't want them to lose any federal money.

Tax Cut Won't Benefit Biggest Corporations

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—"Cash flow" is a meaningful term in the business world. It indicates how much cash is on hand with which to carry on daily operations. So it may come as a surprise to most people to learn that, under the so-called "tax cut" now being proposed, the 15,000 corporations which bring in the bulk of the tax revenues are going to have no immediate benefit from the revision of tax rates.

This is because large corporations—those with tax liabilities in excess of $100,000 a year—will be required to pay during the next year a major part of their 1964 tax liability together with their usual payments for 1963 taxes. This will amount to about the same as they paid in 1963 or on 1962 tax returns, even though the rates themselves are scheduled to go down next January.

President Kennedy, in his address on TV and radio to the nation a few days ago, said: "Every businessman can keep a higher percentage of his profits in his cash register, or put it to work expanding or improving his business."

But whoever did the memoranda prepared for the President's speech didn't make clear that cumulating tax payments would be involved. What is most disappointing, of course, is the news that most of the very businessmen who are expected to get the economy moving by reason of the tax cuts will not have available to them next year the benefit of these tax reductions. In fact, it will be seven years before the acceleration of cash payments will be completed. So it is hard to see where the stimulus to spending in business and the incentive to expand and create new jobs will be coming from or how this by itself will avoid a recession.

The House Ways and Means Committee report last week showed that payments to the Treasury from corporations averaging about $5 million a year would average more than 99 per cent as much in tax payments during the next five years as the tax payments under present law. Thus, the ability of the large corporations to finance operations, build new plants and get new machinery will be no greater under the new tax schedules than they are under the present schedules of tax rates.

"Cash flow" is made up of net profits after taxes and depreciation charges. Dividend payments come out of "cash flow" and the balance is available for current operations. Many financial experts have pointed out that dividend payments follow "cash flow" more closely than they follow net profits. Retained profits and depreciation charges — the "cash flow" after dividends—make up more than 60 per cent of the funds used by corporations. The other 40 per cent is the amount obtained by long and short-term borrowings and from the sale of a corporation's equity stocks.

Increased "cash flow" in the next seven years will be just about equal to the increase in tax payments being made during that period so as to get on a current basis. This is but another way of saying that the so-called "tax cut" will be merely a bookkeeping transaction for another seven years and that the amount of available cash will not be materially changed within that period by reason of tax cuts.

The smaller corporations, to be sure, will get the benefit of the new tax rates immediately. The amounts made available, however, are very small. A company with $100,000 profits now has to pay $46,500 in taxes and, under the new rates next year, will pay $43,000 and in 1965 and later $41,500. This means a saving of $5,000 a year by 1965, which, of course, will be beneficial. But it does not compare with the much larger sums that usually become necessary to make improvements in a business.

The real reason, however, why the special exemption was retained for the corporations with tax liabilities of $100,000 or less is that the "cash flow" of the smaller businesses is vital to their existence. They carry on their operations and pay their monthly bills to a considerable extent with the tax money that isn't due until the following year.

But the problems of the larger corporations are not in essence very different. They, too, depend on "cash flow" to conduct their month-by-month operations and more of them will have to borrow because of accelerated payments to the Treasury. This means an extra expense for interest charges.

What is difficult to understand is why the House Ways and Means Committee, upon the recommendation of the Treasury, voted to discriminate against the larger corporations by compelling them to pay in 1964 a bigger part of the taxes that normally wouldn't be due until 1965 and to continue such advance payments for a seven-year period.

There has been much talk lately about "equal protection under law," but the corporation which earns a gross profit of over $200,000 will discover when the pending tax bill is enacted that there is no such thing as equality between corporations. For a penalty is imposed upon success at the very time that the President has been telling the nation that the whole purpose of the new tax cut is to furnish incentive for the creation of jobs to cure employment.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

'WAY BEHIND — Washington—noted as having one of the highest personal income rates in the nation, lags behind the national average in the use of seven out of 13 major electrical appliances. This surprising statistic developed from a study by an electrical institute that surveyed 444,912 dwelling units in the Washington metropolitan area.

Electric refrigerators chalked up a figure of 97.3 per cent of saturation, compared with 99.5 per cent nationally. Electric washers showed a rate of 57.3 per cent compared with 82.2 per cent nationally. Vacuum cleaners were 53.3 per cent, contrasted with 78.2 per cent nationally.

Washington is big on radios, however, showing a figure of 149.8 per cent—or nearly one and one-half radios per dwelling unit, compared with 94.3 per cent nationally. Washington had a television percentage of 106.4 per cent compared with 94.3.

It's pretty hot and humid in Washington, accounting for the fact that the city had 39 per cent for air conditioners, compared with a national average of only 14.8.

The Image Maker

By John Crosby

PARIS

I ran into my old friend, Ivy Bayard Doublethink, the demon press agent, the other day, just as he was on his way to the airport to take off for Viet Nam. "It'll take some doing," he said, "but you know I've never quailed from these international assignments. I regard them as a challenge."

"Whose images are you refashioning now?" I asked.

Madama Nhu's," he said, almost gaily. He showed me a whole sheaf of news stories in which he had underlined the key words, "harridan," "shrike," "termagant," "acid-tongued," "monster," "dragon lady."

"I'm afraid the image has got badly tarnished," he said, rubbing his hands with positive glee. If there's anything old Ivy Doublethink loves, it's to shine up a really tarnished image. Anything else he considers too easy.

He smiled mistily at the memory. "You see, it doesn't take much to refashion an image. The public is eternally sentimental, eternally victimized by their own humanity. My distinguished forefather"—here he moved his hat reverently—"Ivy Lee, after whom I'm named, taught us all that when he remade the image of John D. Rockefeller Sr., one of the most disliked men of all time. The people forgot all about his rapscallion qualities and his ruthlessness when they saw the dear old man handing out dimes to little children."

I'd forgotten that Ivy had been called in on the Josef Stalin case, one of the toughest bits of image-polishing of all time, wiping out the memory of the Siberian slave camps, the starvation of 10 million peasants, and the rest. "How did you manage that?" I asked him. "Very, simple," said old Ivy. "I put the word uncle in front of his name, shortened Josef to Joe, and put a pipe in his mouth."

"You mean that's all it took to wipe out the memory of all those dead bodies?"

"The public is infinitely humane," said old Ivy. "They can't think bad thoughts about a man named Uncle Joe."

"Infinitely stupid would sound more accurate."

"You said it. I didn't say it," said old Ivy benignly. "No public relations expert would ever call the public stupid."

"How did you manage it with Khrushchev?" I asked. "I suppose it was you who thought up that badminton game without a net on the Black Sea."

He dismissed it negligently. "That's nothing. A moment's inspiration. It was the folk wisdom that really did the trick. We had Mr. K say that leaving Nixon in Washington while Eisenhower was abroad was like 'letting the goat look after the cabbage patch.' 'A flea can't tell one dog from another.' 'The rear end of a camel is not the best view.' We have a couple of writers turning these things out by the yard. How can you hate a man who talks folk wisdom?"

"Ivy," I said, "was it you who put Bernard Baruch on that park bench, feeding the pigeons and passing out homely wisdom to carefully selected pedestrians while the cameras whirred?"

"No, that was Herbert Bayard Swope, God rest his memory. A masterful stroke, that park bench. Maybe I might do something like that with Madame Nhu."

"After clapping her hands over the barbecuing of Buddhist monks, I should think a park bench would not be strong enough. Have you any ideas, any advanced planning on how you're going to refashion this image?"

"That would be telling," said Ivy. "But don't be surprised if she's seen very soon knitting tiny garments."

"After you get through remoulding her image, maybe you might go to work on the male image," I said. "Madame Nhu has invaded a strictly male preserve — that of international villain. All the great international villains have been men—Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin. One more sacred preserve of the male sex has fallen to the womenfolk. Next thing you know there'll be women pitching for the Yankees."

'Cut Down Rather Than Out' Sensible Diet Plan

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Any and all foods can be included in reducing diets. The trick is to eat what you always do but in smaller portions. The plan — cut down rather than out — makes sense for several reasons.

Reducing diets ought to be balanced and supply adequate nutrition. This is accomplished by eating a little of this or that, including foods high and low in calories. This means the meals will contain foods preferred and desired by the individual. This regimen is more comfortable and less likely than drastic plans to leave that empty feeling.

Smaller, balanced menus also have the advantage of teaching good eating habits. This is the main objection to so-called reducing foods, dietetic aids, commercial formula diets, and pills that are supposed to kill appetite. They do nothing to help the reducer remain thin after losing poundage. Furthermore, these touted slimming methods are not easy to follow and many persons give up after a few weeks.

Red Harvests: No Incentive

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev doesn't seem too pleased about Russia buying millions of bushels of wheat from Canada and Australia. He has started to berate farmers for inefficiency and has been assailing bureaucrats for exporting fertilizer when it is needed for Soviet fields.

It is no secret that farming under Communism is inefficient, and it is certainly true that the Russians have been exporting a lot of fertilizer since Khrushchev came to power.

Basically, of course, their problem is that there are few incentives to help make hard work and imagination pay big dividends.

Incentives are what make a farmer truly successful. In the United States, Canada, Australia and other free world countries, the farmer is essentially a gambler who knows that wealth can be his if he produces. He does not usually share the fruits of his efforts with everyone.

The rewards of his labor are his. This is a real incentive to a man of an independent turn of mind who isn't afraid to gamble everything he owns if the stakes are worth the effort.

But in Russia the farmer has little incentive. He is not honored like the scientist, the athlete, or the artist. Human nature being what it is, few men will break their backs working unless wealth is the spur.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Brutalization Of Society

We have been assured by at least three generations of socially conscious uplifters that juvenile delinquency is a simple reflex of "underprivileged" economic conditions. Well, no doubt it is easier to behave decently on a full stomach (if only because torpor sets in), but certain recent events tend to undermine the idea that delinquency bears any particular relationship to questions of economics or of social class.

There was the well-publicized case of the Gilded Youths of Long Island who wrecked the house, for example. But worse things than this have been happening. In Charleston, W. Va., a 15-year-old student in the local high school, Michael Murphy, was given the so-called "pink belly" hazing treatment recently by some upper classmen. The "pink belly" is a hazing process that consists of slapping and thumping a victim's stomach until the skin turns blood red from the irritation. In the case of young Mike Murphy, the hazing apparently drew so much blood away from certain vital organs that death resulted.

The point about this bit of semi-organized juvenile ferocity is that it was indulged in by youngsters who do not come within the "socially deprived" category. According to the students of Charleston High School, the practice of local hazing has been one of long standing. The "pink belly" has been part of a clandestine ritual required as an initiation into the school band. You've got to be "pink bellied" before you can toot a horn.

Now, if Mike Murphy had been fatally beaten up on New York's West Side or in the Bronx, there would have been a lot of solemn rehashing of the Marxist materialist idea that "social stratification" was the cause of it. But Mike died in a small city that does not fit into a Marxist frame. The truth is that Mike died because our contemporary culture is deficient in turning young savages into morally responsible human beings by the time they come of high school age.

A culture, whether it is rich or poor, is apt to be just as humane as its grounding in moral ideas. These ideas have been wanting everywhere. Brutality in recent months has been far more spectacular among affluent or well-to-do youths than it has among the juvenile gangs of our big urban wildernesses. For example, in Joplin, Mo., sophomores in the local high school were rolled down hill in barrels as part of an initiation.

Meanwhile, as the idea that brutality is amusing has been spreading among middle-class boys and girls, the "underprivileged" youths have been becoming more sedate. A professor of social work at Boston University, Dr. Saul Bernstein, has just completed a seven-month study of delinquent teen-age groups in the more poverty-stricken areas of Boston, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, and Philadelphia. He has discovered a trend toward what he calls "sophistication" in juvenile gang warfare. The old-fashioned harum-scarum "rumble" is on its way out.

What does "sophistication" in gang fighting mean? It means, says Dr. Bernstein, applying a "cool" attitude toward a showdown between rival gangs. There has been a "marked decrease of the highly organized group." The smaller gangs are giving up weird costumes that advertise their identity and are now wearing unobtrusive street clothes. The "rumble" has been replaced by "snagging," which consists of a "cool" chastisement of a few—or even just one—members of a rival gang.

Even an idea from medieval chivalry has been taken over by the newer big city juvenile gangs, according to Dr. Bernstein. The chivalric technique is known as "the fair one." Two gangs will meet to watch a couple of chosen representatives fight it out as if they were Sir Lancelot and the Duc de Montmorency engaging in a joust. Dr. Bernstein says the technique does not always succeed, for watchers have difficulty in keeping from joining the battle if their "tiger" seems to be losing.

However, Dr. Bernstein has discovered that it is ideas and moral conventions, not economics, that govern social behavior. Do we need more inculcation of Christian ethics in the schools, not less? This is something the nine justices of the Supreme Court might ponder.

President Upset Space Experts With His Moon Project Proposal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Inside fact is that President Kennedy overruled his top space experts in announcing that the United States was ready to put a Russian-American team on the moon.

The experts were so vigorous in arguing that cooperation was impossible and so sure they had JFK on their side that two top space executives went out on a limb against the idea within hours before the President made his historic moon-cooperation proposal. They were:

Dr. Robert Gilruth, head of the space center in Houston, Texas, who three days before the President's UN speech flatly and publicly stated that joint cooperation with Russia was incredible.

James Webb, director of the National Space Agency, who one day before JFK's speech poured cold water on a joint moon project before a St. Louis audience. He said frankly that the United States was interested in "the military uses of outer space."

Twenty-four hours later, Jimmy's chief in the White House pulled the rug right out from under him on two counts:

No. 1, he accepted the Gromyko idea of banning nuclear weapons from outer space.

No. 2, he proposed joint US-USSR cooperation in sending a man to the moon.

Space Politics

Most people don't know it, of course, but Jimmy Webb, the delightful and energetic director of NASA, has never had the complete confidence of the White House. Jimmy was hand-picked as space director by the late Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, who, as chairman of the Space Committee, dominated Senate policy not only on oil and gas under ground but the outer air above ground. He picked Jimmy Webb for the space agency because Webb had been working for his own far flung Kerr-McGee oil and gas empire.

It was this combination, with an assist from Lyndon Johnson and an especially strong assist from Rep. Albert Thomas, the Houston Congressman, which piled up most of the space projects in Houston. With the moon project located in Houston, the Congressman from Houston, who occupies a senior spot on the Appropriations Committee, made sure it got the money.

Unbalanced System

This is the system followed in recent years by the U. S. Congress and is why so many military projects are located in the state of Georgia. The potent chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sen. Dick Russell, comes from Georgia; so does the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Carl Vinson of Milledgeville.

There is nothing unsound about the mind of Mr. Vinson, despite his 80 years. But the system is about as sound as some of the inmates of the big Georgia mental institution located in Milledgeville.

One of the most significant points about JFK's UN speech was that he bucked the wrath of the senior and sometimes wrathy moguls of Congress by proposing the joint moon project with Russia.

For senior Congressman Al Thomas of Houston will bellow like a Texas steer at the idea of taking part of the moon project away from Houston and putting it in Moscow. And senior Senator Dick Russell will also want to cut down on the moon funds, because he doesn't favor any kind of international cooperation which might get away from his idea that war is inevitable.

Thus the President really made a tougher decision than the Russians and the diplomats at the UN realized when he proposed the joint USA-USSR moon project.

The reason he did so was his new strategy of pushing for peace: the belief that you have to build one success on top of another if the peace is to be won. He had scored one important international success with the test ban treaty. And he had the alternative of sitting still and letting the favorable atmosphere which it created slowly get nibbled away by the harpies; or of proposing new dramatic moves to strengthen the foundation for peace.

He chose the moon project, even if it did pull the rug out from under his own technical experts and even if it will start the grouchy committee chairmen of Congress biting their fingernails and gnashing their teeth.

Research Funds Threatened

Speaker John McCormack whose championing of Catholic causes has earned him the nickname, "The Archbishop," has quietly juggled committee assignments to make sure Catholic colleges and hospitals don't lose their federal research grants.

He acted after the House formed a special committee to investigate research spending. All too often the money has gone for plush offices and fancy furniture instead of research.

The investigation is headed by honest, plodding Congressman Carl Elliott (D-Ala.) who can be counted upon to chop away the waste no matter where the chips fly.

This may threaten the funds that have been going to hundreds of universities and hospitals, including several Catholic institutions.

In the past, it has been left up to the committee chairmen to decide who should be assigned to such investigations. Their selections automatically have been appointed by the House Speaker.

But McCormack ignored the recommendations of Appropriations Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) who submitted three names.

Instead, McCormack selected his own representative from the Appropriations Committee to serve on the Elliott Committee: Congressman John Fogarty (D-R.I.), an able, militant Catholic like McCormack.

Fogarty happens to be the leading advocate of federal grants for health research, which means he will now be investigating his own program.

But his chief function, according to other committee members, is to watch out for the Catholic institutions. Like McCormack, he doesn't want them to lose any federal money.

Tax Cut Won't Benefit Biggest Corporations

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—"Cash flow" is a meaningful term in the business world. It indicates how much cash is on hand with which to carry on daily operations. So it may come as a surprise to most people to learn that, under the so-called "tax cut" now being proposed, the 15,000 corporations which bring in the bulk of the tax revenues are going to have no immediate benefit from the revision of tax rates.

This is because large corporations—those with tax liabilities in excess of $100,000 a year—will be required to pay during the next year a major part of their 1964 tax liability together with their usual payments for 1963 taxes. This will amount to about the same as they paid in 1963 or on 1962 tax returns, even though the rates themselves are scheduled to go down next January.

President Kennedy, in his address on TV and radio to the nation a few days ago, said: "Every businessman can keep a higher percentage of his profits in his cash register, or put it to work expanding or improving his business."

But whoever did the memoranda prepared for the President's speech didn't make clear that cumulating tax payments would be involved. What is most disappointing, of course, is the news that most of the very businessmen who are expected to get the economy moving by reason of the tax cuts will not have available to them next year the benefit of these tax reductions. In fact, it will be seven years before the acceleration of cash payments will be completed. So it is hard to see where the stimulus to spending in business and the incentive to expand and create new jobs will be coming from or how this by itself will avoid a recession.

The House Ways and Means Committee report last week showed that payments to the Treasury from corporations averaging about $5 million a year would average more than 99 per cent as much in tax payments during the next five years as the tax payments under present law. Thus, the ability of the large corporations to finance operations, build new plants and get new machinery will be no greater under the new tax schedules than they are under the present schedules of tax rates.

"Cash flow" is made up of net profits after taxes and depreciation charges. Dividend payments come out of "cash flow" and the balance is available for current operations. Many financial experts have pointed out that dividend payments follow "cash flow" more closely than they follow net profits. Retained profits and depreciation charges — the "cash flow" after dividends—make up more than 60 per cent of the funds used by corporations. The other 40 per cent is the amount obtained by long and short-term borrowings and from the sale of a corporation's equity stocks.

Increased "cash flow" in the next seven years will be just about equal to the increase in tax payments being made during that period so as to get on a current basis. This is but another way of saying that the so-called "tax cut" will be merely a bookkeeping transaction for another seven years and that the amount of available cash will not be materially changed within that period by reason of tax cuts.

The smaller corporations, to be sure, will get the benefit of the new tax rates immediately. The amounts made available, however, are very small. A company with $100,000 profits now has to pay $46,500 in taxes and, under the new rates next year, will pay $43,000 and in 1965 and later $41,500. This means a saving of $5,000 a year by 1965, which, of course, will be beneficial. But it does not compare with the much larger sums that usually become necessary to make improvements in a business.

The real reason, however, why the special exemption was retained for the corporations with tax liabilities of $100,000 or less is that the "cash flow" of the smaller businesses is vital to their existence. They carry on their operations and pay their monthly bills to a considerable extent with the tax money that isn't due until the following year.

But the problems of the larger corporations are not in essence very different. They, too, depend on "cash flow" to conduct their month-by-month operations and more of them will have to borrow because of accelerated payments to the Treasury. This means an extra expense for interest charges.

What is difficult to understand is why the House Ways and Means Committee, upon the recommendation of the Treasury, voted to discriminate against the larger corporations by compelling them to pay in 1964 a bigger part of the taxes that normally wouldn't be due until 1965 and to continue such advance payments for a seven-year period.

There has been much talk lately about "equal protection under law," but the corporation which earns a gross profit of over $200,000 will discover when the pending tax bill is enacted that there is no such thing as equality between corporations. For a penalty is imposed upon success at the very time that the President has been telling the nation that the whole purpose of the new tax cut is to furnish incentive for the creation of jobs to cure employment.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

'WAY BEHIND — Washington—noted as having one of the highest personal income rates in the nation, lags behind the national average in the use of seven out of 13 major electrical appliances. This surprising statistic developed from a study by an electrical institute that surveyed 444,912 dwelling units in the Washington metropolitan area.

Electric refrigerators chalked up a figure of 97.3 per cent of saturation, compared with 99.5 per cent nationally. Electric washers showed a rate of 57.3 per cent compared with 82.2 per cent nationally. Vacuum cleaners were 53.3 per cent, contrasted with 78.2 per cent nationally.

Washington is big on radios, however, showing a figure of 149.8 per cent—or nearly one and one-half radios per dwelling unit, compared with 94.3 per cent nationally. Washington had a television percentage of 106.4 per cent compared with 94.3.

It's pretty hot and humid in Washington, accounting for the fact that the city had 39 per cent for air conditioners, compared with a national average of only 14.8.

The Image Maker

PARIS

I ran into my old friend, Ivy Bayard Doublethink, the demon press agent, the other day, just as he was on his way to the airport to take off for Viet Nam. "It'll take some doing," he said, "but you know I've never quailed from these international assignments. I regard them as a challenge."

"Whose images are you refashioning now?" I asked.

Madama Nhu's," he said, almost gaily. He showed me a whole sheaf of news stories in which he had underlined the key words, "harridan," "shrike," "termagant," "acid-tongued," "monster," "dragon lady."

"I'm afraid the image has got badly tarnished," he said, rubbing his hands with positive glee. If there's anything old Ivy Doublethink loves, it's to shine up a really tarnished image. Anything else he considers too easy.

He smiled mistily at the memory. "You see, it doesn't take much to refashion an image. The public is eternally sentimental, eternally victimized by their own humanity. My distinguished forefather"—here he moved his hat reverently—"Ivy Lee, after whom I'm named, taught us all that when he remade the image of John D. Rockefeller Sr., one of the most disliked men of all time. The people forgot all about his rapscallion qualities and his ruthlessness when they saw the dear old man handing out dimes to little children."

I'd forgotten that Ivy had been called in on the Josef Stalin case, one of the toughest bits of image-polishing of all time, wiping out the memory of the Siberian slave camps, the starvation of 10 million peasants, and the rest. "How did you manage that?" I asked him. "Very, simple," said old Ivy. "I put the word uncle in front of his name, shortened Josef to Joe, and put a pipe in his mouth."

"You mean that's all it took to wipe out the memory of all those dead bodies?"

"The public is infinitely humane," said old Ivy. "They can't think bad thoughts about a man named Uncle Joe."

"Infinitely stupid would sound more accurate."

"You said it. I didn't say it," said old Ivy benignly. "No public relations expert would ever call the public stupid."

"How did you manage it with Khrushchev?" I asked. "I suppose it was you who thought up that badminton game without a net on the Black Sea."

He dismissed it negligently. "That's nothing. A moment's inspiration. It was the folk wisdom that really did the trick. We had Mr. K say that leaving Nixon in Washington while Eisenhower was abroad was like 'letting the goat look after the cabbage patch.' 'A flea can't tell one dog from another.' 'The rear end of a camel is not the best view.' We have a couple of writers turning these things out by the yard. How can you hate a man who talks folk wisdom?"

"Ivy," I said, "was it you who put Bernard Baruch on that park bench, feeding the pigeons and passing out homely wisdom to carefully selected pedestrians while the cameras whirred?"

"No, that was Herbert Bayard Swope, God rest his memory. A masterful stroke, that park bench. Maybe I might do something like that with Madame Nhu."

"After clapping her hands over the barbecuing of Buddhist monks, I should think a park bench would not be strong enough. Have you any ideas, any advanced planning on how you're going to refashion this image?"

"That would be telling," said Ivy. "But don't be surprised if she's seen very soon knitting tiny garments."

"After you get through remoulding her image, maybe you might go to work on the male image," I said. "Madame Nhu has invaded a strictly male preserve — that of international villain. All the great international villains have been men—Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin. One more sacred preserve of the male sex has fallen to the womenfolk. Next thing you know there'll be women pitching for the Yankees."

'Cut Down Rather Than Out' Sensible Diet Plan

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Any and all foods can be included in reducing diets. The trick is to eat what you always do but in smaller portions. The plan — cut down rather than out — makes sense for several reasons.

Reducing diets ought to be balanced and supply adequate nutrition. This is accomplished by eating a little of this or that, including foods high and low in calories. This means the meals will contain foods preferred and desired by the individual. This regimen is more comfortable and less likely than drastic plans to leave that empty feeling.

Smaller, balanced menus also have the advantage of teaching good eating habits. This is the main objection to so-called reducing foods, dietetic aids, commercial formula diets, and pills that are supposed to kill appetite. They do nothing to help the reducer remain thin after losing poundage. Furthermore, these touted slimming methods are not easy to follow and many persons give up after a few weeks.

Weight reduction is an individual problem and what works for one may be useless with another. Cutting out tasty dishes is bad enough but it is worse to eat horrible tasting stuff just because it is "low caloric." A bad diet may knock off excess blubber but it could have disastrous effects if it is not sound nutritionally.

The usual height-weight tables are not always the best way to judge. The best test is to pinch the flesh under the skin. The tape measure also is a valuable guide. Most people marry at 20 to 25 years of age, when they are at their ideal weight. The normal waistline for a man is 32 inches and every inch over means 5 pounds excess. The comparable measurement for women is 28 inches.

This does not mean we can throw away the scales. According to one authority, most overeating is done at night. If this is so, it might be a good idea to take the scale out of the bathroom and put it in the refrigerator.

Germany Cracking Down On Careless Motorists

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN (UPI) —German drivers seem to consider their cars to be chargers, and the highways tourney places, where they mount their steeds to joust with one another.

As a result, 14,123 persons died in car crashes last year.

The courts finally are making an effort to do something about death on the highways.

The convictions of two drivers for "attempting to coerce others on the highways "were recently upheld by the Federal Court.

West Germany is justly proud of its fine four-lane autobahns.

There are 2,920 kilometers (2,125 miles) of them.

Bicycles and horses are banned from the autobahns, but any other kind of vehicles can and do use them, ranging from 12 horsepower midgets through trucks and trailers hauling 12 tons of cargo to racy sports cars that reach 100 miles per hour.

Slow lanes have been built on some of the steepest slopes in recent years. But for most of the length of the autobahn, all this conglomeration of vehicles shares two lanes in each direction.

Drivers of slow cars seem jealous of the bigger ones and refuse to make room. Big car drivers consider it an insult to have to follow a smaller or slower vehicle.

The two recent Federal Court verdicts concerned typical autobahn maneuvers.

One involved a young man from Frankfurt, driving along a section of the autobahn which has a 100 kph (62 mph) speed limit.

Moving in the left lane, the fellow drove to within 30 feet of another car driven by a woman who was going just the allowed speed and slowly overtaking a pair of trucks.The man honked his horn and flashed his lights. He saw the woman ahead glance at him in her rear vision mirror but she remained in the left lane, slowly gaining on the trucks.

The man grew impatient. Still honking, he gunned his motor until he was within six or eight feet of the woman. She saw him close in, decided he was trying to ram her and cut hard right. But she was too close to the truck in that lane, and had to brake hard. She lost control, went off the road, and flipped over. Miraculously, she was only slightly hurt.

In the other case, a car driver in the Ruhr found himself behind a bus in the left lane slowly overhauling a line of trucks. The effrontery of the bus driver trying to pass trucks made the car driver so furious that as soon as he could get around the bus he cut sharply in front of it and slowed down. For many miles, everytime the bus attempted to pass, he maneuvered to block it. He was sentenced to 30 days in prison for coercion causing danger to life.

The unwillingness of German drivers to be passed by their cars leads to situation in crowded cities in which the two middle lanes of an avenue will be filled with almost bumper to bumper traffic, while the two outside lanes remain empty.

Two For One

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Norman Horn got his hole-in-one at the Topeka municipal golf course—the hard way.

Horn, playing the 160-yard eight hole, hit his iron shot onto the green. It struck another ball five feet from the cup and both rolled in.

The other ball belonged to Ross Nelson, playing in a group ahead. The lucky bump gave him a two on the par three hole.

Rental Tubs Were Once Rage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rental bathtubs were the rage in 17th century Europe.

The Cleanliness Bureau, at any rate, reports that renting a tub on a regular basis was the only sure means then of keeping clean.

The tub was brought to the customer and then picked up again to be taken to the next customer. The cleanliness historians made no mention of who assumed the responsibility for removing the ring.

But the system did cause some complications — especially among women who even then liked to bathe at their leisure.

The "London Times" reported one law suit that came to court because of a mix-up in bathing arrangements.

Some villages in New Mexico are more than 400 years old.

Study Of Retarded Will Aid Others

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (UPI) — Ten retarded children living in a large, round, brand-new building here probably are helping science and society more than medicine and people ever will be able to help them.

The children are the nucleus of a group of patients which the administrators of the Maryville Center for Children hope will grow to the hundreds, and then to the thousands around the nation.

The doctors behind the center have a new idea for treating the mentally ill and they hope their first patients prove their point.

The Maryville center is the first known privately-financed hospital run solely for retarded children. It now consists of a $500,000 building — and a lot of hope. The doctors are members of the Physicians Homes and Hospitals of Denver, Inc.

About three years ago they saw two needs in treating the mentally retarded child — more room and facilities and more doctors. James Smith, hospital administrator, said the doctors decided that state institutions, although they do a commendable job on limited budgets, do not provide enough treatment for extreme cases. Surgery for the mentally retarded was "terribly lacking," he said.

"If a retarded child breaks his arm, or needs his appendix or tonsils taken out, he can be taken to a state hospital," said Smith. "But complete medical facilities for him are not provided at any of the state training homes or therapy units."

Smith said the doctors are studying the potential of spreading the Maryville system across the nation.

"This is a pilot program," he said. "We will first develop this facility before making any definite plans for expansion on a national scale. We also must determine if such a facility will be accepted nationally."

Smith said parents are required to attend weekly hour-long sessions to discuss treatment of their children.

The existing building eventually will be able to accommodate 100 resident patients, 50 day care childen and 100 staff members.

But the administrator said that a full house is not easy to come by. "One of our biggest problems is getting the parents to realize and admit that their child is retarded—and can be aided by treatment," he said.

He said about 15 or the 100 known causes of mental retardation now are controllable by use of new drugs and surgical techniques. Effects of other diseases can be minimized, he said, "in order that one day the child can be cared for in his own home with assurance and ease."

Germany Cracking Down On Careless Motorists

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN (UPI) —German drivers seem to consider their cars to be chargers, and the highways tourney places, where they mount their steeds to joust with one another.

As a result, 14,123 persons died in car crashes last year.

The courts finally are making an effort to do something about death on the highways.

The convictions of two drivers for "attempting to coerce others on the highways "were recently upheld by the Federal Court.

West Germany is justly proud of its fine four-lane autobahns.

There are 2,920 kilometers (2,125 miles) of them.

Bicycles and horses are banned from the autobahns, but any other kind of vehicles can and do use them, ranging from 12 horsepower midgets through trucks and trailers hauling 12 tons of cargo to racy sports cars that reach 100 miles per hour.

Slow lanes have been built on some of the steepest slopes in recent years. But for most of the length of the autobahn, all this conglomeration of vehicles shares two lanes in each direction.

Drivers of slow cars seem jealous of the bigger ones and refuse to make room. Big car drivers consider it an insult to have to follow a smaller or slower vehicle.

The two recent Federal Court verdicts concerned typical autobahn maneuvers.

One involved a young man from Frankfurt, driving along a section of the autobahn which has a 100 kph (62 mph) speed limit.

Moving in the left lane, the fellow drove to within 30 feet of another car driven by a woman who was going just the allowed speed and slowly overtaking a pair of trucks.The man honked his horn and flashed his lights. He saw the woman ahead glance at him in her rear vision mirror but she remained in the left lane, slowly gaining on the trucks.

The man grew impatient. Still honking, he gunned his motor until he was within six or eight feet of the woman. She saw him close in, decided he was trying to ram her and cut hard right. But she was too close to the truck in that lane, and had to brake hard. She lost control, went off the road, and flipped over. Miraculously, she was only slightly hurt.

In the other case, a car driver in the Ruhr found himself behind a bus in the left lane slowly overhauling a line of trucks. The effrontery of the bus driver trying to pass trucks made the car driver so furious that as soon as he could get around the bus he cut sharply in front of it and slowed down. For many miles, everytime the bus attempted to pass, he maneuvered to block it. He was sentenced to 30 days in prison for coercion causing danger to life.

The unwillingness of German drivers to be passed by their cars leads to situation in crowded cities in which the two middle lanes of an avenue will be filled with almost bumper to bumper traffic, while the two outside lanes remain empty.

Japanese Beef Cattle Fattened With Beer, Whisky

By ROBERT METCALFE

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's beef cattle have a tipsy life of ease and comfort right up to the momoment they get the slaughterhouse pole-axe.

They literally stagger to their death — hiccoughing happily on good Japanese beer, they riards of filet supple from daily massages by their devoted owners.

Daily beer and massages are part of the loving care lavished by the Japanese farmer in preparing beef on the hoof for steaks.

The result is steak of a flavor and succulence that delights every visitor to Japan.

Now Americans —besides the tourists who reach these shores— are going to get a cut at Japanese steaks.

Japan has been given the go-ahead to ship its prize beef to the dinner tables of America.

A stumbling block was lifted recently when the U.S. Agriculture Department ruled that Japan is free of foot and mouth disease and rinderpest, an intestinal disorder peculiar to sheep and cattle.

U.S. connoisseurs of steaks will be watching restaurant and butcher shop windows for a sign long familiar here — "Kobe Beef" — the hallmark of the best beef you can buy in Japan.

Kobe is a large and busy seaport on the south coast of Honshu, largest of Japan's five major islands.

It was to meet the demands of shipping companies — and the tastes of the many foreigners who swarm through Kobe — that a cattle industry developed in the area.

Most of the beef that went into the food lockers of ships was from one-year-old cattle.

They got much of the loving-care treatment, but the older a steer got, the better was the lot, and some are kept as long as four and a half years.

His final year is the most enjoyable. His diet, carefully weighed and prepared, consists of naked barley mornings and evenings. In the final stages of fattening for the market, he gets wheat bran, then a concentration of feed.

And if his appetite falls off, up goes his daily ration of beer — and sometimes Japanese whiskey — to stimulate his hunger. His head is pulled back and the brew simply poured down his throat from the bottle.

He beds down in a spotless barn and he can look forward each day to a brushdown and a massage.

And when he is ready to meet his executioner, the well-groomed steer is given a final tot to relax him.

It is a complicated and often expensive treatment that only the well-off farmer can afford.

And it reflects in the wholesale price of Kobe and Matsuzaka (a nearby district beef — 650 yen a kilogram, or $1.73 for 2.2 pounds. Wholesale price of top grade beef in Chicago is about $1.08 for 2.2 pounds. Kobe beef would likely sell in the United States for 800 yen a kilogram, or $2.16 for 2.2 pounds, agriculture officials say here.

Characteristics of the meat are thin white lines that give a choice piece the appearance of marble.

Because of the price, Japan doesn't expect to put its quality beef in every U.S. restaurant and butcher shop — but it will be available in more expensive places.

They feel its taste alone will overcome objections raised by U.S. cattlemen to the import of Japanese beef.

Where Antelope Roam Cautiously

LONDON (AP)—A pair of royal African antelopes at the London zoo, one of the smallest hoofed animals in the world, are so timid that to exhibit them it is necessary to use tranquilizers and to provide a "retiring box" with frosted glass where they can hide and only see visitors vaguely. At the slightest alarm, the tiny creatures, about the size of a rabbit or hare, can easily die of shock or smash their pencil-thin legs as they leap into the air and crash to the ground.

Popular War Parks

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — The Chickamauga - Chattanooga National Military Park near here attracted more than a million visitors in 1962.

Gettysburg was the only U.S. military park more popular with the tourists, with a total of 1,893,000 visitors.

Gun Stock Maker Working In Space Program

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Steven J. Herrett has been making exotic gun stocks for sale throughout the world for 10 years.

Now his business has really expanded.

Project Apollo officials have asked Herrett to design hand grips to be used in simulated space capsules and later in training flights for moon landings.

The purpose of the wooden stocks, Apollo officials say, is to keep the astronauts' hands where they should be during training and actual space flights.

Herrett's manufacturing business here is the largest of its type in the country. Ninety per cent of his orders are designed specifically for a customer. Four of the five winners in the recent Pan-American games' firing competition used Herrett stocks, for instance.

Project Apollo officials, Herrett said, got hold of his stock catalogue and sent him a prototype grip to design. Herrett told the officials his concern could supply as many or as few stocks as were required and, he added, with speed.

As a result, Herrett is designing space grips.

His business started out 10 years ago as an effort to finance his participation in shooting matches. "When I started," he said, "I had visions of making a few stocks each day then spending the rest of the time hunting and fishing.

"But hunting and fishing time is at a premium right now."

Herrett and his "loyal employes" have designed most of the machinery used to carve the stocks. Most of the wood used in stock making is walnut, although Herrett also utilized exotic woods from many countries of the world — all depending on the whim of the man behind the gun.

Right now he is designing a gun stock for a new electric pistol, which is valued at more than $4,000.

His biggest customers are the Air Force, Army, Coast Guard and the FBI.

Right Time For Her

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ryan will take their "honeymoon trip" to Europe—in one way five years late, in another five years early.

When the couple was married five years ago, they couldn't afford a honeymoon, so Charles promised Shirley that on their 10th anniversary he'd take her to Europe. Now he's fulfilling his "campaign promise" five years earlier than planned.

It was to meet the demands of shipping companies — and the tastes of the many foreigners who swarm through Kobe — that a cattle industry developed in the area.

Most of the beef that went into the food lockers of ships was from one-year-old cattle.

They got much of the loving-care treatment, but the older a steer got, the better was the lot, and some are kept as long as four and a half years.

His final year is the most enjoyable. His diet, carefully weighed and prepared, consists of naked barley mornings and evenings. In the final stages of fattening for the market, he gets wheat bran, then a concentration of feed.

And if his appetite falls off, up goes his daily ration of beer — and sometimes Japanese whiskey — to stimulate his hunger. His head is pulled back and the brew simply poured down his throat from the bottle.

He beds down in a spotless barn and he can look forward each day to a brushdown and a massage.

And when he is ready to meet his executioner, the well-groomed steer is given a final tot to relax him.

It is a complicated and often expensive treatment that only the well-off farmer can afford.

And it reflects in the wholesale price of Kobe and Matsuzaka (a nearby district beef — 650 yen a kilogram, or $1.73 for 2.2 pounds. Wholesale price of top grade beef in Chicago is about $1.08 for 2.2 pounds. Kobe beef would likely sell in the United States for 800 yen a kilogram, or $2.16 for 2.2 pounds, agriculture officials say here.

Characteristics of the meat are thin white lines that give a choice piece the appearance of marble.

Because of the price, Japan doesn't expect to put its quality beef in every U.S. restaurant and butcher shop — but it will be available in more expensive places.

They feel its taste alone will overcome objections raised by U.S. cattlemen to the import of Japanese beef.

Where Antelope Roam Cautiously

LONDON (AP)—A pair of royal African antelopes at the London zoo, one of the smallest hoofed animals in the world, are so timid that to exhibit them it is necessary to use tranquilizers and to provide a "retiring box" with frosted glass where they can hide and only see visitors vaguely. At the slightest alarm, the tiny creatures, about the size of a rabbit or hare, can easily die of shock or smash their pencil-thin legs as they leap into the air and crash to the ground.

Popular War Parks

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — The Chickamauga - Chattanooga National Military Park near here attracted more than a million visitors in 1962.

Gettysburg was the only U.S. military park more popular with the tourists, with a total of 1,893,000 visitors.

Gun Stock Maker Working In Space Program

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Steven J. Herrett has been making exotic gun stocks for sale throughout the world for 10 years.

Now his business has really expanded.

Project Apollo officials have asked Herrett to design hand grips to be used in simulated space capsules and later in training flights for moon landings.

The purpose of the wooden stocks, Apollo officials say, is to keep the astronauts' hands where they should be during training and actual space flights.

Herrett's manufacturing business here is the largest of its type in the country. Ninety per cent of his orders are designed specifically for a customer. Four of the five winners in the recent Pan-American games' firing competition used Herrett stocks, for instance.

Project Apollo officials, Herrett said, got hold of his stock catalogue and sent him a prototype grip to design. Herrett told the officials his concern could supply as many or as few stocks as were required and, he added, with speed."

As a result, Herrett is designing space grips.

His business started out 10 years ago as an effort to finance his participation in shooting matches. "When I started," he said, "I had visions of making a few stocks each day then spending the rest of the time hunting and fishing.

"But hunting and fishing time is at a premium right now."

Herrett and his "loyal employes" have designed most of the machinery used to carve the stocks. Most of the wood used in stock making is walnut, although Herrett also utilized exotic woods from many countries of the world — all depending on the whim of the man behind the gun.

Right now he is designing a gun stock for a new electric pistol, which is valued at more than $4,000.

His biggest customers are the Air Force, Army, Coast Guard and the FBI.

Right Time For Her

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ryan will take their "honeymoon trip" to Europe—in one way five years late, in another five years early.

When the couple was married five years ago, they couldn't afford a honeymoon, so Charles promised Shirley that on their 10th anniversary he'd take her to Europe. Now he's fulfilling his "campaign promise" five years earlier than planned.

The court ruling against prayer in public schools shocked and aroused the American people. The famous evangelist, Rev. Billy Graham, said recently: "If a vote were taken today, it would be found that 90 per cent of the American people want their children exposed to prayers and Bible reading in school."

Adding insult to injury, a U. S. District Court Judge has ruled that a public school may not require students to stand while our National Anthem, the "Star Spangled Banner," is performed. Said the judge, "The key of our freedom of expression is that there is individual freedom to believe, to speak and to act." (Naturally, the bailiff ordered everyone in court to rise when the judge made his exit!)

SUPPORT FOR FEDERAL SPENDING CURB — Former Treasury Secretary George Humphrey has lined up behind the members of Congress who demand that Federal spending curbs precede or accompany a tax cut this year. Humphrey says, "If we take the easy way of more promises for the future and indefinite postponement of actual reduction in expenditures, then current tax reduction involves risks of consequences too serious to contemplate, both at home and abroad in our balance of payments and in the stability, value and soundness of our economy."

COMMUNISTS DEFY CONGRESS! — Violent disturbances marked a hearing last week of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which was investigating the illegal trip made by a group of pro-Communist U. S. beatniks to Red Cuba at Castro's expense. The beatniks taunted members of the Congressional committee and screamed insults at them when one of their number was on the witness stand. The fracas began when one of the leaders of the pro-Communist group was questioned about his role in the junket. He called Committee members "racists," and boasted of Communism's "brilliant successes". When the beatniks became unruly and refused to be quiet and refused to leave the hearings, they were ordered thrown out. Their defiance of Congress followed the Administration's weak handling of their case plus the support of some unpatriotic Americans who habitually side with Communistic groups.

The disturbance started back when the beatniks defied the U.S. ban on travel to Communist Cuba. Despite warnings that they would be violating the law if they made the trip and that the maximum penalty for the violation was 5 years' imprisonment and a $5,000 fine, they made the trip, going by way of Communist Yugoslavia. They stayed in Cuba for 8 weeks at the expense of the Castro government. During the visit, they appeared on radio and television programs praising the Castro government and Communism and downgrading the United States. Returning from Cuba, they were still defiant. They staged a 2-hour sit-in demonstration at the New York airport, protesting the announced State Department plan to stamp their passports "not valid," and the demonstration ended when Administration officials agreed not to stamp the passports.

Ten of the returnees were subpoenaed to appear before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and they brought along their cheering section.

There have been hints that the pro-Communist guests of Castro may be permitted to go scotfree. This has prompted the following observation by an American editor: "The Federal government apparently is not going to try the students who went to Cuba at Castro's invitation; only those who go without Castro's permission will be punished." Along this line, Columnist Roscoe Drummond wrote: "Of all the lessons Fidel Castro has taught us, the bitterest and most obvious is this: He who proclaims himself a communist can count on help from the Soviet Union even though he is thousands of miles from its borders, while he who proclaims himself a democrat can fight and die 90 miles from the shores of the United States and no one will come to his aid."

There are some who would say that not all the beatniks who defied our Government and made the trip to Cuba are Communists. I am reminded of the adage: "Anything that looks like a duck, walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, and lays duck eggs, is more than likely a duck."

IS THE TREATY WORTH THE RISKS?—Mail concerning the nuclear test ban treaty continues to come in. The ratio of pros and cons is about 4 to 1. Those opposed to the treaty call attention to the risks involved in ratifying the treaty. That there are risks in the treaty cannot be denied. There is risk in all mankind's ventures, and in the present instance we must balance the risks. With all deference to the opinions of Dr. Teller, Major de Seversky, some of my distinguished colleagues and others, it is my feeling that the "balance of risks" (a term we're going to have to live with) tilts in favor of going along with the treaty — though warily and watchfully. The treaty represents a flicker of light where there has been no light,—but let's not mistake it for blazing letters in the sky spelling Peace. We should go into this dim new world cautiously, even suspiciously, and with our powder dry—but at least we should go.

YOUTH CORPS, IN A NUTSHELL—(1) It would cost $4,000 per youth, enough to send each one to a good college or technical school; (2) It would be an open invitation to political indoctrination (Remember Hitler's Youth Corps?); (3) It would be a trifling attempt to accomplish its professed goal, as it would provide 6-month jobs for only 15,000 of the 700,000 unemployed between the ages of 16 and 22; (4) It would teach skills not needed in our space age; and (5) It would cost the taxpayers $100,000,000.

GOVERNMENT IS BIG!—The Federal government owns 771,512,000 acres of land—over one-third of the total land in the country. It owns 405,443 buildings. More than 17% of the United States labor force works for Federal, State and local governments. More people are employed by government than are employed by the entire wholesale and retail trade segment of the economy.

NO CRISIS IN EDUCATION — This month sees the all-time high enrollment of 51,500,000 students in the Nation's public and private schools and colleges. Expenditures for education at all levels was $32,000,000,000 for the 1962-1963 school year, a jump of $2,600,000,000 in one year. Today we're spending in this country 6% of our national income on schools—and this is justified because our children are our nation's most valuable asset. We are building 70,000 classrooms a year. At this rate, we will build 100,000 more classrooms during this decade than even the most extreme supporters of "Federal aid" say will be needed.

A total of 795 accredited colleges and universities still have classroom space for students this fall, a nationwide survey shows.

Statistics show that 70% of all American youths complete high school, that half of these graduates proceed to college, and that most of them receive one or more college degrees. No other nation on earth has ever pursued education so successfully.

TRIP TO MARS IN 1980'S—A 5-man expedition to the planet Mars sometime in the 1980's is under study. An official of the Martin - Marietta Corporation, of Baltimore and Denver, states that the trip to Mars would take 269 days, and that the space crew would remain there 455 days before returning. Instead of a straight-line flight, Martin-Marietta says, the flight would involve changing orbits from Earth's to Mars'. Scientists believe that there is life on Mars but that it is of a very primitive type.

OUR IRREPRESSIBLE OFFSPRING—School has just started and already we're hearing about the precociousness of our school-age children. Scribbled across one high-school blackboard the other day was this appeal. "Support Mental Health Like Crazy!"

It has been my feeling for a long time that the limitation on the amount of money a Social Security Beneficiary may earn without reducing his social security payments is an unfair restriction working a hardship on many of our older citizens. It keeps many older people from working, thereby stifling their initiative, and depriving the nation of valuable skills and productivity.

This week I have introduced a bill in the House of Representatives which would remove limitations on outside earnings.

Under the present law, an individual receiving Social Security may earn only $1,200 per year in outside income. When he earns more than this amount, his social security benefits are reduced on the basis of $1 for each $2 of annual earnings between $1,200 and $1,700—and by $1 for each $1 in excess of $1,700.

I hope the strong and concerted interest shown by my 17 colleagues who are co-sponsoring the bill to remove these limitations will prompt favorable consideration of the measure at an early date.

Legislation of vital interest to the entire country and of particular interest to the citizens of Maryland was passed by the House of Representatives on August 5, 1963. This bill (HR 6997) provides for a comprehensive long-range national program in Oceanography, the science of the sea.

Calling for an estimated expenditure of 2.3 billion dollars over the next ten years the legislation is, in my opinion, a belated recognition of the importance of the oceans in our national life and welfare.

The recent search for the ill-fated submarine Thresher contrasts how little we know about inner space with our knowledge and spectacular success in atmosphere and outer space sciences.

While the State of Maryland, and other ocean-boundaried States, have made significant contributions to the science of the sea over the years, they have in actuality barely scratched the surface. There is a great need for additional knowledge and for trained personnel—and that need must be filled.

This is why I feel that the time is now at hand to make a strong case for the establishment of a National Oceanographic Laboratory in Chesapeake Bay.

Calling for an estimated expenditure of 2.3 billion dollars over the next ten years the legislation is, in my opinion, a belated recognition of the importance of the oceans in our national life and welfare.

The recent search for the ill-fated submarine Thresher contrasts how little we know about inner space with our knowledge and spectacular success in atmosphere and outer space sciences.

While the State of Maryland, and other ocean-boundaried States, have made significant contributions to the science of the sea over the years, they have in actuality barely scratched the surface. There is a great need for additional knowledge and for trained personnel—and that need must be filled.

This is why I feel that the time is now at hand to make a strong case for the establishment of a National Oceanographic Laboratory in Chesapeake Bay.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton has proposed new legislation concerning "Assateague's Reach For Greatness." The Morton Plan combines private and public de-

Burglar-Proof Meters Get Trial

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — Local thieves have received a special invitation from City Manager Lohn R. Ficklin to try to break into a new-type parking meter being tested here.

A burglar-resistant housing has been installed on a trial basis on 25 meters, and so far would-be looters who have tampered with them have not been able to gain entry.

However, cost of converting the old meters is $16 per unit, and Ficklin said he'd give the meters a three months' trial before authorizing conversion of additional ones.

Strong And Silent

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Oscar Thomas King, Jr. is the silent type. When he pulled a 3-year-old boy from the path of a truck, he didn't even tell his mother. She heard about it from neighbor children. The word got around, though, and 13-year-old Tommy received a certificate of heroism from the Boy Scouts.

Medium Herds Prove Efficient

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Studies at Purdue University have shown that the middle-sized herd of cattle — meaning 40 to 50 cows — has proved the most efficient. The per hundredweight cost of milk production increased in herds of over 50, for both the average and efficient farmers. Even the most efficient farmes have to expend $4.03 to produce a hundredweight of milk in small herds, $3.36 in the largest herds, and only $3.05 in medium-sized herds.

The bidding:

Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	6 ♡
Pass	Pass	Pass

Today's hand which produced a sizable swing in a recent team of four contest might be titled by its victim as "justice thwarted." Altho the element of luck in the deal is admittedly great, this player might well have achieved a happier fate had he paid closer attention to his opponent's bidding before selecting his opening lead.

At one table, North opened the bidding with one diamond and South proceeded directly to four no trump. Employment of Blackwood holding a void suit and three losing spades is utterly pointless but, once North confessed to having both missing aces, South barged right into seven hearts. Where he was going to dispose of all of his losers appeared to be a matter of small concern to him.

It was at this point that fate apparently stepped into the proceedings. West opened the queen of spades and South proceeded to make a mockery of justice. Declarer played the ace and trumped a spade in dummy. The ace of clubs was cashed on which a spade was sluffed and now the queen of clubs was put thru. East did not cover, but declarer successfully shed his last spade, and after drawing trump he claimed the grand slam.

West bemoaned his ill-fate bitterly and, while he is entitled to a little "tea and sympathy" for his sad story, it is suggested that he did not give due consideration to his initial attack. South's blatant sequence of bids proclaimed that his side held every first round control. The spade lead therefore has little to recommend it and, since there is no hope of cashing a trick immediately, West might just as well get out with a trump on the outside chance that this might inhibit declarer from ruffing something in dummy. It can hardly cost since South would not leap with such precipitation into a grand slam lacking solid hearts.

At the other table, a small slam in hearts was reached on the bidding sequence presented in the diagram. The West at this table did, in fact, select a trump lead, and declarer was unable to bring in his contract. Deprived of the spade ruff, he had only 11 top tricks and was obliged to fall back on a diamond finesse to obtain a 12th trick. When this failed, he was permanently disconnected from the dummy, and the outcome was a three trick defeat. The total swing on the deal to the victorious team was 2,510 points.

New Cookies For Snacks

Snack time comes more frequently in the summer when your youngsters are out of school for several months of outdoor play in balmy weather.

A day of hard activity builds up such appetites, that you sometimes wonder if children can ever get filled.

One snack they always go for in a big way is a cooky . . . especially Mom's homemade kind. A full cooky jar certainly brings on the smiles.

This delicious new recipe is one you simply must try. The crunchy, sweet morsels are filled with tiny butterscotch pieces, quick-cooking oats and flecks of orange rind or peel. The key to their crispy, crunchy texture, is the lard used as the shortening.

Prepared once, Snack Time Cookies are destined for repeat performances and a permanent place in your recipe file.

Snack Time Cookies

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup lard
½ cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups quick-cooking oats
1 package (6 ounces) butterscotch pieces
2 tablespoons grated orange rind, or 1 teaspoon dried orange peel

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream lard and sugars. Beat in eggs and vanilla.

Add sifted ingredients. Stir in butterscotch pieces and orange rind or peel.

Mix well. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls, about 2 inches apart on greased cooky sheet.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 defrees Fahrenheit) twelve minutes or until lightly browned.

Yield—4 to 5 dozen cookies.

NEW YORK (UPI) — For a new, impressive way to serve lamb chops, order them the thickness of two rib bones and make a pocket between them, slitting lengthwise.

Fill the opening with a small amount of stuffing and broil. There's no need to fasten the opening if you slit the chop from the bone side. It will seal itself during the cooking time.

Make Two Breads With One Recipe

PRUNE TEA RINGS and miniature rolls result from one recipe of yeast dough.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Smart cooks who enjoy baking often save time by making one batch of yeast dough into two different breads.

That's just what this recipe recommends. Follow it and you'll have a delicious tea ring and a couple of dozen clover rolls that are miniature in size but big in taste appeal.

OATMEAL DOUGH FOR PRUNE TEA RING AND MINIATURE CLOVER ROLLS

1 envelope active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
⅓ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
4 to 4½ cups sifted flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats

Sprinkle yeast over warm water to soften. Pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and butter; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour and eggs; beat until smooth. Add softened yeast and oats. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Shape dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour. Punch dough down; divide in half. Use one part for prune tea ring and the other part for miniature clover rolls.

PRUNE TEA RING

1½ cups pitted cooked prunes
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
⅓ cup sugar
½ cup water
⅓ cup slivered blanched almonds
Half of Oatmeal Dough recipe.

MINIATURE CLOVER ROLLS

Half of Oatmeal Dough recipe.

Divide dough in half. Form each half into a 12-inch roll; cut each roll into 12 equal pieces; cut each piece into 3 parts; form into tiny balls and put 3 in each muffin-pan well. Brush with melted butter; cover and let rise until double in size (about 25 minutes. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Brush with melted butter. Makes 24 rolls.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — If last fall's clothes are too snug through the middle, don't despair.

Some low-calorie dishes look and taste so festive even guests won't suspect you're dieting. And remember, it's not the calories from a single dish that lead to overweight, but the total you eat for the day, combined with the amount of exercise you take.

These reminders come from home economists of General Foods. They have prepared three low-calorie recipes for party and family meals.

The 250-calorie-per-serving main dish uses leftover beef instead of more expensive broiled meat. An 83-calorie per serving dessert is adapted from a richer one. And a 20-calorie per serving fruited gelatin will do for either salad or dessert.

For Chinese beef and lettuce, add 1 1-3 cups of packaged precooked rice and ¼ teaspoon of salt to 1 1-3 cups of boiling water in saucepan. Mix to moisten. Cover. Remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a large skillet. Add ½ pound of fresh mushrooms, sliced. Saute over medium heat 5 minutes, or until tender. Add 2 tablespoons of butter. When it has melted, add ½ cup each of thinly sliced celery and seeded, diced green pepper, 1 clove of garlic, crushed, 1 teaspoon of salt, 2 tablespoons of soy sauce, 1½ cups of slivered cooked beef, 1 firm, ripe tomato, peeled and diced, and reconstituted rice. Heat well, stirring often.

Just before serving, remove pan from heat, add 2 eggs and stir quickly. The heat from the other ingredients will cook the eggs. Add 3 cups of coarsely shredded lettuce and mix lightly with a fork.

Serve immediately, while lettuce is crisp. Makes about 8 cups or 6 servings.

Make jellied melon balls by adding 3 cups of boiling water to 1 (.614 ounce) packages of dietetic lime flavor gelatin. Stir until crystals dissolve. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in 1 cup of unsweetened melon balls. Pour into 6 molds or sherbert glasses. Chill until firm. Unmold or serve from glasses.

Orange trifle has a base of dietetic vanilla pudding. In a small saucepan, add 2 (.282 ounce) envelopes of the pudding to 2 cups of skim milk. Beat with egg beater to blend. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool well.

Split 3 ladyfingers lengthwise and crosswise. Place 2 pieces in each of 6 sherbert glasses or dessert dishes. Spoon about 1 tablespoon of sweet sherry over cake in each glass. Sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon of chopped nuts, and top with orange sections, using total of ¾ cup or about 2 oranges, peeled, seeded and sectioned.

Beat the cool pudding lightly until it is smooth. Divide among desserts. Chill 2 to 3 hours. If desired, garnish with prepared dessert topping made from 1 (2 ounce) package, and 1 maraschino cherry each. This will add about 36 calories per serving.

All Shook Up

Fruity Quick Milk Shake is a peach of a drink for youngsters and grownups alike. Combine in a tall glass 3 heaping teaspoons quick chocolate-flavored mix (the favorite chocolate flavoring for milk), 2 mashed canned peach slices, 2 tablespoons peach syrup, and mix well. Add ½ cup softened vanilla ice cream and fill the glass with cold milk. If you choose, substitute 2 to 3 tablespoons undrained crushed canned pineapple for peaches and syrup.

Hot Biscuits Ranch Style

Meanwhile, back at the ranch . . warm, wonderful biscuits are a-baking. These aromatic biscuits are made from a basic baking powder recipe, with one delightful exception—the surprise ingredient is beer, or ale, and it helps make the lightest biscuits ever!

While these subtly-tanged biscuits are said to have originated on a ranch in the Southwest, baking with beer and ale is not new.

In fact, baking and brewing are two of the oldest household arts, and the fruits of the latter were often applied to the former. A small amount of beer or ale substituted for part of the liquid in the batter of muffins, nut cakes, pancakes and even holiday plum puddings givs delicious results, too.

Although beer and ale make a unique contribution to many types of cookery, they will always be popular as the refreshing, beverages of moderation, suitable with all foods and on all occasions.

Ranch Style Beer Biscuits

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
. teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup beer or ale

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening. Add beer; stir just to make soft dough. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured board. Roll out ½-inch thick. Cut with 2-inch round cutter. Bake in hot oven (450° Fahrenheit) 10 to 15 minutes.

Yield: 1 dozen.

Canny Economy

When foods were first commercially canned, cost to the consumer was high. Canned peas, for instance, sold for $3 a can. Today, in an economy of sharply rising costs, the price of canned foods has remained remarkably stable, according to the National Canners Association. Because food remains appetizing and nutritious in sealed containers, a whole year's harvest may be packed at one time and distributed throughout the year. Thus the consumer simultaneously gets the economy and fine flavor of foods packed at the peak of their natural season.

Meaty Treat

NEW YORK (UPI) — For a new, impressive way to serve lamb chops, order them the thickness of two rib bones and make a pocket between them, slitting lengthwise.

Fill the opening with a small amount of stuffing and broil. There's no need to fasten the opening if you slit the chop from the bone side. It will seal itself during the cooking time.

Make Two Breads With One Recipe

PRUNE TEA RINGS and miniature rolls result from one recipe of yeast dough.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Smart cooks who enjoy baking often save time by making one batch of yeast dough into two different breads.

That's just what this recipe recommends. Follow it and you'll have a delicious tea ring and a couple of dozen clover rolls that are miniature in size but big in taste appeal.

OATMEAL DOUGH FOR PRUNE TEA RING AND MINIATURE CLOVER ROLLS

- 1 envelope active dry yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine, melted
- 4 to 4½ cups sifted flour
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats

Sprinkle yeast over warm water to soften. Pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and butter; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour and eggs; beat until smooth. Add softened yeast and oats. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Shape dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour. Punch dough down; divide in half. Use one part for prune tea ring and the other part for miniature clover rolls.

PRUNE TEA RING

- 1½ cups pitted cooked prunes
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ½ cup water
- ⅓ cup slivered blanched almonds
- Half of Oatmeal Dough recipe.

MINIATURE CLOVER ROLLS

Half of Oatmeal Dough recipe. Divide dough in half. Form each half into a 12-inch roll; cut each roll into 12 equal pieces; cut each piece into 3 parts; form into tiny balls and put 3 in each muffin-pan well. Brush with melted butter; cover and let rise until double in size (about 25 minutes. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Brush with melted butter. Makes 24 rolls.

Hot Biscuits Ranch Style

Meanwhile, back at the ranch . . warm, wonderful biscuits are a-baking. These aromatic biscuits are made from a basic baking powder recipe, with one delightful exception—the surprise ingredient is beer, or ale, and it helps make the lightest biscuits ever!

While these subtly-tanged biscuits are said to have originated on a ranch in the Southwest, baking with beer and ale is not new.

In fact, baking and brewing are two of the oldest household arts, and the fruits of the latter were often applied to the former. A small amount of beer or ale substituted for part of the liquid in the batter of muffins, nut cakes, pancakes and even holiday plum puddings givs delicious results, too.

Although beer and ale make a unique contribution to many types of cookery, they will always be popular as the refreshing, beverages of moderation, suitable with all foods and on all occasions.

Ranch Style Beer Biscuits

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- ¾ cup beer or ale

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening. Add beer; stir just to make soft dough. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured board. Roll out ½-inch thick. Cut with 2-inch round cutter. Bake in hot oven (450° Fahrenheit) 10 to 15 minutes.

Yield: 1 dozen.

Canny Economy

When foods were first commercially canned, cost to the consumer was high. Canned peas, for instance, sold for $3 a can. Today, in an economy of sharply rising costs, the price of canned foods has remained remarkably stable, according to the National Canners Association. Because food remains appetizing and nutritious in sealed containers, a whole year's harvest may be packed at one time and distributed throughout the year. Thus the consumer simultaneously gets the economy and fine flavor of foods packed at the peak of their natural season.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — If last fall's clothes are too snug through the middle, don't despair.

Some low-calorie dishes look and taste so festive even guests won't suspect you're dieting. And remember, it's not the calories from a single dish that lead to overweight, but the total you eat for the day, combined with the amount of exercise you take.

These reminders come from home economists of General Foods. They have prepared three low-calorie recipes for party and family meals.

The 250-calorie-per-serving main dish uses leftover beef instead of more expensive broiled meat. An 83-calorie per serving dessert is adapted from a richer one. And a 20-calorie per serving fruited gelatin will do for either salad or dessert.

For Chinese beef and lettuce, add 1 1-3 cups of packaged precooked rice and ¼ teaspoon of salt to 1 1-3 cups of boiling water in saucepan. Mix to moisten. Cover. Remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a large skillet. Add ½ pound of fresh mushrooms, sliced. Saute over medium heat 5 minutes, or until tender. Add 2 tablespoons of butter. When it has melted, add ½ cup each of thinly sliced celery and seeded, diced green pepper, 1 clove of garlic, crushed, 1 teaspoon of salt, 2 tablespoons of soy sauce, 1½ cups of slivered cooked beef, 1 firm, ripe tomato, peeled and diced, and reconstituted rice. Heat well, stirring often.

Just before serving, remove pan from heat, add 2 eggs and stir quickly. The heat from the other ingredients will cook the eggs. Add 3 cups of coarsely shredded lettuce and mix lightly with a fork.

Serve immediately, while lettuce is crisp. Makes about 8 cups or 6 servings.

Make jellied melon balls by adding 3 cups of boiling water to 1 (.614 ounce) packages of dietetic lime flavor gelatin. Stir until crystals dissolve. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in 1 cup of unsweetened melon balls. Pour into 6 molds or sherbert glasses. Chill until firm. Unmold or serve from glasses.

Orange trifle has a base of dietetic vanilla pudding. In a small saucepan, add 2 (.282 ounce) envelopes of the pudding to 2 cups of skim milk. Beat with egg beater to blend. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool well.

Split 3 ladyfingers lengthwise and crosswise. Place 2 pieces in each of 6 sherbert glasses or dessert dishes. Spoon about 1 tablespoon of sweet sherry over cake in each glass. Sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon of chopped nuts, and top with orange sections, using total of ¾ cup or about 2 oranges, peeled, seeded and sectioned.

Beat the cool pudding lightly until it is smooth. Divide among desserts. Chill 2 to 3 hours. If desired, garnish with prepared dessert topping made from 1 (2 ounce) package, and 1 maraschino cherry each. This will add about 36 calories per serving.

All Shook Up

Fruity Quick Milk Shake is a peach of a drink for youngsters and grownups alike. Combine in a tall glass 3 heaping teaspoons quick chocolate-flavored mix (the favorite chocolate flavoring for milk), 2 mashed canned peach slices, 2 tablespoons peach syrup, and mix well. Add ½ cup softened vanilla ice cream and fill the glass with cold milk. If you choose, substitute 2 to 3 tablespoons undrained crushed canned pineapple for peaches and syrup.

Prune Cake Feeds A Dozen People

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Feeding a lot of people? Then you might like to offer this cake, with a pudding-like texture, as a sweet ending to the meal. It's baked in a big rectangular pan and will serve a dozen or more.

One of the interesting features of this dessert is that it's made with salad oil. That ingredient got a boost a dozen or so years ago when the famous Chiffon Cake included it; recently interest in using it has increased because such oils as corn and safflower are polyunsaturated and tend to lower blood cholesterol levels.

This cake has spices and prunes in it to add to its flavor. Brown sugar and flaked coconut make a delectable frosting.

SUPPER CAKE — Made with oil, spice and prunes and covered delectably with Seafoam Frosting and flaked coconut.

Supper Cake

- 2¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, all-spice and nutmeg
- ¾ cup salad (not olive) oil
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1 cup well-drained finely cut pitted lightly cooked prunes
- Seafoam Frosting
- ⅔ to 1⅓ cups flaked coconut
- Prune Garnish, if desired

Sift together the cake flour, salt, baking soda, cinnamon, all-spice and nutmeg. Pour oil into a large mixing bowl; gradually beat in sugar; continue beating about 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer. Add vanilla and eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture in four additions, alternately with buttermilk, beating after each addition until smooth. Stir in walnuts and prunes. Turn into a 13 by 9 by 2 inch pan lined with waxed paper. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Place cake in pan on wire rack for 10 minutes; turn out on a large rack; turn right side up and finish cooling. Spread top and sides of cake with Seafoam frosting; sprinkle with coconut; top with Prune Garnish if used — walnut-stuffed prunes rolled in superfine sugar. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

Seafoam Frosting

- 1 egg white
- ¾ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
- Dash of salt
- 2½ tablespoons water
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Turn egg white, sugar, salt and water into the top of a small double boiler. Beat with a portable electric beater for 1 minute, until thoroughly mixed. To prevent crystallization, wipe down sugar granules from sides of pan with a fork wrapped in damp cheesecloth. Place over boiling water; beat constantly at high speed until frosting forms stiff peaks—about 4 minutes; several times during cooking stir up frosting from bottom and sides of pan with rubber or metal spatula and wipe down sides of pan with wrapped fork. Remove from boiling water. Add vanilla and beat 1 minute at high speed or until thick enough to spread. Makes about 2 cups. Spread immediately on cool cake.

East Indian Tuna Salad

- 1 head romaine
- 1 head leaf lettuce
- 1 bunch watercress
- 3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- Curry accompaniments
- *Curry Mayonnaise

Arrange salad greens and tuna in shallow serving dish, accompaniments in small bowls (chopped hard-cooked egg, finely diced green pepper, canned slivered, toasted almonds and flaked coconut). Let each person help himself to salad greens and tuna, adding any or all of the accompaniments. Serve Curry Mayonnaise separately.

Yield: 6 servings.

Hungry for a sundae? Boil one cup each of cranberry juice cocktail and sugar together till thickened, cool, then pour over vanilla ice cream. Delicious!

Fresh Idea

NEW YORK (UPI) — The best way to keep lamb fresh after you bring it home from market: remove wrapping and store it loosely covered in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Store it wrapped if it is prepackaged in materials which do not absorb moisture.

Youngsters Are Fond Of Toastwiches

These hearty dried beef and cheese toastwiches will fit lunchtime needs. Dried beef (sometimes called chipped beef) is combined with mushroom soup and cheese and served on toasted bun halves. They're quite appropriate for fall menus.

You'll find the toastwiches so quick to prepare. The delicious dried beef sauce can be heated in minutes while the buns are toasting in the oven. Be sure to prepare plenty, for a call for seconds is most likely.

Dried Beef-Cheese Toastwiches

- ¼ pound dried beef
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
- ½ clove garlic, minced
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ pound cheddar cheese, grated
- 3 buns, split and toasted
- Butter or margarine

Shred dried beef. Heat soup with garlic and add pepper, cheese and dried beef. Cook slowly until cheese is melted. Serve on toasted bun halves which have been spread with butter or margarine. 6 servings.

Saucy Information

Mellow unsulphured molasses goes into a superb dessert sauce. To make Taffy Nut Sauce, melt ½ cup butter in a saucepan, add ½ cup each of sugar and unsulphured molasses. Bring to a rolling boil, reduce heat, and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, cool. Stir in ½ cup evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and ½ cup pecans. Spoon over ice cream, cake or pudding.

String Cuts Bread

Ever use a string for slicing hot Boston brown bread? Good trick! All homemade mixes should be prepared with a fat that does not need refrigeration.

Try equal parts of cranberry juice and orange juice for a tangy morning pickup.

Roast Pork Loin Gravy Delicious

When you take that roast pork loin out of its pan, make some gravy. Pour off the fat and then spoon back about four tablespoons of it; add 4 tablespoons of flour. Blend with a wooden spoon over low heat.

Add two cups of water and cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Beat a one lb. can jellied cranberry sauce with ¾ cup gingerale. Freeze in ice cube tray for a cool summertime treat.

Warm Water Aid In Fluffy Omelet

Many good cooks insist that water, rather than milk, is best to use in a puffy omelet, and they use hot rather than cold water.

A tablespoon of the hot water is sometimes added for each egg used in the omelet.

Pepper is to sprinkle on eggs and make 'em more fun!

The boldest, best loved spice of all! A sprinkle of French's Black Pepper makes even "everyday" foods special. Take an egg for example . . . and pepper away!

A CAN OR TWO OF PORK AND BEANS, a touch of imagination and you have a delicious taste surprise that will delight your family and friends.

A casserole of beans, served with a tossed green salad and crusty hot rolls or Boston Brown Bread is an easy but satisfying meal.

If it's for a Saturday night get-together try the recipe for Rancher's Bean Pot. Perhaps there are just a few scraps of baked ham which combined with a can of beans as in Beans Barbeque will be good for lunch.

RANCHER'S BEAN POT

2 lbs. link sausages, halved
3 onions, chopped
3 tablespoons flour
3 1-lb. cans pork & beans
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1¼ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 small bay leaf, crushed
⅛ teaspoon basil

Brown sausage in large skillet. Remove from pan; pour off fat, reserving ¼ cup. Cook onions and flour in reserved fat stirring till flour is brown. Add sausage and remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Turn into 3-quart casserole or bean pot. Bake uncovered in slow oven (325°F.) 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Serves 8-10.

BEANS BARBEQUE

1 1-lb. can baked beans (1¾ cups)
1 cup chopped cooked ham
⅓ cup catsup or chili sauce
1 tablespoon sweet relish
¼ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
Dash of tabasco

Mix all ingredients together in saucepan. Heat through. Serve over toasted buns. Makes 4 servings.

MIXED BEAN CASSEROLE

2 thin ham slices (about ½ lb.)
1 clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can (1 lb.) pork & beans, drained
1 can (15 oz.) kidney beans, drained
1 can (1 lb.) lima beans or butter beans, drained
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup catsup
½ cup water
3 tablespoons vinegar
Salt and Pepper to taste

Trim fat from ham and fry out in heavy skillet, then discard fat. Cut ham into small pencil thin strips; brown in hot skillet. Add garlic and onion and cook a few minutes. Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Turn into a big casserole, top with additional onion rings, if desired. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 45 to 60 minutes. Makes eight servings.

Broil Lamb Chops With Jelly Glaze

Cookery tricks, such as sauces and glazes, can be a simple way to enhance your easy-to-prepare meat dishes.

Take a broiled meat such as lamb chops, for example. They're ready for your table in a jiffy. Yet with a glaze of currant jelly and lemon juice, the meat dish is definitely taken out of the ordinary class.

It can be an economy cut, too. A thrifty lamb chop buy for you with your eye on the budget is lamb shoulder chops. This Glazed Lamb Broil calls for shoulder chops, but the same glaze would be just as tasty on rib or loin chops.

Glazed Lamb Broil

4 lamb shoulder chops, ½ to ¾ inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup currant jelly
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Set regulator for broiling. Place chops on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that top of chops is 3 inches from the heat. Broil until browned, about 6 to 8 minutes. Turn and broil 3 minutes longer. Season with salt and pepper. Mix jelly and lemon juice and spread on chops, using about 1 tablespoon per chop. Continue broiling about 2 minutes, or until done. 4 servings.

Cranberry Cooler

Cranberry Cooler is a new summertime cocktail recently discovered. Cranberry juice cocktail adds to its beauty. Bourbon and rum make it a Kentucky special. It might send one in orbit but what a pleasant trip!

For one serving:

CRANBERRY COOLER

4 parts cranberry juice cocktail
2 parts bourbon
1 part lime or lemon juice
1 part light rum

Pour over ice in old-fashioned glass. Stir but do not shake.

For a party of sixteen:

CRANBERRY COOLER

1 pint cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup bourbon
½ cup light rum
½ cup lime or lemon juice

Stir and pour over ice in old-fashioned glasses.

Colored Frostings Top Doughnuts

Youngsters will enjoy frosting doughnuts for a party. Make up a big batch of confectioners' sugar frosting, then divide into three bowls.

Flavor one batch with grated orange rind and color with orange food coloring. Flavor another batch with peppermint extract and color a pale green.

Flavor the third batch with cocoa and vanilla.

Pork Chops A La Hawaii

These chops are given a marinade that's popular in Hawaii.

Teriyaki Pork Chops

4 pork chops, ¾-inch thick (about one pound)
2 tablespoons soy sauce
4¼ teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon minced crystallized ginger
1 small clove garlic, crushed

Trim all but ¼-inch of fat from around chops.

In a shallow dish mix together the soy sauce, sugar, ginger and garlic.

Spoon marinade over chops and allow to stand in it about one hour.

Place chops on a rack in broiler pan. Broil slowly until brown on one side; brush with marinade; turn to broil other side.

Brush with remaining marinade just before removing from broiler.

Allow about 25 minutes total broiling time; cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through.

Makes 4 servings.

Note: Use a Japanese-type soy sauce for strongest flavor. Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before mincing.

Prune juice used as the liquid for a pot roast offers a simple way to add extra flavor both to the roast and to the gravy.

Is Cheese Cake Our New Favorite Dessert?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

No matter how many recipes for cheese cake we offer, cooks cry for more. Looks as if apple pie might be losing its place as America's favorite dessert.

This cheese cake is the old-fashioned kind, its texture lighter than modern concoctions super-rich with cream cheese. And in the way of fine cooks since cheese cake was evolved, this recipe calls for the delightful flavor of fresh lemond.

The vanilla wafer crust used as the base tastes best when the cake is chilled only briefly, so plan to serve this dessert to guests soon after baking.

Old-Fashioned Cheese Cake

8 ounces cream cheese
¼ cup plus 3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
5 large eggs, separated
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
Vanilla Wafe Crust

Beat cheese until fluffy; beat in the ¼ cup sugar, flour and salt until blended. Thoroughly beat in the egg yolks, one at a time. Stir in grated lemon rind and lemon juice, then heavy cream, until blended. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar and continue beating until whites hold soft peaks; gradually beat in the 3 tablespoons sugar, continuing to beat if necessary until whites hold stiff peaks. Fold beaten egg whites into cheese mixture. Pour into Vanilla Wafer Crust. Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool; cake will "fall"; chill briefly. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Vanilla Wafer Crust

1½ cups vanilla wafer crumbs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoon sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted

Mix well the crumbs, lemon rind, sugar and melted butter. Press firmly onto sides and bottom of a well-buttered round springform pan (8 by 2¾ or 3 inches).

Italian Meat Pie

1 pkg. tangy Italian style spaghetti dinner
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
¾ lb. ground beef
½ cup sliced mushrooms

Prepare spaghetti and sauce as directed on package using canned tomato sauce. Combine spaghetti and ½ cup sauce; mix lightly. Press into a greased 9-inch pie plae. Bake at 350°, 5 minutes. Brown meat; add mushrooms and remaining sauce. Fill spaghetti crust; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350°, 10 to 15 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

CHEESE CAKE — With old-fashioned light texture and refreshing fresh lemon flavor, it may be served with a topping of sour cream.

Freezing Turkey

When you are putting leftover roast turkey in the freezer, leave the meat in large pieces if it is to be stored for any length of time.

A drink that wins favor with small fry every time is prune juice and ginger ale, half 'n' half. It's good for them, too.

Guide For Outdoor Meat Cookery

Fresh air and the pleasant aroma of outdoor cookery sharpen appetites and call for generous servings of meat.

A guide in selection is to allow ¾ to 1 pound per serving for bone-in cuts, ⅓ to ½ pound per serving for boneless cuts.

Week's Food Economies

Shoppers will find the best buys in seasonal commodities. Attention should be given to the quality of each item selected for purchase, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore office of the Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Receipts are increasing in the new crop of sweet potatoes. Sweet potatoes merit a place in the menu since they offer economy in price for the food budget and in food value for the diet. The nemagold variety of sweet potato is grown on the Eastern Shore and it is a deep orange, moist type. Around 70 per cent of the sweet potatoes grown in Maryland are grown in Wicomico County. Select large ones for mashing and those uniform in size for baking. Be sure you purchase sweet potatoes that are clean, smooth, firm and dry to avoid waste and spoilage.

Sales on larger quantity units of white potatoes offer attractive buys. When purchasing in quantity be sure you have a cool, dark storage place for white potatoes.

White scalloped squash is another Maryland vegetable on the best buy list. Serve it baked, stuffed, scalloped, or fried.

Seasonal fruits on the best buy list are apples and Tokay grapes. The Califonia table grape crop is up seven per cent over last year. Tokays are a brilliant red grape with excellent keeping qualities. Apple varieties are numerous; for eating use Red and Golden Delicious and McIntosh, and for all-purpose use select Jonathan, Grimes Golden or Staymans.

Small size eggs are the best buy at the egg case. Size refers to the weight per dozen, and on a cost-per-pound basis small eggs are a real bargain.

At the seafood counter you will find crab meat lower in price. Norfolk spots are recommended as the whole fish selection. For a mild fish steak with no small bones, choose steakfish. Fish and seafood are high quality protein foods that families should enjoy more.

Spoon mixture of ½ cup cranberry sauce with ¼ cup brown sugar into greased muffin tins. Top with packaged corn muffin mix. Bake for a breakfast treat with a "southern accent."

It's always great cheddar . . . every single time . . . when you get the cheese marked Cracker Barrel. This is the natural cheese accurately marked for flavor: Mellow—Sharp—Extra Sharp. And it's always as fresh as though it had been cut before your very eyes: Cracker Barrel's double-strength aluminum foil takes good care of that.

Cracker Barrel is more than just good cheese—it's a real pleasure. Naturally it comes from Kraft.

Frostburg State College's Booters Lose To Pitt, 4-0

Bobcats Drop First Tilt At Forbes Field

Invade Lock Haven Saturday; Play At Home On Monday

Frostburg State College's soccer team went down to defeat in its 1963 lid-lifter yesterday at the hands of the University of Pittsburgh in a game staged at Forbes Field. The score was 4-0.

The Panthers scored three of their four goals early in the game, two being tallied by Reichenback and one by Schwarz. Pitt's final score was made by Goalie Gene Wood of the Bobcats. The ball had been passed by a Pitt wing and after being headed into the air struck the crossbar and came straight down. The Frostburg goalie thought that the ball had gone through the uprights and after picking it up he heaved it back into the net in disgust.

Pitt played good defensive ball and limited the Bobcats to five shots at the goal to the Panthers' 17. Goalie Wood made nine saves to two by Pitt's Lang. Frostburg had 12 corner kicks to Pitt's eight.

Frostburg plays Lock Haven State at Lock Haven, Pa., Saturday and engages in its first game at home Monday with Shippensburg (Pa.) State College.

Pitt eked out a 2-0 decision over the Bobcats last year while in 1961 the teams battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

Giles Asks Help For Mets

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—National League president Warren Giles said Wednesday that he has called a league meeting in Los Angeles, Oct. 4, to determine what can be done to strengthen the New York Mets and Houston Colts.

"If will be just an informal meeting," Giles said, "but I'm hopeful that something constructive will come out of it."

Giles said he had received separate letters in the past three or four days from officials of the ninth-place Colts and 10th place Mets which have been at the bottom of National League standings since entering the loop during expansion in 1962.

"The Mets and Colts asked for the meeting," Giles said. "I'm hopeful that the other clubs will cooperate in strengthening them."

Bellino, Former Navy Star, To Play With Providence

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Providence Steamrollers of the Atlantic Coast Football League said Wednesday former Heisman Trophy winner and Navy backfield star Joe Bellino has signed to play professional football with the team.

A club spokesman said Bellino, who is stationed at the Newport Naval Base, received permission from his superiors to play with the team.

Bellino will be in the line-up when the Roller faces the Boston Sweepers Friday night at Providence, the team said.

Bellino said he was at Newport on temporary duty pending permanent assignment in Charleston, S.C., and did not know how many games he would be able to play with the Providence club.

Major Farms Urged To Shun Florida Towns

Racial Problems Cited As Reason

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A Negro leader Wednesday urged the Boston Red Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates withdraw their farm clubs from spring training in Ocala and Palatka, Fla., because of racial problems in the towns.

Robert Saunders, head of the Florida NAACP asked Red Sox President Tom Yawkey and Pirates boss John Galbrath to pull out of the towns until all facilities there have been desegregated.

Saunders said he also sent telegrams to NAACP field secretaries in Boston and Pittsburgh urging that the Red Sox and Pirates' games be picketed if his demand was not met by the two presidents.

Ocala has been the scene of a number of anti-segregation demonstrations during the summer. Hundreds of Negroes were jailed for holding protest marches.

Palatka has not yet been the scene of racial demonstrations, although it is recognized as a segregated town.

Saunders has been prominent in the Florida drive to lower traditional racial barriers.

YANKEES HAVE HOMER PUNCH BUT DODGERS ARE CAPABLE OF STEALING YOUR SOCKS

N.Y. Not Murderers' Row Of Old; L.A. Bat Mark .251, Yanks .252

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Yankees have more long-range firepower but the Dodgers will steal your socks if you don't watch out.

Regular season figures have a way of meaning little in a Series — remember how Yankee Billy Martin broke the Dodgers' hearts with his bat in 1953 and how Dodger sub Chuck Essegian pinch-hit a record two homers against the White Sox in 1959?

But, going by this season's records, you can look for the Yankees to be trying for that big wallop when the Series opens at Yankee Stadium on Wednesday and the Dodgers to be taking all liberties the law allows.

Two Facts

Comparing the attacks the two rivals will bring into the series discloses two facts: 1. There isn't much to choose between them on percentage; 2. The Yankees, while packing more homer punch, aren't the "murders row" of old and the Dodgers aren't the Ebbets Field blasters of Brooklyn days.

Both teams approach the end of the 1963 season with offense figures sharply reduced from last season. Generally speaking, it's been a pitchers' year in both the American and National Leagues but the two teams are among the biggest slumpers on the attack.

The Dodgers have a .251 batting average — down 17 points from last year's .268. The Yankees have an almost identical .252, —down 15 points from last year's .267.

In other figures on the attack, the Dodgers are drastically down from a year ago.

Dodger Attack Slumps

Los Angeles will reach the season's end with about 200 less runs than last season. With four games to go they had only 627 compared to 842 last year. This slump is reflected all the way down the line—doubles are down from 192 to 172, triples from 65 to 34, and home runs from 140 to 107.

The Yankees are emphatically down from last year, too, though not by quite so much. Their runs have dropped from 817 to 705, with four games to go; doubles are down from 240 to 192; but triples are up from 29 to 35; and they will finish with close to the 199 home runs of last year.

But there is one department in which the Dodgers outshine the Yankees without any doubt, and that is base stealing. Although Maury Wills, the record-buster of 1962, has been held to 37 steals by various injuries, Los Angeles has stolen 120 bases this year—compared to only 42 for New York.

That figure doesn't reflect other things, too—like the way Dodger Willie Davis skims from first to third on cheap singles.

Higher Percentage

The Dodgers have two batters with a higher percentage than any Yankee "regular" — Tommy Davis at .322 (through Sept. 17) and Maury Wills at .297. But the Yankee "irregulars," who can be counted on to put aches and pains behind them in the series, include Mickey Mantle at .320 and Yogi Berra at .298.

The fact is that regular season figures on the Yankee attack are misleading because Mantle and Roger Maris were sidelined by injuries for so many games. Manager Ralph Houk was able to use his usual first - string lineup on Sept. 24 for the first time in many weeks.

A big Series intangible always is pinch-hitting. Once again, remember Essegian.

But here, too, the Yankees figure to have a slight edge. Their top pinch-swingers, righty Hector Lopez and lefty John Blanchard, played regularly much of the season and are proven sluggers. But the Dodgers, who starters vary according to the rival pitcher, can call on solid hitters, too, like Ron Fairly, Bill Skowron, Wally Moon, Lee Walls, or Doug Camilli.

Phils Explode For Five In 7th, Top Giants, 6-4

Pierce Is Handed 11th Loss Of Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Philadelphia Phillies exploded for five runs in the seventh inning on home runs by pinch-hitter Don Demeter and John Callison to defeat the San Francisco Giants 6-4 Wednesday.

The victory went to pitcher Art Mahaffey who hadn't hurled since he was injured in a game here on July 31. Mahaffey went seven and a third innings before tiring.

He came into the game with three runs across, a man on second and nobody out in the first inning, and blanked the Giants until eighth when Willie Mays tripled and Tom Haller singled.

The victory was Mahaffey's seventh against 10 losses.

The Giants got their three runs in the first inning when Orlando Cepeda hit his 34th home run of the year. Roy Sievers hit his 19th for the Phils in the fourth. Demeter's clout, his 22nd, came with two aboard off relief pitcher Billy Pierce.

After the homer Pierce was lifted in favor of Don Larsen. A single was followed by Callison's 25th home run to send Larson to the showers. Pierce, who had relieved Jack Sanford, was charged with the loss, his 11th against three wins.

Willie Mays crashed a single, two doubles and a triple in four times at bat to raise his season's average to .316 and joined in the National League batting race.

Broglio's 4-Hitter Beats Chicago, 5-2

CHICAGO (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals, already assured of second place in the National League race, broke a six - game losing streak Wednesday with a 5-2 win over the Chicago Cubs behind Ernie Broglio's four-hit pitching.

Broglio, scoring his 17th win, walked five and struck out six. Ken Hubbs' eighth homer was the Cubs' only extra base hit.

Doug Clemens clubbed a homer, his first hit in three games this season, with Bill White on base for two Cardinal scores, and two more resulted from Broglio's single, Curt Flood's triple and Dick Groat's single in the seventh.

Stan Musial, on his last Chicago appearance, was presented with a shotgun, a silver bowl and $100 savings bond for his new grandson in pre-game ceremonies.

The game drew 11,564 fans to close the Cubs' season with 979,551 total attendance.

St. Louis Cards Elect Stan Musial Vice President

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, who will play his last major league baseball game Sunday, was voted a vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

August A. Busch Jr., Cardinal president, said the board of directors' decision would enable The Man to attend a club organizational meeting at Busch Stadium Thursday.

Musial was with the Cardinals in Chicago Wednesday for their final game of the season with the Cubs. Chicago fans gave a "Stan Musial Day" for his last Windy City appearance as a player.

Details of Musial's new assignment were not made public immediately, but the Cardinals indicated his duties generally would fall in the area of dealing with players and player matters.

The 42-year-old star, who announced in August that he would retire this season after 22 years with the Redbirds, will assume his new assignment immediately after the end of the playing season.

Miss Gunderson Goes To British Quarter-Finals

Mrs. Anne Stranahan And Judy Bell Beaten

NEWCASTLE, Northern Ireland (AP) — JoAnne Gunderson of Providence, R.I., swept past two rivals Wednesday and became the sole American survivor in the quarter-finals of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss Gunderson, Curtis Cup team member and 1962 U.S. women's champion, first defeated Pat Sullivan from Ireland 2 up then took the measure of Margaret Nichol, a former English champion, 6 and 5.

The husky, long-hitting Miss Gunderson will meet Claudine Cros of France in the quarter-finals Thursday.

Two other Americans were beaten in the third round. Judy Bell, a Curtis, Cup player from Colorado Springs, Colo., lost a heart-breaker to Julia Greenhalgh of England, 1 up. Mrs. Anne Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, svelte, red-haired wife of professional Frank Stranahan, bowed to Philomena Garvey, the Irish champion, 2 and 1.

Another casualty was the defending champion, Marley Spearman of England, who lost to Brigette Varangot, the 23-year-old French champion, 1 up.

Skins Sign Cvercko

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins signed guard Andy Cvercko, 243-pound, four-year veteran Wednesday. He was dropped last week by the Cleveland Browns.

Cvercko will replace reserve guard Wiley Feagin, who is out three to four weeks with an injury. Feagin will be waived and placed on the injured reserve list.

Boston Celtics Ask Waivers On Gene Guarilia

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics Wednesday placed Gene Guarilia, former George Washington University star, on waivers to reduce the National Basketball Association (NBA) squad to 16 players.

Guarilia, of Duryea, Pa., was the Celtics second draft choice four years ago and has been with the NBA champions since.

He has never played regularly but is generally credited with being the main factor in Boston's 1961-62 championship victory over Los Angeles. He halted Elgin Baylor in the closing moments of that game and the Celts went on to win in overtime.

Ferrante Returns To First Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Senior guard Joe Ferrante of Portland, Me., climaxed a three-day personal drive Wednesday by returning to Maryland's first team.

Ferrante, a top reserve last year, lost his starting berth after last week's 36-14 loss to North Carolina State. Coach Tom Nugent scheduled three straight days of live scrimmage to beef up the defense.

Nugent said the heavy practice showed Ferrante had the edge over his rivals and would regain the right guard position.

Cardinals Snap Losing Streak

Broglio's 4-Hitter Beats Chicago, 5-2

CHICAGO (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals, already assured of second place in the National League race, broke a six - game losing streak Wednesday with a 5-2 win over the Chicago Cubs behind Ernie Broglio's four-hit pitching.

Broglio, scoring his 17th win, walked five and struck out six. Ken Hubbs' eighth homer was the Cubs' only extra base hit.

Doug Clemens clubbed a homer, his first hit in three games this season, with Bill White on base for two Cardinal scores, and two more resulted from Broglio's single, Curt Flood's triple and Dick Groat's single in the seventh.

Stan Musial, on his last Chicago appearance, was presented with a shotgun, a silver bowl and $100 savings bond for his new grandson in pre-game ceremonies.

The game drew 11,564 fans to close the Cubs' season with 979,551 total attendance.

St. Louis Cards Elect Stan Musial Vice President

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, who will play his last major league baseball game Sunday, was voted a vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

August A. Busch Jr., Cardinal president, said the board of directors' decision would enable The Man to attend a club organizational meeting at Busch Stadium Thursday.

Musial was with the Cardinals in Chicago Wednesday for their final game of the season with the Cubs. Chicago fans gave a "Stan Musial Day" for his last Windy City appearance as a player.

Details of Musial's new assignment were not made public immediately, but the Cardinals indicated his duties generally would fall in the area of dealing with players and player matters.

The 42-year-old star, who announced in August that he would retire this season after 22 years with the Redbirds, will assume his new assignment immediately after the end of the playing season.

Miss Gunderson Goes To British Quarter-Finals

Mrs. Anne Stranahan And Judy Bell Beaten

NEWCASTLE, Northern Ireland (AP) — JoAnne Gunderson of Providence, R.I., swept past two rivals Wednesday and became the sole American survivor in the quarter-finals of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss Gunderson, Curtis Cup team member and 1962 U.S. women's champion, first defeated Pat Sullivan from Ireland 2 up then took the measure of Margaret Nichol, a former English champion, 6 and 5.

The husky, long-hitting Miss Gunderson will meet Claudine Cros of France in the quarter-finals Thursday.

Two other Americans were beaten in the third round. Judy Bell, a Curtis, Cup player from Colorado Springs, Colo., lost a heart-breaker to Julia Greenhalgh of England, 1 up. Mrs. Anne Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, svelte, red-haired wife of professional Frank Stranahan, bowed to Philomena Garvey, the Irish champion, 2 and 1.

Another casualty was the defending champion, Marley Spearman of England, who lost to Brigette Varangot, the 23-year-old French champion, 1 up.

Skins Sign Cvercko

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins signed guard Andy Cvercko, 243-pound, four-year veteran Wednesday. He was dropped last week by the Cleveland Browns.

Cvercko will replace reserve guard Wiley Feagin, who is out three to four weeks with an injury. Feagin will be waived and placed on the injured reserve list.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators holds the all-time major league record of 113 shutouts during his career.

Boston Celtics Ask Waivers On Gene Guarilia

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics Wednesday placed Gene Guarilia, former George Washington University star, on waivers to reduce the National Basketball Association (NBA) squad to 16 players.

Guarilia, of Duryea, Pa., was the Celtics second draft choice four years ago and has been with the NBA champions since.

He has never played regularly but is generally credited with being the main factor in Boston's 1961-62 championship victory over Los Angeles. He halted Elgin Baylor in the closing moments of that game and the Celts went on to win in overtime.

Ferrante Returns To First Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Senior guard Joe Ferrante of Portland, Me., climaxed a three-day personal drive Wednesday by returning to Maryland's first team.

Ferrante, a top reserve last year, lost his starting berth after last week's 36-14 loss to North Carolina State. Coach Tom Nugent scheduled three straight days of live scrimmage to beef up the defense.

Nugent said the heavy practice showed Ferrante had the edge over his rivals and would regain the right guard position.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

FOR THE SIXTH TIME, Ed (Whitey) Ford will be pitching the World Series opener for the Yankees, once again against the Dodgers in Yankee Stadium in New York and the crafty southpaw should get the Yanks off on the right foot for their 21st Series triumph.

The Dodgers will go with their best, too, and their pitching has been great, but Whitey, enjoying another outstanding season, is an old pro when the big chips are on the line in World Series play.

Now trying to reach the 200-victory goal in regular season performance in the last week of the campaign, Whitey will be aiming at upping some of his records in World Series play when the fall classic begins October 2.

He holds the most consecutive scoreless innings mark of 33 2/3 innings. He has made the most World Series starts, 19, possesses the strikeout mark, 82, and has the most World Series wins, 10.

In his five starts to open a Yankee Series, Whitey has won four, losing only in 1956 to Sal Maglie of the Giants, 6 to 3.

• • •

IN 1955 Whitey pitched the Series opener against the Brooklyn Dodgers and won it, 6 to 5.

In 1957 he held the Milwaukee Braves to one run as he took that Series opener, 3 to 1.

In 1960 he failed to start the Series, but shut out the Pirates in the third game, 10 to 0, and again in the sixth game, 12 to 0.

It was the same story in 1961, against the Reds, for Whitey shut out the Rhinelanders, 2 to 0, on two hits in the opener and won the fourth game, 7 to 0.

Last year he opened against the Giants in Frisco and Whitey won this one, 6 to 2.

• • •

FORD, who will be 35 years old October 21, will wind up the campaign as the top pitcher in the American League, will become the all-time Yankee percentage champ, and maintain his low lifetime ERA average.

In Series play he has a 2.29 ERA average in the 19 games in which he has appeared.

Bouton Posts 21st Victory

Yanks Beat Chance In First Frame, 3-1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Bouton warmed up for an anticipated World Series starting assignment Wednesday with seven innings of three-hit pitching to score his 21st victory of the season and give the New York Yankees a 3-1 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

Bouton, who is expected to start the second or third series game against the Los Angeles Dodgers, walked two batters, struck out four, and faced only 24 Angels during the seven innings.

He was tagged for a second-inning home run by Ed Kirkpatrick, but pitched hitless ball from the fourth through the seventh frames.

Hal Reniff, who took over at the start of the eighth, struck out four of the seven batters he faced.

The Yankees scored all their runs against Dean Chance, who suffered his 18th loss, in the first inning. Bobby Richardson singled, Joe Pepitone doubled and Mickey Mantle was purposely walked with one out. Roger Maris singled home two runs and Elston Howard singled home the other.

West Virginia Youth Dies Of Injury In Sandlot Grid Game

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Joseph Ball, a senior honor student at Sissonville High School, died Wednesday of a brain injury suffered in a sandlot football game Sunday.

The 17-year-old youth became ill and lost consciousness this morning at his home. He apparently died before a doctor reached the Ball resident.

A pathologist examined the body and reported Ball's death resulted from a brain injury and subsequent complications.

The boy's parents said they were not told of the injury until this morning, when Ball became ill. An honor roll student, Ball was a letterman on the basketball team.

Authorities did not know immediately how Ball received the injury.

Froehling And McKinley To Play British Netmen

Former's Selection For Singles Today Comes As Surprise

By GEOFF MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (AP)—The Americans sprang a big surprise and named bullet-serving Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., along with Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley for opening singles matches against Britain Thursday in the Interzone Davis Cup semifinals.

McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., and San Antonio, Tex., will meet Britain's hard-hitting Mike Sangster in the first match, to be followed by a battle between 6-foot-4 Froehling and the left-handed Billy Knight.

The doubles match, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston opposing Sangster and Bobby Wilson, will be played Friday, followed by final singles Saturday, in which lineups are reversed.

The Yanks are slightly favored over a British team that has gained the Interzone competition for the first time since 1937.

Froehling's selection for one of the singles berths — and his designation as the No. 1 U.S. player—came as a distinct shock since the Americans were expected to use Ralston, hero of the U.S. victory over Mexico in the American Zone final.

"Froehling has come along very fast and he is picked because we honestly feel we have the best chance to win with him," said Bob Kelleher, Los Angeles attorney who serves as U.S. captain.

The towering Florida boy was the forgotten man of American tennis until he swept into the men's singles final at Forest Hills earlier this month.

Kelleher apparently is counting on Froehling's big service —one of the most powerful in the game, pro or amateur — to bring the Americans through.

McKinley, troubled with a bad back during the Forest Hills tournament and stricken with a cold here, apparently is back in top shape.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

FOR THE SIXTH TIME, Ed (Whitey) Ford will be pitching the World Series opener for the Yankees, once again against the Dodgers in Yankee Stadium in New York and the crafty southpaw should get the Yanks off on the right foot for their 21st Series triumph.

The Dodgers will go with their best, too, and their pitching has been great, but Whitey, enjoying another outstanding season, is an old pro when the big chips are on the line in World Series play.

Now trying to reach the 200-victory goal in regular season performance in the last week of the campaign, Whitey will be aiming at upping some of his records in World Series play when the fall classic begins October 2.

He holds the most consecutive scoreless innings mark of 33 2/3 innings. He has made the most World Series starts, 19, possesses the strikeout mark, 82, and has the most World Series wins, 10.

In his five starts to open a Yankee Series, Whitey has won four, losing only in 1956 to Sal Maglie of the Giants, 6 to 3.

• • •

IN 1955 Whitey pitched the Series opener against the Brooklyn Dodgers and won it, 6 to 5.

In 1957 he held the Milwaukee Braves to one run as he took that Series opener, 3 to 1.

In 1960 he failed to start the Series, but shut out the Pirates in the third game, 10 to 0, and again in the sixth game, 12 to 0.

It was the same story in 1961, against the Reds, for Whitey shut out the Rhinelanders, 2 to 0, on two hits in the opener and won the fourth game, 7 to 0.

Last year he opened against the Giants in Frisco and Whitey won this one, 6 to 2.

• • •

FORD, who will be 35 years old October 21, will wind up the campaign as the top pitcher in the American League, will become the all-time Yankee percentage champ, and maintain his low lifetime ERA average.

In Series play he has a 2.29 ERA average in the 19 games in which he has appeared.

Bouton Posts 21st Victory

Yanks Beat Chance In First Frame, 3-1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Bouton warmed up for an anticipated World Series starting assignment Wednesday with seven innings of three-hit pitching to score his 21st victory of the season and give the New York Yankees a 3-1 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

Bouton, who is expected to start the second or third series game against the Los Angeles Dodgers, walked two batters, struck out four, and faced only 24 Angels during the seven innings.

He was tagged for a second-inning home run by Ed Kirkpatrick, but pitched hitless ball from the fourth through the seventh frames.

Hal Reniff, who took over at the start of the eighth, struck out four of the seven batters he faced.

The Yankees scored all their runs against Dean Chance, who suffered his 18th loss, in the first inning. Bobby Richardson singled, Joe Pepitone doubled and Mickey Mantle was purposely walked with one out. Roger Maris singled home two runs and Elston Howard singled home the other.

AFL Commissioner Hints At Title Playoff Game With NFL In 1964

With Suit Out Of Way Accord May Be Reached

Foss Says Formal Proposal May Come From Club Owners

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Wednesday his league might make a formal proposal to the National Football League for a championship playoff in 1964.

"We have indicated in the past that we would like to meet them in a playoff," said Foss at a press luncheon of the New York Jets. "Always, in the past, their answer has been, 'We don't play games with people who are suing us.' We sued them because we thought our case had merit but we lost. Now that is out of the way."

The AFL lost an appeal Monday of its $10-million monopoly suit against the NFL in a decision announced in Baltimore.

Foss made his comments in answer to a question.

Later he explained. "Of course, you realize this is my personal view. Anything formal would have to be drawn up by the eight league owners."

If the league should decide to make a formal proposal, it undoubtedly would not be made until late January when the NFL holds its annual meeting in Miami Beach.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, poured cold water on the idea when he said, "We have no plans for such a game."

"We definitely are interested in a championship game," said Foss. "There is no reason why there should be any question about which team would win. Let's decide it on the football field where such arguments should be decided."

TO BE OR NOT TO BE ?—Whether the slowly rolling ball will remain fair or roll foul is the answer awaited by two Los Angeles Angels fielders and two umpires. The dribbler that Elston Howard of the New York Yankees hit down the third base line in the fourth inning of yesterday's game in New York stayed in fair territory and he was credited with a single. Angels' catcher Ed Kirkpatrick and third baseman Tom Satriano, (2) are joined by umpires Ed Runge, left, and Bill Kinnamon. Yanks won the game, 3-1. (AP Photofax)

Panthers To Make Trip By Showboat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Centennial Commission said Tuesday its showboat Rhododendron was undergoing alterations to carry the Pittsburgh Panthers on the Monongahela River to Morgantown for their football clash with the West Virginia Mountaineers Oct. 19.

Earlier this year, the scheduled appearance of the boat in Morgantown was canceled because the vessel could not clear a low bridge in Pittsburgh.

Director Carl R. Sullivan said the top of the boat is being trimmed to permit it to pass under the bridge.

The Panthers' trip to Morgantown will re-enact the trip made by the Pittsburgh team when it first met the Mountaineers in Morgantown in 1891.

Ewbank Defends Himself For Picking Up Colts

Nine On Jets Roster, Offense Is Identical To That Of Hosses

NEW YORK (AP)—Weeb Ewbank, coach and general manager of the New York Jets, defended himself Wednesday for picking up football players from his old team, the Baltimore Colts of the rival National Football League.

At the present time the ever-changing roster of the Jets in the American Football League lists nine men who were with the Colts at various stages of their careers.

As the Jets also have 14 holdovers from the Titans, the Jets of 1962, these two groups account for 23 of the 33 players on the roster.

"Our offense is practically identical to the one we used in Baltimore," said Ewbank. "Dick Wood, our quarterback, and Bake Turner, our split end, had only one or two practices with us before they played a game.

"I'll say this. Anybody we have picked up is a better player than the man we let go.

"Our championship clubs at Baltimore were made up about 90 per cent of castoffs. And the Giants, too, if you check it through. In this business you trade or pick up what you need. You fit in players who fit into your situation. If you don't do that, you are stupid. All good major league clubs, whether it's football or baseball, build themselves that way.

Half of the starting backfield is made up of ex-Colts. They are Wood and fullback Mark Smolinski. Others include ends Turner, Ken Gregory, Dee Mackey, tackles Sherm Plunkett and Winston Hill, middle linebacker Dave Yohn and safety Bill Baird, a 1963 Colt rookie.

The former Titans still on the payroll are: halfbacks Don Maynard, Dick Christy and Bill Mathis, center Mike Hudock, guard Sid Fournet, offensive tackle Jack Klotz, defensive tackles Dick Guesman and George Strugar, defensive ends Laverne Torczon and Bob Watters, linebacker Larry Grantham and defensive backs Bill Atkins, Dainard Paulson and fullback and punter Curley Johnson.

PLANNING FOR FUTURE — Hired again as manager of the Pirates, Danny Murtaugh (right) and General Manager Joe Brown talk to newsmen in Pittsburgh about plans for the future, including a new ball park, a replica of which is seen here.

London Boxing Called Dirtier Than American

Solomons Blasts "The Syndicate"

LONDON (UPI)—London boxing promoter Jack Solomons believes the fight game here is "dirtier now than it ever was in America" and blames a mysterious organization known as "the syndicate" it was reported here Wednesday.

Daily Mail columnist Jack Wood quoted Solomons, who has ruled the London fight scene since the war and has also promoted such bouts as the recent Dick Tiger-Gene Fulmer world middleweight title match in Lagos, Nigeria, as saying he will quit promoting in London in the face of "opposition from 'the syndicate'."

According to Wood, Solomons has demanded a British boxing board of control inquiry into the activities of mystery man "Mr. X" and his lieutenants.

"The fight game here is dirtier now than it ever was in America," Solomons was quoted as saying. "Influences are at work, and the biggest monopoly the game has known has been built up. The front men are doing the talking but behind them is this man who has, in effect become the unofficial controller of boxing here."

Neither Wood nor Solomons mentioned any names or gave hints as to the identity of "Mr. X" or any other members of "the syndicate."

Solomons said 80 per cent of the fighters here are mixed up with "the syndicate." He added, "the business has become as much of a circus as all-in wrestling."

Owner Of Kelso Is Flattered By Invite To Race

To Run Three Times Before International

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, owner of Kelso, said Wednesday she was "flattered to be invited again" to have the great 6-year-old gelding compete in the Washington, D..C, International.

Kelso will make his third consecutive appearance in the $150,000 mile and a half turf classic at Laurel Race Course Nov. 11. He finished second in his two previous efforts.

Before he tackles the top foreign competition, however, Kelso has three $100,000 domestic races on tap as he continues the drive to become the top money-winning thoroughbred of all time.

Current plans call for Kelso to compete in the Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct Saturday, the Jockey Club Gold Cup on Oct. 19, and the Man o' War on Nov. 2.

"We only worry about one race at a time," Mrs. Dupont said, "and right now Kelso is working up to the Woodward.

"He's in wonderful shape, and will continue racing again next year if he's still in good condition."

Kelso has won seven of nine starts this season to increase his earnings to $1,415,197, second only to Round Table's career total of $1,749,869.

Harry Craft Will Manage 1964 Colts

Four Coaches Are Rehired By Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Harry Craft was signed Wednesday to another season as manager of the Houston Colts, postponing the possibility for at least a year that General Manager Paul Richards would assume the taskmaster post.

Richards said Craft "has done a good job and I hope he continues to do a good job next year." There were reports that Richards would become manager in 1965, when the young club matures.

"We are in ninth place and that is where we should be," Richards said. "The teams ahead of us simply have better personal right now."

Coaches Lum Harris, Cot Deal, Jim Busby and Jimmy Adair also received new contracts.

Spahn Cops 22nd, 9-5, Aaron Ties McCovey

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Left-hander Warren Spahn won his 22nd game of the season and 349th of his carrer Wednesday night, and Hank Aaron got back into the home run race, as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Cincinnati Reds 9-5.

The 42-year-old Spahan, who is just one victory short of matching his best season performance of 23 wins achieved in 1953, had a shutout going until the eighth when Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas both hit two run homers.

Aaron socked his 43rd home run of the year with one runner on to tie Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants for the league lead. Spahn also got his second home run of the season and 34th of his career, extending his league record and Eddie Mathews homer for the 22nd time this year.

The Braves tagged starter Jim O'Toole for four runs during the four innings he worked and then ganged up on Joey Jay for five more runs in the next two innings.

Hank Thompson Given Ten-Year Prison Sentence

HOUSTON (UPI) — Hank Thompson, former New York Giants batting star, was sentenced Wednesday to 10 years in prison for robbery, burglary and theft.

Thompson, dressed in a tattered tee-shirt and blue jeans, pleaded guilty to robbing a liquor store and burglarizing a friend's home to steal two pistols.

Thompson, who played third base for the Giants from 1948 to 1957, blamed his troubles on drinking and domestic problems. He indicated he wanted psychiatric help.

Dist. Judge John Barron tried to encourage the 39-year-old Thompson.

"You still have a lot of friends," Barron said. "Go up there (to prison) and do well and things will still come out all right. You will still be a champion."

"Thank you, sir," Thompson said.

But Thompson may be a long way from freedom.

New York authorities want him for suspicion of parole violation and questioning about another robbery.

Idaho Transplants Fish For a Bountiful Future

By GLEN PERRINS
Central Press Association Correspondent

BOISE, Ida.—This state is looking to the future in a $20 million a year fishing industry, and working magic in transplanting and rebuilding chinook salmon and steelhead trout schools. The Clearwater and Lemi Rivers—important segments of the Columbia River system—are being stocked for Idaho's Centennial fishermen and visitors.

A total of 4,705,000 chinook salmon eggs have been credited to the Clearwater River, and steelhead trout runs are being restored on the Lemi River where these fish migrate in goodly numbers.

The first step in the runs came with construction of a holding pond. This was built on the south side of the Clearwater River near the south fishway of the Lemiston dam. Egg incubation channels were prepared in the Red River tributary and upper Lemi River in southeastern Idaho. Excellent survival was shown as the smallfry were checked.

• • •

FISHWAYS are being built, and screens designed to bypass the salmon and steelhead trout from irrigation canals and ditches back into the streams. Barriers and debris jams have been removed in the Gem State and fish ladders installed. Also, mechanically controlled weirs automatically adjust to promote fish migration and transplanting.

The attempt at restoration of chinook salmon and steelhead trout in specified waters on the Clearwater River involves many different management practices, co-operation of a number of public agencies and private industry, and a lot of money.

Controlled studies in some areas show a survival rate to the fry stage of the fish as high as 91 per cent on some man-made "redds" where the eyed eggs are deposited by hand.

The restoration project on the Clearwater River, for example, started when about a half million eggs from fall-spawning chinook salmon were supplied from the federally-owned Spring Creek hatchery near Underwood, Wash., for planting in the lower Selway River, and has continued to the Snake River and other Idaho streams.

The fishery projects have worked wonders, sportsmen say, and have assured a good fishery future.

A steelhead trout leaps from one pool to the next, moving up an Idaho dam fishway.

Guglielmi Decides To Retire, Passing Up Monthly Pension

Plans To Return To His Washington Insurance Business

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Guglielmi, traded to the San Francisco 49ers by the New York Giants Tuesday, decided to retire Wednesday and passed up an estimated $437 monthly pension when the 49ers wouldn't meet his terms.

Guglielmi, 29-year-old former Notre Dame All-America quarterback and a pro since 1955 at Washington, St. Louis and New York, plans to retire and return to his insurance business at Washington, D.C.

Under the National Football League's pension plan, a player must be on the active roster for at least three games a year in five years, starting in 1959, to become eligible. A five-year man at the age of 65 would get an estimated pension of $437 a month or $5,244 a year.

Unless the league changes the policy to make it retroactive beyond 1959, Guglielmi would lose out.

Guglielmi said he was aware of the pension situation but had asked the 49ers to give him a no-cut contract for the rest of the year. The ball club refused.

The Giants made the deal after absorbing a 31-0 beating in Pittsburgh Sunday, a game in which Guglielmi was the quarterback in place of the injured Y. A. Tittle.

After the announcement from San Francisco of Goog's retirement, the Giants canceled the original deal. Then they completed another that also resulted in safety Ed Dove coming to the Giants from the 49ers for a future draft choice. Originally it was Dove for a draft choice and Guglielmi.

To replace the non-reporting Guglielmi, the 49ers claimed quarterback Lamar McHan from the Baltimore Colts, but he also is undecided about going to the San Francisco club.

The nine-season veteran of the NFL said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., to think it over.

Layne Will Devise Steeler Strategy

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bobby Layne will help devise strategy of the Pittsburgh Steelers beginning this weekend.

But the flamboyant quarterback who broke a flock of records during his 15 years in the National Football League won't be calling signals on the field. Instead, he will sit high above Forbes Field with assistant coach Mike Nixon, studying the moves of the oppositions' defense and relaying advice by telephone to the field.

The Steelers emphasized that Layne, who retired as quarterback after the 1962 season, will not be a member of the coaching staff.

Keep Peters From Scoring 20th Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Saverine, playing his last game before starting a six-month Army hitch, drove in two runs and and scored another as Baltimore whipped Chicago 10-2 Wednesday night and kept White Sox rookie Gary Peters from becoming a 20-game winner.

Saverine hit a two-run triple to cap a three-run rally in the sixth against Peters, bidding to become the first rookie 20-game winner in the majors since Bob Grim of the New York Yankees in 1954. Peters now is 19-7.

Saverine also collected two singles in a 12-hit Oriole attack.

Mike McCormick, who needed relief help from Dick Hall in the eighth when his arm stiffened, won the game before Baltimore's smallest crowd in major league history—2,017.

AFL Commissioner Hints At Title Playoff Game With NFL In 1964

With Suit Out Of Way Accord May Be Reached

Foss Says Formal Proposal May Come From Club Owners

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Wednesday his league might make a formal proposal to the National Football League for a championship playoff in 1964.

"We have indicated in the past that we would like to meet them in a playoff," said Foss at a press luncheon of the New York Jets. "Always, in the past, their answer has been, 'We don't play games with people who are suing us.' We sued them because we thought our case had merit but we lost. Now that is out of the way."

The AFL lost an appeal Monday of its $10-million monopoly suit against the NFL in a decision announced in Baltimore.

Foss made his comments in answer to a question.

Later he explained. "Of course, you realize this is my personal view. Anything formal would have to be drawn up by the eight league owners."

If the league should decide to make a formal proposal, it undoubtedly would not be made until late January when the NFL holds its annual meeting in Miami Beach.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, poured cold water on the idea when he said, "We have no plans for such a game."

"We definitely are interested in a championship game," said Foss. "There is no reason why there should be any question about which team would win. Let's decide it on the football field where such arguments should be decided."

TO BE OR NOT TO BE ?—Whether the slowly rolling ball will remain fair or roll foul is the answer awaited by two Los Angeles Angels fielders and two umpires. The dribbler that Elston Howard of the New York Yankees hit down the third base line in the fourth inning of yesterday's game in New York stayed in fair territory and he was credited with a single. Angels' catcher Ed Kirkpatrick and third baseman Tom Satriano, (2) are joined by umpires Ed Runge, left, and Bill Kinnamon. Yanks won the game, 3-1. (AP Photofax)

Panthers To Make Trip By Showboat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Centennial Commission said Tuesday its showboat Rhododendron was undergoing alterations to carry the Pittsburgh Panthers on the Monongahela River to Morgantown for their football clash with the West Virginia Mountaineers Oct. 19.

Earlier this year, the scheduled appearance of the boat in Morgantown was canceled because the vessel could not clear a low bridge in Pittsburgh.

Director Carl R. Sullivan said the top of the boat is being trimmed to permit it to pass under the bridge.

The Panthers' trip to Morgantown will re-enact the trip made by the Pittsburgh team when it first met the Mountaineers in Morgantown in 1891.

Ewbank Defends Himself For Picking Up Colts

Nine On Jets Roster, Offense Is Identical To That Of Hosses

NEW YORK (AP)—Weeb Ewbank, coach and general manager of the New York Jets, defended himself Wednesday for picking up football players from his old team, the Baltimore Colts of the rival National Football League.

At the present time the ever-changing roster of the Jets in the American Football League lists nine men who were with the Colts at various stages of their careers.

As the Jets also have 14 holdovers from the Titans, the Jets of 1962, these two groups account for 23 of the 33 players on the roster.

"Our offense is practically identical to the one we used in Baltimore," said Ewbank. "Dick Wood, our quarterback, and Bake Turner, our split end, had only one or two practices with us before they played a game.

"I'll say this. Anybody we have picked up is a better player than the man we let go.

"Our championship clubs at Baltimore were made up about 90 per cent of castoffs. And the Giants, too, if you check it through. In this business you trade or pick up what you need. You fit in players who fit into your situation. If you don't do that, you are stupid. All good major league clubs, whether it's football or baseball, build themselves that way.

Half of the starting backfield is made up of ex-Colts. They are Wood and fullback Mark Smolinski. Others include ends Turner, Ken Gregory, Dee Mackey, tackles Sherm Plunkett and Winston Hill, middle linebacker Dave Yohn and safety Bill Baird, a 1963 Colt rookie.

The former Titans still on the payroll are: halfbacks Don Maynard, Dick Christy and Bill Mathis, center Mike Hudock, guard Sid Fournet, offensive tackle Jack Klotz, defensive tackles Dick Guesman and George Strugar, defensive ends Laverne Torczon and Bob Watters, linebacker Larry Grantham and defensive backs Bill Atkins, Dainard Paulson and fullback and punter Curley Johnson.

London Boxing Called Dirtier Than American

Solomons Blasts "The Syndicate"

LONDON (UPI)—London boxing promoter Jack Solomons believes the fight game here is "dirtier now than it ever was in America" and blames a mysterious organization known as "the syndicate" it was reported here Wednesday.

Daily Mail columnist Jack Wood quoted Solomons, who has ruled the London fight scene since the war and has also promoted such bouts as the recent Dick Tiger-Gene Fulmer world middleweight title match in Lagos, Nigeria, as saying he will quit promoting in London in the face of "opposition from 'the syndicate'."

According to Wood, Solomons has demanded a British boxing board of control inquiry into the activities of mystery man "Mr. X" and his lieutenants.

"The fight game here is dirtier now than it ever was in America," Solomons was quoted as saying. "Influences are at work, and the biggest monopoly the game has known has been built up. The front men are doing the talking but behind them is this man who has, in effect become the unofficial controller of boxing here."

Neither Wood nor Solomons mentioned any names or gave hints as to the identity of "Mr. X" or any other members of "the syndicate."

Solomons said 80 per cent of the fighters here are mixed up with "the syndicate." He added, "the business has become as much of a circus as all-in wrestling."

Owner Of Kelso Is Flattered By Invite To Race

To Run Three Times Before International

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, owner of Kelso, said Wednesday she was "flattered to be invited again" to have the great 6-year-old gelding compete in the Washington, D..C, International.

Kelso will make his third consecutive appearance in the $150,000 mile and a half turf classic at Laurel Race Course Nov. 11. He finished second in his two previous efforts.

Before he tackles the top foreign competition, however, Kelso has three $100,000 domestic races on tap as he continues the drive to become the top money-winning thoroughbred of all time.

Current plans call for Kelso to compete in the Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct Saturday, the Jockey Club Gold Cup on Oct. 19, and the Man o' War on Nov. 2.

"We only worry about one race at a time," Mrs. Dupont said, "and right now Kelso is working up to the Woodward.

"He's in wonderful shape, and will continue racing again next year if he's still in good condition."

Kelso has won seven of nine starts this season to increase his earnings to $1,415,197, second only to Round Table's career total of $1,749,869.

Harry Craft Will Manage 1964 Colts

Four Coaches Are Rehired By Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Harry Craft was signed Wednesday to another season as manager of the Houston Colts, postponing the possibility for at least a year that General Manager Paul Richards would assume the taskmaster post.

Richards said Craft "has done a good job and I hope he continues to do a good job next year." There were reports that Richards would become manager in 1965, when the young club matures.

"We are in ninth place and that is where we should be," Richards said. "The teams ahead of us simply have better personal right now."

Coaches Lum Harris, Cot Deal, Jim Busby and Jimmy Adair also received new contracts.

Spahn Cops 22nd, 9-5, Aaron Ties McCovey

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Left-hander Warren Spahn won his 22nd game of the season and 349th of his carrer Wednesday night, and Hank Aaron got back into the home run race, as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Cincinnati Reds 9-5.

The 42-year-old Spahan, who is just one victory short of matching his best season performance of 23 wins achieved in 1953, had a shutout going until the eighth when Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas both hit two run homers.

Aaron socked his 43rd home run of the year with one runner on to tie Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants for the league lead. Spahn also got his second home run of the season and 34th of his career, extending his league record and Eddie Mathews homer for the 22nd time this year.

The Braves tagged starter Jim O'Toole for four runs during the four innings he worked and then ganged up on Joey Jay for five more runs in the next two innings.

Hank Thompson Given Ten-Year Prison Sentence

HOUSTON (UPI) — Hank Thompson, former New York Giants batting star, was sentenced Wednesday to 10 years in prison for robbery, burglary and theft.

Thompson, dressed in a tattered tee-shirt and blue jeans, pleaded guilty to robbing a liquor store and burglarizing a friend's home to steal two pistols.

Thompson, who played third base for the Giants from 1948 to 1957, blamed his troubles on drinking and domestic problems. He indicated he wanted psychiatric help.

Dist. Judge John Barron tried to encourage the 39-year-old Thompson.

"You still have a lot of friends," Barron said. "Go up there (to prison) and do well and things will still come out all right. You will still be a champion."

"Thank you, sir," Thompson said.

But Thompson may be a long way from freedom.

New York authorities want him for suspicion of parole violation and questioning about another robbery.

Idaho Transplants Fish For a Bountiful Future

By GLEN PERRINS
Central Press Association Correspondent

BOISE, Ida.—This state is looking to the future in a $20 million a year fishing industry, and working magic in transplanting and rebuilding chinook salmon and steelhead trout schools. The Clearwater and Lemi Rivers—important segments of the Columbia River system—are being stocked for Idaho's Centennial fishermen and visitors.

A total of 4,705,000 chinook salmon eggs have been credited to the Clearwater River, and steelhead trout runs are being restored on the Lemi River where these fish migrate in goodly numbers.

The first step in the runs came with construction of a holding pond. This was built on the south side of the Clearwater River near the south fishway of the Lemiston dam. Egg incubation channels were prepared in the Red River tributary and upper Lemi River in southeastern Idaho. Excellent survival was shown as the smallfry were checked.

FISHWAYS are being built, and screens designed to bypass the salmon and steelhead trout from irrigation canals and ditches back into the streams. Barriers and debris jams have been removed in the Gem State and fish ladders installed. Also, mechanically controlled weirs automatically adjust to promote fish migration and transplanting.

The attempt at restoration of chinook salmon and steelhead trout in specified waters on the Clearwater River involves many different management practices, co-operation of a number of public agencies and private industry, and a lot of money.

Controlled studies in some areas show a survival rate to the fry stage of the fish as high as 91 per cent on some man-made "redds" where the eyed eggs are deposited by hand.

The restoration project on the Clearwater River, for example, started when about a half million eggs from fall-spawning chinook salmon were supplied from the federally-owned Spring Creek hatchery near Underwood, Wash., for planting in the lower Selway River, and has continued to the Snake River and other Idaho streams.

The fishery projects have worked wonders, sportsmen say, and have assured a good fishery future.

A steelhead trout leaps from one pool to the next, moving up an Idaho dam fishway.

Guglielmi Decides To Retire, Passing Up Monthly Pension

Plans To Return To His Washington Insurance Business

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Guglielmi, traded to the San Francisco 49ers by the New York Giants Tuesday, decided to retire Wednesday and passed up an estimated $437 monthly pension when the 49ers wouldn't meet his terms.

Guglielmi, 29-year-old former Notre Dame All-America quarterback and a pro since 1955 at Washington, St. Louis and New York, plans to retire and return to his insurance business at Washington, D.C.

Under the National Football League's pension plan, a player must be on the active roster for at least three games a year in five years, starting in 1959, to become eligible. A five-year man at the age of 65 would get an estimated pension of $437 a month or $5,244 a year.

Unless the league changes the policy to make it retroactive beyond 1959, Guglielmi would lose out.

Guglielmi said he was aware of the pension situation but had asked the 49ers to give him a no-cut contract for the rest of the year. The ball club refused.

The Giants made the deal after absorbing a 31-0 beating in Pittsburgh Sunday, a game in which Guglielmi was the quarterback in place of the injured Y. A. Tittle.

After the announcement from San Francisco of Goog's retirement, the Giants canceled the original deal. Then they completed another that also resulted in safety Ed Dove coming to the Giants from the 49ers for a future draft choice. Originally it was Dove for a draft choice and Guglielmi.

To replace the non-reporting Guglielmi, the 49ers claimed quarterback Lamar McHan from the Baltimore Colts, but he also is undecided about going to the San Francisco club.

The nine-season veteran of the NFL said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., to think it over.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:
"The finance company insured my new car in the deal. Now I find that I paid a higher premium, hidden charges, and lack having a local insurance agent to really fight for my claims. Can I insist that I trade my car only, and not my local agent?"

Retzer Sparks Senators' Win Over Detroit

Ken Bats In 5 Runs In 6 To 2 Triumph

DETROIT (UPI)—Catcher Ken Retzer, who came into the game with a .227 batting average and 25 RBI's, knocked in five runs with three singles and a homer Wednesday to lead the Washington Senators to a 6-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Retzer singled in two runs to highlight a three-run first inning and then slammed a three - run homer in the third to cap the Senators scoring.

He also added singles in the sixth and eighth innings and stole his second base of the season.

Rookie Dennis McLain went the first three innings in his second big league start for Detroit and was charged with the loss as he allowed six runs and three hits. Don Moeller, the starter for Washington, hurled 5 1-3 innings to gain credit for the victory.

Steve Ridzik finished for the Senators.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Some old-time pitchers used to talk of their "balloon ball." It was a comparatively slow pitch that arched up and came down as it crossed the plate and was hard to time.

Pro-Files

By Bob Sudyk

AT THE turn of the century football helmets were for sissies. But wise heads prevailed over hard ones and some of the early pros fashioned their own helmets out of used footballs. The near-round balls were sliced in half across the laces and stuffed with straw, grass or cloth and pulled down very tightly over the head.

Grimsley Picks Oklahoma Over Southern Cal

Figures Washington To Edge Pittsburgh

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bud Wilkinson is a big-moment coach and Oklahoma is a big-moment team—the kind that comes up for dramatic situations. Such a situation arises Saturday when the Sooners play Southern California with the No. 1 national rating at stake.

This is also bounce back week for such red-faced teams as Washington and Mississippi as well as for this crystal ball-gazer, whose opening mark was 30-13 for .697.

A new day—a fresh guess:

Oklahoma 18, Southern California 10: Neither team played at best last week. The quick, lean Sooners should stop Pete Beathard and his mates in a rugged game.

Wisconsin 24, Notre Dame 14: The fighting Irish show more fight than usual under interim coach Hugh Devore but the Badgers hammer away at their weak tackles.

Michigan 19, Southern Methodist 14: Home field advantage; if it were in Dallas, we'd take SMU.

Rice 8, Louisiana State 3: The Owls are always tough for the Tigers from Jim Corbett's bayou land.

Washington 15, Pittsburgh 13: The huskies atone for last week's letdown; the powerful Panthers seem to play better on the road.

Purdue 17, Miami, Fla. 13: The Boilermakers have a new look—the "I" formation and more offensive zip.

Texas 25, Texas Tech 0: Tommy Ford should be good for two or three touchdowns.

Alabama 28, Tulane 0: Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia pour it on in a bid for the No. 1 ranking.

TEAMMATES

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Reds and Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs, two of the major leagues' 20-game winning pitchers this season, were high school teammates in San Diego.

Suit Seeking To Force Referendum On Maryland Racing Bill Is Dropped

Objection Was Made To Measure Shifting Dates Of 3 Tracks

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A suit seeking to force a referendum on the bill consolidating Maryland horse racing dates has been dropped, the secretary of state was advised Wednesday.

Robert L. Karwacki, assistant attorney general, said Mrs. Rose Peck had voluntarily dismissed the action. She was represented in the suit by Paul A. Dorf, Baltimore state senator and opponent of the race track consolidation bill.

The suit filed in Baltimore circuit court had contended that Secretary of State Lloyd L. Simpkins acted illegally in refusing to refer the bill to a referendum on grounds that petitions against it failed to contain expense statements required by law.

Karwacki said under the court order on Mrs. Peck's dismissal moton, the question cannot be raised again.

The bill Dorf objected to discontinued racing at Cumberland, Bel Air and Baltimore Raceway and transferred their days to Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel. It also increased the days at Hagerstown, Marlboro and three harness tracks.

Forty Niners Claim McHan

Colts Put Berry Back On Roster

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that quarterback Lamar McHan had been claimed on waivers by the San Francisco 49ers.

McHan, a 30-year-old veteran of nine seasons in the National Football League, said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., before deciding whether to join the 49ers.

Earlier Wednesday, San Francisco said quarterback Ralph Guglielmi informed the club he is retiring from professional football. Guglielmi was to have gone to the 49ers from the New York Giants in a trade for defensive safety Eddie Dove and a future draft choice.

McHan was placed on waivers by Baltimore after another NFL team put in a claim for injured offensive end Raymond Berry. The Colts then took Berry off the waiver list and placed him back on the roster.

However, the other club has been talked into withdrawing its claim for Berry and the Colts may now add a player until the injured end is ready to return to duty in about six weeks.

Under similar circumstances early this season, Colt officials persuaded another team to drop a waiver claim on Bobby Boyd after the defensive back suffered a shoulder separation.

But Baltimore couldn't do the same two weeks ago with halfback Lenny Moore, when his appendix was removed. The claimant stood fast and the Colts withdrew Moore from waivers.

Boyd is scheduled to return to action Sunday at Green Bay. With Berry no longer counted against the roster, and McHan claimed by San Francisco, the Colts will be able to add one more player for Sunday's game.

Orioles' Estrada Undergoes Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chuck Estrada, Baltimore Oriole pitcher who has been on the baseball team's injured list since early this season, underwent surgery on his elbow Wednesday.

A spokesman for the American League Club said the operation to remove a bone spur and bone chips apparently was successful.

Estrada, a right-hander who won 18 games in his 1960 rookie year, is expected to remain in Union Memorial Hospital two or three weeks. He won three games and lost two before being placed on the injured list last spring.

Retzer Sparks Senators' Win Over Detroit

Ken Bats In 5 Runs In 6 To 2 Triumph

DETROIT (UPI)—Catcher Ken Retzer, who came into the game with a .227 batting average and 25 RBI's, knocked in five runs with three singles and a homer Wednesday to lead the Washington Senators to a 6-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Retzer singled in two runs to highlight a three-run first inning and then slammed a three - run homer in the third to cap the Senators scoring.

He also added singles in the sixth and eighth innings and stole his second base of the season.

Rookie Dennis McLain went the first three innings in his second big league start for Detroit and was charged with the loss as he allowed six runs and three hits. Don Moeller, the starter for Washington, hurled 5 1-3 innings to gain credit for the victory.

Steve Ridzik finished for the Senators.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Some old-time pitchers used to talk of their "balloon ball." It was a comparatively slow pitch that arched up and came down as it crossed the plate and was hard to time.

Pro-Files

By Bob Sudyk

AT THE turn of the century football helmets were for sissies. But wise heads prevailed over hard ones and some of the early pros fashioned their own helmets out of used footballs. The near-round balls were sliced in half across the laces and stuffed with straw, grass or cloth and pulled down very tightly over the head.

Grimsley Picks Oklahoma Over Southern Cal

Figures Washington To Edge Pittsburgh

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bud Wilkinson is a big-moment coach and Oklahoma is a big-moment team—the kind that comes up for dramatic situations. Such a situation arises Saturday when the Sooners play Southern California with the No. 1 national rating at stake.

This is also bounce back week for such red-faced teams as Washington and Mississippi as well as for this crystal ball-gazer, whose opening mark was 30-13 for .697.

A new day—a fresh guess:

Oklahoma 18, Southern California 10: Neither team played at best last week. The quick, lean Sooners should stop Pete Beathard and his mates in a rugged game.

Wisconsin 24, Notre Dame 14: The fighting Irish show more fight than usual under interim coach Hugh Devore but the Badgers hammer away at their weak tackles.

Michigan 19, Southern Methodist 14: Home field advantage; if it were in Dallas, we'd take SMU.

Rice 8, Louisiana State 3: The Owls are always tough for the Tigers from Jim Corbett's bayou land.

Washington 15, Pittsburgh 13: The huskies atone for last week's letdown; the powerful Panthers seem to play better on the road.

Purdue 17, Miami, Fla. 13: The Boilermakers have a new look—the "I" formation and more offensive zip.

Texas 25, Texas Tech 0: Tommy Ford should be good for two or three touchdowns.

Alabama 28, Tulane 0: Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia pour it on in a bid for the No. 1 ranking.

Arkansas 14, Missouri 7: Billy Gray's Houdini ball-handling does the job for the Porkers.

Suit Seeking To Force Referendum On Maryland Racing Bill Is Dropped

Objection Was Made To Measure Shifting Dates Of 3 Tracks

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A suit seeking to force a referendum on the bill consolidating Maryland horse racing dates has been dropped, the secretary of state was advised Wednesday.

Robert L. Karwacki, assistant attorney general, said Mrs. Rose Peck had voluntarily dismissed the action. She was represented in the suit by Paul A. Dorf, Baltimore state senator and opponent of the race track consolidation bill.

The suit filed in Baltimore circuit court had contended that Secretary of State Lloyd L. Simpkins acted illegally in refusing to refer the bill to a referendum on grounds that petitions against it failed to contain expense statements required by law.

Karwacki said under the court order on Mrs. Peck's dismissal moton, the question cannot be raised again.

The bill Dorf objected to discontinued racing at Cumberland, Bel Air and Baltimore Raceway and transferred their days to Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel. It also increased the days at Hagerstown, Marlboro and three harness tracks.

Forty Niners Claim McHan

Colts Put Berry Back On Roster

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that quarterback Lamar McHan had been claimed on waivers by the San Francisco 49ers.

McHan, a 30-year-old veteran of nine seasons in the National Football League, said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., before deciding whether to join the 49ers.

Earlier Wednesday, San Francisco said quarterback Ralph Guglielmi informed the club he is retiring from professional football. Guglielmi was to have gone to the 49ers from the New York Giants in a trade for defensive safety Eddie Dove and a future draft choice.

McHan was placed on waivers by Baltimore after another NFL team put in a claim for injured offensive end Raymond Berry. The Colts then took Berry off the waiver list and placed him back on the roster.

However, the other club has been talked into withdrawing its claim for Berry and the Colts may now add a player until the injured end is ready to return to duty in about six weeks.

Under similar circumstances early this season, Colt officials persuaded another team to drop a waiver claim on Bobby Boyd after the defensive back suffered a shoulder separation.

But Baltimore couldn't do the same two weeks ago with halfback Lenny Moore, when his appendix was removed. The claimant stood fast and the Colts withdrew Moore from waivers.

Boyd is scheduled to return to action Sunday at Green Bay. With Berry no longer counted against the roster, and McHan claimed by San Francisco, the Colts will be able to add one more player for Sunday's game.

Orioles' Estrada Undergoes Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chuck Estrada, Baltimore Oriole pitcher who has been on the baseball team's injured list since early this season, underwent surgery on his elbow Wednesday.

A spokesman for the American League Club said the operation to remove a bone spur and bone chips apparently was successful.

Estrada, a right-hander who won 18 games in his 1960 rookie year, is expected to remain in Union Memorial Hospital two or three weeks. He won three games and lost two before being placed on the injured list last spring.

Market Slumps On News GM And Ford Sales Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Disappointing sales results for both General Motors and Ford caught the stock market unaware Wednesday and turned a full-fledged rally into a full-scale selloff.

Things were going full speed ahead for the stock market early in the session in the wake of Tuesday's new record high for the Dow-Jones industrial average. The senior average had risen 4.89 at 11 a.m.

However, an announcement over the noon hour that Ford and General Motors sales for the middle-third of this month were off 12.5 and 13.7 per cent, respectively, hit the market broadside.

Apparently Wall Street was not prepared for this kind of news as Chrysler's report on Tuesday of sharply higher sales for this same period helped trigger the best market advance since midsummer.

Dow - Jones industrials closed off 2.27 to 743.69 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.41 to 72.89. Trading, which ran late most of the afternoon, rose to 6,340,000 shares — 820,000 more than Tuesday and the most since the 6,668,000 of Sept. 11.

Ford declined 1⅛ on the news but General Motors managed to close unchanged. Chrysler lost all of its early gain to finish off ⅞. American Telephone, which had paced both Tuesday's advance and Wednesday's early advance, declined ¼.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Hazy talk of the possibility of a U-S-Russian wheat deal brought enthusiastic buying to grain futures Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Most grains slipped from early highs but managed to end strong.

At the close, wheat was off 1 to up 3⅜; corn up 2¼ to 3; oats up ⅛ to ⅝; rye off ½ to up 2½; and soybeans up 3½ to 5.

Reports that a U. S. trade group was in Ottawa, Canada, to negotiate a grain sale with a soviet trade mission prompted early buying of grains that pushed many prices to new seasonal highs. Prices also received a boost from export buying base on large export business, particularly in soybeans.

Wheat figures rose more than 3 cents on the Russian trade reports and retreated temporarily on word that Washington officials denied that any Soviet bids to buy grains had been made. New trade rumors sparked a late rally. West Germany reportedly took 224,000 bushels of soft red wheat.

The chance that a Russian grain deal would include corn brought early commission buying to the feed grain that pushed prices up more than 2 cents before a selloff around noon. Selling was spurred by news that the Commodity Credit Corp. plans to sell corn to ease the tight supply situation. Prices rebounded to close near the day's high on late buying.

a 5-cent gain.

Rye rose more than 9 cents on early active commission buying despite export selling. The grain ended 2 cents higher. Oats firmed under commission buying, but longs sold on the advance.

Market Slumps On News GM And Ford Sales Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Disappointing sales results for both General Motors and Ford caught the stock market unaware Wednesday and turned a full-fledged rally into a full-scale selloff.

Things were going full speed ahead for the stock market early in the session in the wake of Tuesday's new record high for the Dow-Jones industrial average. The senior average had risen 4.89 at 11 a.m.

However, an announcement over the noon hour that Ford and General Motors sales for the middle-third of this month were off 12.5 and 13.7 per cent, respectively, hit the market broadside.

Apparently Wall Street was not prepared for this kind of news as Chrysler's report on Tuesday of sharply higher sales for this same period helped trigger the best market advance since midsummer.

Dow - Jones Industrials closed off 2.27 to 743.69 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.41 to 72.89. Trading, which ran late most of the afternoon, rose to 6,340,000 shares — 820,000 more than Tuesday and the most since the 6,668,000 of Sept. 11.

Ford declined 1⅛ on the news but General Motors managed to close unchanged. Chrysler lost all of its early gain to finish off ⅞. American Telephone, which had paced both Tuesday's advance and Wednesday's early advance, declined ¼.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Hazy talk of the possibility of a U.S-Russian wheat deal brought enthusiastic buying to grain futures Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Most grains slipped from early highs but managed to end strong.

At the close, wheat was off 1 to up 3⅜; corn up 2¼ to 3; oats up ⅛ to ⅝; rye off ½ to up 2½; and soybeans up 3½ to 5.

Reports that a U. S. trade group was in Ottawa, Canada, to negotiate a grain sale with a soviet trade mission prompted early buying of grains that pushed many prices to new seasonal highs. Prices also received a boost from export buying base on large export business, particularly in soybeans.

Wheat figures rose more than 3 cents on the Russian trade reports and re-treated temporarily on word that Washington officials denied that any Soviet bids to buy grains had been made. New trade rumors sparked a late rally. West Germany reportedly took 224,000 bushels of soft red wheat.

The chance that a Russian grain deal would include corn brought early commission buying to the feed grain that pushed prices up more than 2 cents before a selloff around noon. Selling was spurred by news that the Commodity Credit Corp. plans to sell corn to ease the tight supply situation. Prices rebounded to close near the day's high on late buying.

a 5-cent gain.

Rye rose more than 9 cents on early active commission buying despite export selling. The grain ended 2 cents higher. Oats firmed under commission buying, but longs sold on the advance.

Resident M.D. Being Sought For Frostburg

AMA Says Interns In Short Supply

A second meeting was held in Frostburg last night to discuss the problem of the shortage of medical doctors in that city.

The meeting was called by the Frostburg Fire Department to find out what is being done or can be done to attract physicians to Frostburg.

William Preston, a member of the Frostburg City Council, said he had written to the American Medical Association in Chicago for assistance in locating an intern or resident doctor for Miners Hospital and to ask if the hospital could be accredited.

The AMA said it does have an accreditation program for the approval of interns and residents in hospitals, but the hospital must apply for the program.

Hospital Too Small

The AMA said that in order to to be considered under this program a hospital must have at least 150 beds and an annual admission of 5,000 each year. Miners Hospital has 60 beds. The AMA added there is a surplus of applications for interns and residents and there would be very little prospect in this market.

The AMA suggested advertisements in medical journals and letters to employment agencies or other informed persons.

Frank Powers, retired director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines and a representative of the Frostburg American Legion, said he has been corresponding with Dr. John Harvey of Washington, who is presently serving his internship at University Hospital in Baltimore under Dr. Milton Cobey, formerly of Frostburg.

Mr. Powers said Dr. Harvey and his wife are from Oakland and are interested in locating in Frostburg.

Not A Local Problem

Dr. Martin Rothstein, chief of Miners Hospital medical staff, told the group the shortage of doctors in Frostburg is not just a local situation, and that other cities face the same problem.

Dr. Rothstein added some young doctors with specialized training in large hospitals are hesitant to come to smaller hospitals because some equipment is not available. He said Frostburg doctors would welcome other doctors.

James E. Bangerd, administrator at Miners Hospital, said over 100 letters have been mailed out recently to agencies and other sources, but he felt the personal contact was necessary to attract doctors.

Some attending last night's meeting said they felt housing should be made available to the new doctors, since this is one of primary things a doctor would consider in relocating.

Another Meeting Planned

Another public meeting will be held Wednesday, October 16, to discuss any contacts made with interested doctors.

Attending the meeting were three members of the board of directors of Miners Hospital, Russell Carder, D. Varner Carpenter and Frank Hines.

Also present were representatives of the Frostburg Elks, Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Junior Association of Commerce, Merchants' Association and the Allegany County League of Women Voters. About 30 other interested persons attended the meeting, which was presided over by Donald Grieg, a member of the fire department.

Pumpkin Grows Atop Garage

There is nothing unusual about pumpkins growing this time of year, but there is when it grows on top of a garage roof. This unusual pumpkin is shown growing atop the garage of Mr. and Mrs. William Foster, 15 Wabash Street, Ridgeley. Mrs. Foster said the seed was planted in July beside the garage and plant grew up the side and across the top of the roof. The vine with the pumpkin shown above also has two other smaller ones, both also on top of the garage.

'PTA Family Of Year' Is Project Of County Units

Some 30 parent-teacher associations of the Allegany County Council are expected to participate in the "PTA Family of the Year" project being sponsored by the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Claude Ward of Eckhart, council president, said the executive committee of respective PTA's in the county are to appoint a panel of five to choose the representative families.

She pointed out that a panel should include a parent, a teacher, a minister, a leader of a youth organization in the community and a member of the PTA executive committee.

The panel is to choose one family out of five and submit the choice to the council president by October 21 in order that steps may be taken to select a "Family of the Year" for the county.

The parents of the family chosen by the councils of the 23 counties of Maryland plus Baltimore City will be honor guests of the respective councils and the Maryland Congress during the convention banquet November 8 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, during which the Maryland PTA Family of the Year will be announced.

Criteria for selection includes families in which the members participate such as hobbies, music, recreation or a family business.

Also families that contribute to the life of the community including activity in school affairs, youth work, church, citizen's associations, welfare work or politics.

Employe Counseling Sessions Set

Beginning next week the Cumberland Post Office will conduct a series of counseling and planning sessions for employes regarding benefits due them and problems facing them at retirement.

In announcing the program yesterday William B. Orndorff, acting postmaster, said the program is not aimed at people who are within the retirement zone, such as 55 years of age and 30 years service, not at anyone in particular, but everyone in general because the information will be of importance to them.

The program, which will be offered to all federal employes in this sectional center area, consists of four two-hour (or less) sessions. All sessions will be held at City Hall auditorium with professional speakers for the various subjects which will be covered. The program will consist of short talks followed by question-and-answer periods. Wives or husbands of federal employes are invited.

The sessions will be conducted on four Thursdays during October at 7:45 p.m.

On October 3 subjects and speakers include Social Security, Charles H. Teets; wills and inheritance, James Roby; U. S. Civil Service Retirement System, John Kuhn. A. E. Newton, regional director, who will attend this session, made the original survey which indicated that a need exists for counseling employes on these problems.

The second session, October 10, will be on all types of insurance, with Henry K. Duke as speaker.

October 17 legal and tax problems will be discussed by Miller Bowen; employment and unemployment compensation by Francis A. Kenney, and use of leisure time before and after retirement by Thomas K. Whalley, retired mail carrier.

The last session will be October 24 on the subject of general health problems, with a local doctor as the speaker. Thomas Kilduff will speak on veterans' affairs and a representative of the Bureau of Employes' Compensation will discuss compensation for on-the-job injuries.

Area Students Scholarship Semifinalists

Keyser, Romney Are Represented

Allegany County is not represented among the 13,000 high school students who were named semifinalists yesterday in the competition for National Merit Scholarship Corporation scholarships, but nearby communities in both West Virginia and Pennsylvania are represented.

Both Keyser and Romney high schools have one semifinalist each from among some 156 West Virginia who made the grade. They are Susan A. Minshall of Keyser and Julia T. Blue of Romney.

Somerset County has three representatives among some 700 Pennsylvania semifinalists. They include Carol S. Diehl and John W. Stevens, both of Somerset High School and Douglas W. Kemerer of Salisbury Elklick High School.

Maryland has some 220 semifinalists but the nearest to Cumberland are two from Washington County. They are Carol L. White of North Hagerstown High School and James A. Maiorana of Boonsboro High School.

In releasing the names of the semifinalists, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation stresses that the quality or effectiveness of a school cannot be judged solely by the number of its semifinalists because of several considerations. Among them are the population distribution in the state where the school is located, the nature of the immediate community of the school, the size of the school, the level of community support it receives and the native intelligence of its best students.

In past years about 97 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists receive a certificate of merit in recognition of their outstanding performance in the program. As finalists, the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by NMSC and about 175 business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

About next April 23 names of the merit scholars will be announced. The exact number will depend on the extent of sponsor support of the merit program. In 1963, NMSC and sponsors together awarded about 1500 merit scholarships.

This merit program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Nearly 7500 merit scholars have been appointed to date. In addition, through the program's special services, thousands of other outstanding participants have been helped in obtaining aid from other sources and colleges have been assisted in their efforts to locate the intellectually able.

Fire Destroys Parked Auto

Fire early last night destroyed an automobile which was parked on a lot to the rear of Ort Brothers Bakery on Franklin Street, firemen said.

East Side firemen responded at 6:13 p.m. when Box 38 at the bakery was pulled. A minute later firemen from Central station went to Columbia and Holland streets when Box 36 was pulled.

After the fire last night firemen were attempting to ascertain who is the owner of the abandoned vehicle, which had no license tags.

They said it was parked on a lot owned by the Bennett Transfer Company. The destroyed car was near a truck belonging to the company, and a small building.

Salvation Army Plans Soldiers Supper

The annual soldiers supper of the Cumberland Corps of the Salvation Army will be held at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Major Ben R. Jones, commanding officer, requests that those planning to attend make reservations by today with Mrs. George Price Jr.

Jail Escapee Search Will Continue

Flintstone Man Flees Third Time

Deputies of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein last night were still searching for James R. Walter, 24, of Flintstone, who escaped from the Allegany County Jail sometime between 8:30 and 9 a. m. yesterday.

Walter made his escape during a diversion created by his "girl friend" who also is a prisoner in the jail.

This was the Flintstone man's third escape in the last three months. Twice recently he fled from the jail at Ripley, W. Va. He first escaped there 20 minutes after incarceration. The second time he sawed his way out.

Yesterday's escape took place when Dolores Jean Barkin, 21, also of Flintstone, began to yell that water was overflowing in the bathroom of the women's section on the fourth floor of the jail.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis, who was the only officer on duty at the time, went to the fourth floor with several trusties to mop up.

Walter apparently hid behind a door and fled when the deputy sheriff's attention was diverted. The girl had opened all the spigots in the bathroom on the fourth floor.

The Flintstone man was being held in jail in default on bond pending trial on burglary charges. He was accused of breaking into the Flintstone School, Moon Glo Skating Rink, Hiser Supply Company, Western Maryland Lumber Company and several other business places in the LaVale area.

Walter was arrested September 13 in the basement of his parents' home in Flintstone after the State Police K-9 dog, Prince, smelled him out.

Sheriff Haberlein said there will be no more visits at the jail until the investigation is completed.

Bedford Area Man Charged In Shooting

James N. Price, 39, of Tidaytown, Pa., near Bedford, has been charged with assault with intent to kill, as a result of a shooting incident Tuesday in which a neighbor, Newton J. Hutzel, 54, was hospitalized with shotgun wounds of his lower left arm and elbow.

Hutzel, who underwent surgery at Bedford County Memorial Hospital, was reported in fair condition yesterday. Price is in the Bedford County jail.

Authorities said Price fired a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun that punctured the central artery in Hutzel's arm in several places.

The blast also fractured the man's arm and caused superficial pellet wounds to his chest and abdomen.

The shooting occurred at 8:30 a. m. in the Price residence. Present were Hutzel, Price and Mrs. Price. The shooting was reported to have occurred during an argument.

Neighbors said Hutzel refused to leave the Price home but that he was standing three to five feet outside the door at the time of the shooting.

Price told State Police he had intended only to scare Hutzel. Both Price and his wife were taken to the Bedford County jail. She was charged with disorderly conduct, authorities said.

Film On Aging To Be Shown Sunday

Francis A. Kenney, president of the Allegany County Commission on the Aging, said a documentary film on aging will be shown on television this weekend in the Cumberland area.

Mr. Kenney said the film "Bitter Harvest" will be shown on a Baltimore station and will be carried at 1 p. m. Sunday on cable channel 5.

Arrangements to have the film showed in this area were made with the Potomac Valley Television Company, Mr. Kenney said.

'Tosca' Performance Here Features New Type Opera

Next Wednesday, October 2, residents if the tri-state area will be presented with evidence of some major developmnts in grand opera history when the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater's production of Puccini's "Tosca" comes to Fort Hill High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

This will be the first concert of the fifth season of the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

Edward Alley will appear here October 2 as tour director and conductor. For three years he was musical director and conductor of the Seventh Army Symphony and appeared with the orchestra on annual tours of Western Europe. As a result of his work with this Seventh Army Symphony he was awarded the United States Government commendation medal in 1960.

Mr. Alley has been connected with the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater since 1960 when he was appointed associate conductor. He was named tour director and conductor last year.

The Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater is the organization which has been hailed cross-country as "a refreshing new breath of life in the operatic world" and "the white hope of lyric art in America."

For nine national tours, Mr. Goldovsky and his company of 50, including orchestra, soloists and chorus, have been demonstrating successfully that operatic masterworks can be valid and absorbing theater rather than mere displays of vocal pyrotechnics. Their texts can be translated intelligently into English and when presented by performers who have been schooled in drama as well as voice they can make an immediate and lasting appeal to present day audiences.

It has been Mr. Golovsky's conviction that only when an audience hears opera in its own language does it become fully involved in the action, stage business and character portrayal. In the Goldovsky scheme, it is even more essential that the language of the performance be native to the singer for only then can he give a complete character realization to his role.

Agencies Seek Meeting On Housing Project

CURA States Position On Site

Representatives of agencies involved in discussions on locating a public housing facility for the aged in Cumberland agreed yesterday to ask a representative of the Public Housing Authority at Philadelphia to come here to discuss the problem with interested groups.

The agreement was reached at a luncheon meeting called by Mayor Earl D. Chaney to discuss the problems involved in locating the housing project here.

The Cumberland Housing Authority is presently planning a project between North Mechanic and North Centre and between Market and Bedford Streets. Some protest has been registered against the use of this downtown property for the housing unit.

The possibility of other sites for the new housing unit for elderly persons also was discussed at the meeting.

States Position

Marion T. Powers, chairman of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, read a letter from that agency addressed to Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, chairman of the Housing Authority of Cumberland, stating CURA's position in the controversy over the proposed site.

The letter, signed by Denton A. Fuller, CURA secretary, stated that agency's recognition of the urgent need for low-rent public housing for senior citizens and others and its support for such projects, along with its cooperation with the authority in carrying out its objectives.

Regarding the proposed housing site the letter said:

"Should plans proceed for the use of this specific parcel of land for the purposes which you have indicated, (a multi-structure housing unit), it is entirely conceivable, in fact, would be a reality, that the building would become an island in the center of a commercial and business district with high density.

"We wish to point this out in order that the fact can be given full consideration by your group from the standpoint of the desirability of elderly housing within a business district. In fact, at a joint meeting of our two agencies held on June 6, 1963, this fact was clearly pointed out to you. What of the hazard and safety of elderly individuals resident in a heavy traffic business area?

No Final Opinion

"The Urban Renewal Agency, at the moment, has no final determination as to a particular interest and usage for the site which you have selected. Our judgment must be predicated upon facts which will be developed in the very near future and based upon the surveys . . . of the area. Boy Acquitted Of Murder In Man's Death

Uncle's Trial Starts In Romney

A Hampshire County (W. Va.) Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon acquitted a 14-year-old boy of murder after about three hours of deliberation at the close of a three-day trial at the Court House in Romney.

Floyd Poland of Rio was foreman of the jury of 10 men and two women which decided the case. The verdict was the fifth of five possible available to the jury.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing informed the jurors that they could return verdicts of guilty of first degree murder, second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter or involuntary manslaughter, as well as not guilty.

Prosecuting Attorney Loudoun L. Thompson had indicated Monday that he would not ask for capital punishment.

The boy, who had finished the eighth grade at the Augusta School, had been called to the witness stand in his own defense Tuesday afternoon by William H. Loy, his attorney.

The boy said his uncle, Galen Harding, 41, of Hoy, had fired a .22 caliber rifle once in the direction of Eugene C. Whetzel, 25, of Hoy and that he had fired the weapon twice. He emphasized that he had not intended to shoot Whetzel and did not know that he had.

Whetzel was found dead July 10 in the vicinity of a "gypsy camp" near Hoy.

While one jury was deliberating the fate of the youngster yesterday afternoon, a second jury was impaneled and began hearing evidence in the trial of Harding. The boy's uncle was indicted for murder and aiding and abeting the commission of murder.

The doctor who conducted the autopsy after Whetzel's death, and three law enforcement officers who investigated the shooting, were called before the trial recessed overnight.

Harding's attorneys are Charles Bean of Romney and Ralph Bean of Moorefield. The trial may end today but could continue until Friday.

3 Arrested In Theft Of Fishing Gear

Two 13-year-old local boys and a 12-year-old local girl who were taken into custody late yesterday afternoon in connection with the theft of a tackle box including fishing equipment valued at about $150 will be taken to Juvenile Court for further action, city police said last night.

On Saturday a complaint was received from Robert Rinehart, 610 Memorial Avenue, that the tackle box and fishing gear had been stolen from his garage. He gave a description of the contents.

Lt. Thomas J. See of the Detective Bureau said he and Detective Kenneth Morrissey late yesterday afternoon noticed three young boys coming from the direction of Frazier Lake with fishing equipment.

They stopped the boys at the White Oaks Shopping Center and questioned them. Lt. See noticed that one of the boys had a reel which fit the description of one reported stolen from Mr. Rinehart.

Two of the boys and the girl were taken into custody and released to their parents pending action of Juvenile Court. Much of the stolen goods was recovered.

Meanwhile city police are investigating a breaking and entering and theft of about $100 in cash from the H&D Restaurant, 723 Virginia Avenue.

Detective Royce Clayton said the business place was entered after midnight Tuesday.

The intruder forced the rear door.

Resident M.D. Being Sought For Frostburg

AMA Says Interns In Short Supply

A second meeting was held in Frostburg last night to discuss the problem of the shortage of medical doctors in that city.

The meeting was called by the Frostburg Fire Department to find out what is being done or can be done to attract physicians to Frostburg.

William Preston, a member of the Frostburg City Council, said he had written to the American Medical Association in Chicago for assistance in locating an intern or resident doctor for Miners Hospital and to ask if the hospital could be accredited.

The AMA said it does have an accreditation program for the approval of interns and residents in hospitals, but the hospital must apply for the program.

Hospital Too Small

The AMA said that in order to to be considered under this program a hospital must have at least 150 beds and an annual admission of 5,000 each year. Miners Hospital has 60 beds. The AMA added there is a surplus of applications for interns and residents and there would be very little prospect in this market.

The AMA suggested advertisements in medical journals and letters to employment agencies or other informed persons.

Frank Powers, retired director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines and a representative of the Frostburg American Legion, said he has been corresponding with Dr. John Harvey of Washington, who is presently serving his internship at University Hospital in Baltimore under Dr. Milton Cobey, formerly of Frostburg.

Mr. Powers said Dr. Harvey and his wife are from Oakland and are interested in locating in Frostburg.

Not A Local Problem

Dr. Martin Rothstein, chief of Miners Hospital medical staff, told the group the shortage of doctors in Frostburg is not just a local situation, and that other cities face the same problem.

Dr. Rothstein added some young doctors with specialized training in large hospitals are hesitant to come to smaller hospitals because some equipment is not available. He said Frostburg doctors would welcome other doctors.

James E. Bangerd, administrator at Miners Hospital, said over 100 letters have been mailed out recently to agencies and other sources, but he felt the personal contact was necessary to attract doctors.

Some attending last night's meeting said they felt housing should be made available to the new doctors, since this is one of primary things a doctor would consider in relocating.

Another Meeting Planned

Another public meeting will be held Wednesday, October 16, to discuss any contacts made with interested doctors.

Attending the meeting were three members of the board of directors of Miners Hospital, Russell Carder, D. Varner Carpenter and Frank Hines.

Also present were representatives of the Frostburg Elks, Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Junior Association of Commerce, Merchants' Association and the Allegany County League of Women Voters. About 30 other interested persons attended the meeting, which was presided over by Donald Grieg, a member of the fire department.

Area Students Scholarship Semifinalists

Keyser, Romney Are Represented

Allegany County is not represented among the 13,000 high school students who were named semifinalists yesterday in the competition for National Merit Scholarship Corporation scholarships, but nearby communities in both West Virginia and Pennsylvania are represented.

Both Keyser and Romney high schools have one semifinalist each from among some 156 West Virginia who made the grade. They are Susan A. Minshall of Keyser and Julia T. Blue of Romney.

Somerset County has three representatives among some 700 Pennsylvania semifinalists. They include Carol S. Diehl and John W. Stevens, both of Somerset High School and Douglas W. Kemerer of Salisbury Elklick High School.

Maryland has some 220 semifinalists but the nearest to Cumberland are two from Washington County. They are Carol L. White of North Hagerstown High School and James A. Maiorana of Boonsboro High School.

In releasing the names of the semifinalists, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation stresses that the quality or effectiveness of a school cannot be judged solely by the number of its semifinalists because of several considerations. Among them are the population distribution in the state where the school is located, the nature of the immediate community of the school, the size of the school, the level of community support it receives and the native intelligence of its best students.

In past years about 97 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists receive a certificate of merit in recognition of their outstanding performance in the program. As finalists, the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by NMSC and about 175 business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

About next April 23 names of the merit scholars will be announced. The exact number will depend on the extent of sponsor support of the merit program. In 1963, NMSC and sponsors together awarded about 1500 merit scholarships.

This merit program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Nearly 7500 merit scholars have been appointed to date. In addition, through the program's special services, thousands of other outstanding participants have been helped in obtaining aid from other sources and colleges have been assisted in their efforts to locate the intellectually able.

Jail Escapee Search Will Continue

Flintstone Man Flees Third Time

Deputies of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein last night were still searching for James R. Walter, 24, of Flintstone, who escaped from the Allegany County Jail sometime between 8:30 and 9 a. m. yesterday.

Walter made his escape during a diversion created by his "girl friend" who also is a prisoner in the jail.

This was the Flintstone man's third escape in the last three months. Twice recently he fled from the jail at Ripley, W. Va. He first escaped there 20 minutes after incarceration. The second time he sawed his way out.

Yesterday's escape took place when Dolores Jean Barkin, 21, also of Flintstone, began to yell that water was overflowing in the bathroom of the women's section on the fourth floor of the jail.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis, who was the only officer on duty at the time, went to the fourth floor with several trusties to mop up.

Walter apparently hid behind a door and fled when the deputy sheriff's attention was diverted. The girl had opened all the spigots in the bathroom on the fourth floor.

The Flintstone man was being held in jail in default on bond pending trial on burglary charges. He was accused of breaking into the Flintstone School, Moon Glo Skating Rink, Hiser Supply Company, Western Maryland Lumber Company and several other business places in the LaVale area.

Walter was arrested September 13 in the basement of his parents' home in Flintstone after the State Police K-9 dog, Prince, smelled him out.

Sheriff Haberlein said there will be no more visits at the jail until the investigation is completed.

Bedford Area Man Charged In Shooting

James N. Price, 39, of Tidaytown, Pa., near Bedford, has been charged with assault with intent to kill, as a result of a shooting incident Tuesday in which a neighbor, Newton J. Hutzel, 54, was hospitalized with shotgun wounds of his lower left arm and elbow.

Hutzel, who underwent surgery at Bedford County Memorial Hospital, was reported in fair condition yesterday. Price is in the Bedford County jail.

Authorities said Price fired a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun that punctured the central artery in Hutzel's arm in several places.

The blast also fractured the man's arm and caused superficial pellet wounds to his chest and abdomen.

The shooting occurred at 8:30 a. m. in the Price residence. Present were Hutzel, Price and Mrs. Price. The shooting was reported to have occurred during an argument.

Neighbors said Hutzel refused to leave the Price home but that he was standing three to five feet outside the door at the time of the shooting.

Price told State Police he had intended only to scare Hutzel. Both Price and his wife were taken to the Bedford County jail. She was charged with disorderly conduct, authorities said.

'Tosca' Performance Here Features New Type Opera

Next Wednesday, October 2, residents if the tri-state area will be presented with evidence of some major developmnts in grand opera history when the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater's production of Puccini's "Tosca" comes to Fort Hill High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

This will be the first concert of the fifth season of the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

Edward Alley will appear here October 2 as tour director and conductor. For three years he was musical director and conductor of the Seventh Army Symphony and appeared with the orchestra on annual tours of Western Europe. As a result of his work with this Seventh Army Symphony he was awarded the United States Government commendation medal in 1960.

Mr. Alley has been connected with the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater since 1960 when he was appointed associate conductor. He was named tour director and conductor last year.

The Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater is the organization which has been hailed cross-country as "a refreshing new breath of life in the operatic world" and "the white hope of lyric art in America."

For nine national tours, Mr. Goldovsky and his company of 50, including orchestra, soloists and chorus, have been demonstrating successfully that operatic masterworks can be valid and absorbing theater rather than mere displays of vocal pyrotechnics. Their texts can be translated intelligently into English and when presented by performers who have been schooled in drama as well as voice they can make an immediate and lasting appeal to present day audiences.

It has been Mr. Golovsky's conviction that only when an audience hears opera in its own language does it become fully involved in the action, stage business and character portrayal. In the Goldovsky scheme, it is even more essential that the language of the performance be native to the singer for only then can he give a complete character realization to his role.
